Storms Rip East Killing 2 Persons

Tornado Damage Hits Into Millions

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The season's biggest crop of tornadoes and thunderstorms ripped across the eastern third of the nation Friday, killing at least two persons, injuring a score and causing property damage in the millions.

The twisters highlighted a violent outbreak of March weather over large areas of the country.

Thunderstorms doused the sodden Ohio River Valley basin hard on the heels of the river's worst flood in seven years. However, the U. S. Weather Bureau at Pittsburgh saw no new flood threat resulting.

Winds Hit 70 MPH

Winds up to 70 miles an hour sent the winter's worst dust storms boiling over the southern and central Great Plains. Half of Colorado's three million acres of winter wheat was ripped out.

A cool front, expanding eastward into moist and almost summerlike warmth, triggered the chain of tornadoes and thunderstorms.

Hardest hit was a 45-mile area extending from Connersville northeastward to Union City in Indiana, Leetonia in Columbia County and Steubenville in Jefferson County in Ohio and the southwestern Pennsylvania area around Pittsburgh.

Winds up to 92 miles an hour buffeted much of the area.

Wind-driven rain pelted parts of western Maryland and West Virginia. A mild squall line passed out to sea from New Jersey late Friday morning.

The twisters tore down power lines, toppled television and radio towers, blew a freight car off its track and unroofed homes and buildings.

Pennsylvania Hard Hit

Damage in Pennsylvania was estimated well in excess of a million dollars. Damage also was expected to pass the million-dollar mark in Ohio. Indiana counted nearly ¾ million dollar damage in two cities and insurance adjusters say claims from rural areas will hit the highest total in recent years.

Throughout much of the hardest hit area, toppled trees and fallen poles with their mesh of wires blocked some roads.

At Steubenville, Ohio, lightning punched a gaping hole in the roof of St. Peter's Roman Catholic church and activated Civil Defense sirens in five schools. A flood of telephone calls poured in on the police and fire departments.

Lightning struck a transformer in Union City, Ind., on the Indiana-Ohio line, starting a fire that caused a half million dollars damage in the heart of the city.

The winds caused an estimated million dollars damage to a United States Steel Co. ore bridge at Rankin, Pa.

In Pittsburgh, the storm toppled the 500-foot tower of television station WENS with an estimated damage of $115,000. The tower of radio station WLOA was knocked down at Braddock, Pa., causing $15,000 damage.

Woman Crushed To Death

Shrieking winds peeled the roof off the four-million-dollar Philco plant at Connersville, Ind., at an estimated damage of $100,000. Eight or nine big semitrailers and a railroad freight car parked near the plant were blown over, scattering refrigeration and air conditioning equipment.

Miss Pauline Muscoll Dugas, 59, was crushed to death at Rankin, Pa. She was pinned under a large sign board wrenched loose by the winds.

William Ramsey, 34-year-old laborer, was killed at Brookville, Pa., some 85 miles north of Pittsburgh. A wall collapsed and fell on him.

FULLER GUILTY — Albert Fuller, former deputy sheriff of Phenix City, Ala., was found guilty of the murder of A. L. Patterson yesterday and was sentenced to life in prison.

Senate Agrees To Limit Tax Measure Debate

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP) — Senators fighting for and against a new income tax cut agreed today to limit their debate and vote on the issue next Tuesday or Wednesday.

The war of words in the Senate will continue unabated, until the opening of Tuesday's session.

At that time, under a debate limitation negotiated by Majority Leader Johnson of Texas, four hours will be allotted to a discussion of a "compromise" tax plan being pushed by the Democratic leadership.

This calls for a $20 income tax reduction for millions of Americans next year plus $10 reductions for each dependent except spouses. The legislation is so drawn, however that it would apply mainly to families earning under $5,000 a year.

There will be a two-hour limitation on any amendment, with an equal amount of time given to the discussion before a final decision.

Johnson said the Senate would stay in session as late as necessary Monday to give members an unlimited amount of time to speak their minds.

The House has approved a $20 cut for every taxpayer and dependent next year, coupling it with legislation to extend for one year certain corporate income tax and excise rates scheduled to drop April 1.

President Eisenhower wants the rate extension, but is strongly opposed to any income tax cuts at this time.

Jose Iturbi Is Ill

BUFFALO, N.Y., March 11 (AP)—Pianist Jose Iturbi, convalescing from a heart ailment, was reported in good condition at Sisters' Hospital today but his doctor said he would be in the hospital for at least six more weeks.

Ferguson Named By Ike To Be Philippines Envoy

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP) — Former Sen. Homer Ferguson, Michigan Republican, was nominated by President Eisenhower today to be ambassador to the Philippines. Senate confirmation is virtually assured.

Ferguson, who was defeated for re-election last November by Sen. Pat McNamara, a Democrat, is slated to succeed Adm. Raymond A. Spruance. The latter is retiring next month after 45 years active service in the Navy and three years in the Manila post.

The 66-year-old Ferguson said, when told by reporters of his nomination, that he was "greatly honored."

Since leaving the Senate, to which he was first elected in 1942, Ferguson has been serving here in two capacities: as a member of the Hoover Commission on Government Reorganization and as a consultant to general counsel Wilber M. Brucker of the Defense Department. He has been paid at the rate of $50 a day for time spent on each of the two jobs.

He became a member of the Hoover Commission while still in the Senate and a special law had to be passed to permit him to continue in that work after he was defeated in last November's election.

Sears Head Wouldn't Risk Market Now

Wood Says Level "Uncertain" During Committee's Probe

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP) — Gen. Robert E. Wood, who manages the big profit-sharing pension fund of Sears, Roebuck & Co. said today "I don't want to risk my employes' money" in the stock market at its present level.

Wood told the Senate Banking Committee the fund now has 90 million dollars in cash but its directors are "at wit's end" wondering where to invest it.

Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark) asked Wood why, if he doesn't think the stock market is too high, he didn't invest the money in stocks.

"I'm uncertain," Wood replied.

The ruddy, white-haired Wood, fingering an unlighted cigarette as he testified, insisted, however, that he didn't know whether the market is too high.

Wood Is Director

He also replied "I don't know" when Fulbright asked whether there is too much speculative activity in the market.

Wood, who was chairman of the board of Sears for years, is now retired from that post but is still a director and chairman of the pension fund.

Another witness, Benjamin Graham, New York financier-professor, said he considers the stock market "to be on the high side and getting into a dangerous situation." He said he was inclined to favor "a fairly rapid advance" toward putting margin requirements at 100 per cent to halt credit purchases of stocks.

Graham is chairman of the Graham-Newman Corp., an investment company. He is also a part-time teacher—"evaluation of common stocks"—at Columbia University.

He and Wood testified as the Banking Committee resumed its study of the 18-month rise in stock prices.

Graham Replies "Yes"

Unlike previous witnesses asked the same question by Fulbright, Graham replied "Yes, sir" when asked whether the committee's hearings had anything to do with recent fluctuations in stock prices.

Fulbright said he doesn't see any reason why the study "should necessarily put the market down."

The stock market, Graham said, is in a "rather sensitive" condition, subject to being influenced by any number of factors, including the hearings.

"If this study puts the market down, then the market was due to go down and should go down," Graham commented.

Finnish Tanker Will Be Halted Near Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa, Saturday, March 12 (AP)—It was regarded as a certainty on Formosa today that the Finnish tanker Aruba, carrying 13,000 tons of jet fuel to Red China, would be intercepted once the vessel gets within range of Chiang Kai-shek's navy or air force.

The Nationalists would justify such interception on grounds that Nationalist China was carrying out a U.N. embargo on shipment of strategic goods to Red China.

Reports that specific orders have been given out for interception of the Aruba were dismissed as speculative by responsible quarters in Taipei. These sources said the interception would be part of routine duties and therefore would require no special orders.

There was no doubt that extra vigilance would be exercised once word comes that the Aruba has passed Singapore.

The tanker then would have a choice of trying to sneak into the Pearl River leading to Canton or making a circuitous trip through the Java Sea, Makassar Strait, the Celebes Sea, then out into the Pacific, heading most probably for Shanghai.

From various sources, the Nationalists could keep informed of the tanker's movements and, come what may, would try to prevent the vessel from delivering its cargo.

It is estimated that the 13,000 tons of jet fuel reportedly carried by the Aruba would enable Red MIGs to fly 5,200 missions.

Fuller Convicted Of Murder

Former Deputy Of Phenix City Is Given Life

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 11 (AP)—Husky Albert Fuller, former chief deputy sheriff at Phenix City, was sentenced to life imprisonment today on a first degree murder conviction for the slaying of A. L. Patterson, sworn enemy of racketeers.

The 12 jurors, who listened to millions of words of testimony in the longest jury trial in Alabama history, returned their verdict at 2:36 p.m., 22 hours and 11 minutes after they received the case.

Fuller's $12,500 bond, under which he had been free since shortly after his indictment last Dec. 9, was immediately revoked. He was taken into custody by Jefferson (Birmingham) County Chef Deputy Sheriff Wilton Hogan.

Chief defense attorney Roderick Beddow announced that the verdict will be appealed to the State Supreme Court and a motion will be filed for a new trial within a week or 10 days.

Murdered Last June

Patterson was murdered at Phenix City last June 18, only 17 days after winning the Democratic nomination for attorney general. The prosecution charged that his pledge to smash Phenix City's multimillion dollar rackets empire inspired the killing.

With his pretty blonde wife, Avon, a county health nurse at Phenix City, Fuller was taken immediately to the chambers of presiding Judge J. Russell McElroy before being transferred to the Jefferson County jail on the top floor of the courthouse, and ultimately to prison.

Judge McElroy, taking unprecedented precautions after word came that the jury had reached a verdict, ordered the courtroom emptied and the spectators searched once more for concealed weapons before the jury filed in.

Only a jury can decide on the extent of punishment for murder in Alabama. Prosecutor Cecil Deason in his closing argument yesterday had asked for the death penalty.

First To Be Tried

Fuller is the first of three former public officials to be tried for the Patterson slaying.

Indicted with Fuller were Arch Ferrell, who was prosecuting attorney in the vice-ridden community, and former Alabama Atty. Gen. Si Garrett—who had fought vigorously to keep Patterson from being chosen as his successor in office.

Fuller already is under a seven-year prison sentence for taking payoff money to let a bawdy house near Phenix City operate unmolested. That sentence is being appealed to higher courts.

Fuller also pleaded guilty to a vote fraud charge growing out of the Democratic primary there last May 4, and paid a $250 fine.

Couple Found Shot To Death

HAYWARD, Wis., March 11 (AP)—A middle-aged man and wife were found slain today, shot down in the yard of their rural northwestern Wisconsin home by a killer who apparently lurked in ambush.

A general police alarm was broadcast for the killer.

Sheriff Clyde Williamson said that the body of Mrs. Emil Salzman was found near the front door, and that her husband's body had been dragged behind the house.

Mrs. Salzman, 39, apparently was shot four times with a rifle, her 45-year-old husband—a power company lineman—twice.

Williamson said the killer apparently waited behind a stump in the yard for the Salzmans to return to their small home eight miles from this northwestern Wisconsin summer resort city.

Decision Promised On Farmer Visits

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—The United States today promised a "rapid decision" on whether to allow a group of Russian farmers to visit Iowa to see how corn and pigs grow there.

State Department press chief Henry Suydam told newsmen "the whole matter is under active consideration" and he thinks about a week will be enough for that.

A Russian note handed the U.S. Embassy at Moscow last night formally suggested swapping Soviet and U.S. agricultural delegations and requested a statement of how the American government feels about it.

Their Baby Comes Home

Yesterday was homecoming day for Clarence Hathaway, the 3-weeks-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hathaway, Akron, Ohio. Held by his parents with Miss Mary Knapp, executive director of a visiting nurse service, looking on, Clarence will be home to stay. He is the son of the deaf-blind couple whom the welfare authorities were afraid couldn't care for him. An Ohio judge ruled the parents capable of caring for the youngster.

Security Chief Would Use Risk "To Finish Job"

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—The State Department's security chief startled a group of senators today with an assertion that he would hire a security risk if it were necessary "to get the job done."

"I wouldn't hesitate to do so if necessary to fulfill a mission," W. R. Scott Mcleod told a Senate Government Operations subcommittee. The subcommittee is studying security policy.

Chairman Humphrey (D-Minn) wanted to know whether McLeod also felt that a person with "disloyal" tendencies might have to be used by the government even though elaborate machinery has been set up to keep such persons out of federal service.

"It's a possibility," the security chief replied. "I wouldn't want to foreclose anyone who has responsibility to the American people from using the tools necessary" to do an essential piece of work.

McLeod emphasized that he was speaking only of rare and unusual cases, and that he couldn't recall any such case during the two years he has been with the State Department.

"So rare as to almost never take place?" asked Sen. Cotton (R-NH).

"Yes and no," the witness responded. "It's very rare that out of our 160 million people you can't find some one who is not a risk" to perform some needed task.

"Has it ever happened?" Cotton persisted.

"I don't recall any case," McLeod said.

"I feel reassured then," the senator told him.

Italian Senate Okays Agreement To Rearm Germany

ROME, March 11 (AP)—The Italian Senate put a decisive 139-82 okay tonight on the Paris agreements to rearm the West Germans and make them partners in the Western European Union.

The Senate vote completed Italian parliamentary action on the accords. It made Italy the eighth of the 15 nations involved to complete such action. Italy's lower house, the Chamber of Deputies, approved the treaties Dec. 23 by 335-215.

Child Bites Snake, Snake Bites Back

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 11 (AP)—Intrigued by a small snake wriggling across her yard, 2-year-old Betty Ann Moore picked it up and bit it.

The snake took a dim view of her action and returned the bite, nicking Betty Ann in the roof of the mouth. Her condition is satisfactory at City Hospital.

The snake was nonpoisonous.

Woman Juror Dropped From Jelke Vice Trial

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—The judge in the Minot (Mickey) Jelke cafe society vice trial decided today to drop from the jury one of its three women members.

With the trial presently in recess, General Sessions Judge Francis L. Valente said he would excuse Kay Brunell when sessions resume Monday.

He came to the decision after a lawyer said the woman, who had described herself in court as unmarried, actually had been married twice.

Miss Brunell was chosen Wednesday as the ninth juror of 11 chosen to date. Trial was adjourned Wednesday afternoon until Monday so further talesmen could be called.

Mamie Has Heart Ailment

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—The White House physician reported today that Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower has a slight heart condition but he said it never has handicapped her in performing her official duties.

"Her health is and always has been basically good," said Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder.

Snyder added that the President's wife was up and about after having been confined to bed since Monday with the flu.

The physician's statement came in response to a reporter's inquiry after the first lady's health became a subject of political controversy yesterday.

Snyder said Mrs. Eisenhower's "slight heart condition probably results from an undiagnosed case of rheumatic fever in adolescence." He said he was saying "probably" because "nothing in her medical history indicates that she ever was actually diagnosed as having rheumatic fever."

Probes Suggested In Matusow Case

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP) — Justice Department sources said today Harvey Matusow was a confidential informer in some cases involving federal employe security, and that review of these cases has been suggested.

These sources said Atty. Gen. Brownell, who acts as legal adviser in the operation of the security program, suggested the review to the agencies involved.

The best information available is that Matusow did not appear as a witness at any employe security hearings, but did supply confidential information in some cases.

Two Kidnaped Girls Released Without Harm

CHICAGO, March 11 (AP)—Two kidnaped girls were released unharmed today, and police pressed a search for a man who lured them into his automobile 14 hours earlier.

The girls, Kathleen Neumann, 9, and Carl Tillotson, 7, told police their abductor is a man about 24 years old named George. They said he held them overnight in an apartment with an elderly man and woman they believed were his parents.

They said he drove them early today to a street intersection near their homes on the Northwest Side and released them. It was in the same neighborhood that they were lured into the kidnaper's automobile last night with promises of candy and ice cream.

The girls told police they were not molested except that the man insisted on cutting off several locks of Kathleen's blonde hair. She said he added her hair to other curls he kept in a locket.

The two girls, along with two playmates, Christine Hasla, 6, and her sister, Carlene, 7, were enticed into the man's automobile while playing in a sand pile near their homes. The sisters were let out of the car a short time later when one began to cry.

Kathleen and Carol told investigators they shared a bed with the elderly woman they presumed was their abductor's mother.

They said the man told the elderly couple the children were lost.

General Gets Tiger

KARACHI, Pakistan, March 11 (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet has bagged a tiger while on a hunt as guest of officials in the famed "Bengal tiger" area of East Pakistan, a report received here today said. The former U.S. 8th Army commander, now retired, is on a private visit in Southeast Asia.

GOP Forces Changes In Its Criticism

Senate-House Group Agrees To Eliminate Remarks Against Ike

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Republicans forced major changes today in a democratic-sponsored report sharply criticizing President Eisenhower's economic policies. The original report asserted the nation is "not out of the woods" of recession.

As the climax of a week of behind-the-scenes battling, a majority of the Senate-House Economic Committee agreed on a toned-down report eliminating most criticisms of the President, as well as some pessimistic forecasts.

"Not Out Of Woods"

Mindful of Eisenhower's 1954 attacks on what he called "prophets of gloom and doom" among the Democrats, committee Republicans planned to submit as a supplement their own more optimistic views on the economic outlook. Democrats indicated they would incorporate in another separate statement criticisms of Eisenhower policies deleted from the bipartisan report.

These latter included the assertion, in a draft prepared by Chairman Douglas (d-Ill), that "there has been improvement (in the economy) but we are not out of the woods." This version added that Eisenhower's economic report to Congress "did not make this clear."

The two-party report, to be made public officially this weekend, still asserts what has become something of a Democratic theme—that there was an "economic recession" last year and "it is not enough just to maintain present levels of employment and production."

Sizing up the economy, the majority report says, among other things:

1. "Every possible economic support" should be given military and technological developments.

2. "The economy has been improving since late 1954. Employment and production have advanced about one-half the ground lost and unemployment has receded about one-third. There is, however, unevenness in this advance. . . . The decline in total net farm income is expected to continue, but more slowly."

3. "The elements of uncertainty in the economic outlook and the size of adjustments which must be made . . . dictate the wisdom of seeking the strengthening of our basic economic programs. . . . Congress must be prepared and willing to move quickly to adapt programs in the interest of economic expansion."

4. "The majority support further adjustment in the tax structure at this time which, without sacrificing revenue will increase consumer purchasing power. The minority . . . feel it is premature to make adjustments now. . . ."

5. "We support the President's recommendation for an increase in the federal debt limit."

"Unfavorable Trends"

6. "The committee recognizes . . . unfavorable trends in farm income which offer a serious threat to the economy as a whole. We are doubtful, however, whether any program which seeks to bring about a balance by a policy of contraction of acreage can, in the long run, be successful. Our greatest hope for solution lies rather in expanding consumption at home and abroad."

7. "We are for increasing public works—federal, state and local—to meet the needs of a growing

Army Officer, Ill With TB, Charged With Aiding Enemy

FT. MEADE, Md., March 11 (AP)—Maj. Ronald E. Alley, 34-year-old artillery officer who has been down with tuberculosis since he was freed from a Communist prison camp in North Korea, today was accused of cooperating with the enemy and informing on fellow prisoners.

The Army accused him of 10 specific offenses violating five military laws.

Alley, who was transferred here earlier this week from the Army's Valley Forge General Hospital, left today for his home at Bar Harbor, Me., and could not be reached immediately for comment.

The filing of charges against him set in motion an investigation to determine if he should face a court-martial. Lt. Gen. Floyd L. Parks, commanding general of the 2nd Army, also appointed two military attorneys to help Alley during the investigation.

Alley was a captain fighting with the 57th Field Artillery Battalion of the 7th Division when he was captured in North Korea in the fall of 1950.

He was repatriated in "Big Switch," the exchange of prisoners in August of 1953 following the truce in Korea. He went almost immediately into St. Albans Hospital in New York and was transferred to Valley Forge a year ago.

The army accused him of supplying and encouraging other prisoners to supply military information to the enemy.

It said he tipped off guards that Lt. Col. John M. McLaughlin, then a Marine major, headed a group of Americans who resisted Communist indoctrination, McLaughlin was threatened with physical punishment as the result.

Finnish Tanker Will Be Halted Near Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa, Saturday, March 12 (AP)—It was regarded as a certainty on Formosa today that the Finnish tanker Aruba, carrying 13,000 tons of jet fuel to Red China, would be intercepted once the vessel gets within range of Chiang Kai-shek's navy or air force.

The Nationalists would justify such interception on grounds that Nationalist China was carrying out a U.N. embargo on shipment of strategic goods to Red China.

Reports that specific orders have been given out for interception of the Aruba were dismissed as speculative by responsible quarters in Taipei. These sources said the interception would be part of routine duties and therefore would require no special orders.

There was no doubt that extra vigilance would be exercised once word comes that the Aruba has passed Singapore.

The tanker then would have a choice of trying to sneak into the Pearl River leading to Canton or making a circuitous trip through the Java Sea, Makassar Strait, the Celebes Sea, then out into the Pacific, heading most probably for Shanghai.

From various sources, the Nationalists could keep informed of the tanker's movements and, come what may, would try to prevent the vessel from delivering its cargo.

It is estimated that the 13,000 tons of jet fuel reportedly carried by the Aruba would enable Red MIGs to fly 5,200 missions.

Fuller Convicted Of Murder

Former Deputy Of Phenix City Is Given Life

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 11 (AP)—Husky Albert Fuller, former chief deputy sheriff at Phenix City, was sentenced to life imprisonment today on a first degree murder conviction for the slaying of A. L. Patterson, sworn enemy of racketeers.

The 12 jurors, who listened to millions of words of testimony in the longest jury trial in Alabama history, returned their verdict at 2:36 p.m., 22 hours and 11 minutes after they received the case.

Fuller's $12,500 bond, under which he had been free since shortly after his indictment last Dec. 9, was immediately revoked. He was taken into custody by Jefferson (Birmingham) County Chef Deputy Sheriff Wilton Hogan.

Chief defense attorney Roderick Beddow announced that the verdict will be appealed to the State Supreme Court and a motion will be filed for a new trial within a week or 10 days.

Murdered Last June

Patterson was murdered at Phenix City last June 18, only 17 days after winning the Democratic nomination for attorney general. The prosecution charged that his pledge to smash Phenix City's multimillion dollar rackets empire inspired the killing.

With his pretty blonde wife, Avon, a county health nurse at Phenix City, Fuller was taken immediately to the chambers of presiding Judge J. Russell McElroy before being transferred to the Jefferson County jail on the top floor of the courthouse, and ultimately to prison.

Judge McElroy, taking unprecedented precautions after word came that the jury had reached a verdict, ordered the courtroom emptied and the spectators searched once more for concealed weapons before the jury filed in.

Only a jury can decide on the extent of punishment for murder in Alabama. Prosecutor Cecil Deason in his closing argument yesterday had asked for the death penalty.

First To Be Tried

Fuller is the first of three former public officials to be tried for the Patterson slaying.

Indicted with Fuller were Arch Ferrell, who was prosecuting attorney in the vice-ridden community, and former Alabama Atty. Gen. Si Garrett—who had fought vigorously to keep Patterson from being chosen as his successor in office.

Fuller already is under a seven-year prison sentence for taking payoff money to let a bawdy house near Phenix City operate unmolested. That sentence is being appealed to higher courts.

Fuller also pleaded guilty to a vote fraud charge growing out of the Democratic primary there last May 4, and paid a $250 fine.

Couple Found Shot To Death

HAYWARD, Wis., March 11 (AP)—A middle-aged man and wife were found slain today, shot down in the yard of their rural northwestern Wisconsin home by a killer who apparently lurked in ambush.

A general police alarm was broadcast for the killer.

Sheriff Clyde Williamson said that the body of Mrs. Emil Salzman was found near the front door, and that her husband's body had been dragged behind the house.

Mrs. Salzman, 39, apparently was shot four times with a rifle, her 45-year-old husband—a power company lineman—twice.

Williamson said the killer apparently waited behind a stump in the yard for the Salzmans to return to their small home eight miles from this northwestern Wisconsin summer resort city.

Decision Promised On Farmer Visits

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—The United States today promised a "rapid decision" on whether to allow a group of Russian farmers to visit Iowa to see how corn and pigs grow there.

State Department press chief Henry Suydam told newsmen "the whole matter is under active consideration" and he thinks about a week will be enough for that.

A Russian note handed the U.S. Embassy at Moscow last night formally suggested swapping Soviet and U.S. agricultural delegations and requested a statement of how the American government feels about it.

Their Baby Comes Home

Yesterday was homecoming day for Clarence Hathaway, the 3-weeks-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hathaway, Akron, Ohio. Held by his parents with Miss Mary Knapp, executive director of a visiting nurse service, looking on, Clarence will be home to stay. He is the son of the deaf-blind couple whom the welfare authorities were afraid couldn't care for him. An Ohio judge ruled the parents capable of caring for the youngster.

Security Chief Would Use Risk "To Finish Job"

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—The State Department's security chief startled a group of senators today with an assertion that he would hire a security risk if it were necessary "to get the job done."

"I wouldn't hesitate to do so if necessary to fulfill a mission," W. R. Scott Mcleod told a Senate Government Operations subcommittee. The subcommittee is studying security policy.

Chairman Humphrey (D-Minn) wanted to know whether McLeod also felt that a person with "disloyal" tendencies might have to be used by the government even though elaborate machinery has been set up to keep such persons out of federal service.

"It's a possibility," the security chief replied. "I wouldn't want to foreclose anyone who has responsibility to the American people from using the tools necessary" to do an essential piece of work.

McLeod emphasized that he was speaking only of rare and unusual cases, and that he couldn't recall any such case during the two years he has been with the State Department.

"So rare as to almost never take place?" asked Sen. Cotton (R-NH).

"Yes and no," the witness responded. "It's very rare that out of our 160 million people you can't find some one who is not a risk" to perform some needed task.

"Has it ever happened?" Cotton persisted.

"I don't recall any case," McLeod said.

"I feel reassured then," the senator told him.

Italian Senate Okays Agreement To Rearm Germany

ROME, March 11 (AP)—The Italian Senate put a decisive 139-82 okay tonight on the Paris agreements to rearm the West Germans and make them partners in the Western European Union.

The Senate vote completed Italian parliamentary action on the accords. It made Italy the eighth of the 15 nations involved to complete such action. Italy's lower house, the Chamber of Deputies, approved the treaties Dec. 23 by 335-215.

Child Bites Snake, Snake Bites Back

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 11 (AP)—Intrigued by a small snake wriggling across her yard, 2-year-old Betty Ann Moore picked it up and bit it.

The snake took a dim view of her action and returned the bite, nicking Betty Ann in the roof of the mouth. Her condition is satisfactory at City Hospital.

The snake was nonpoisonous.

Woman Juror Dropped From Jelke Vice Trial

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—The judge in the Minot (Mickey) Jelke cafe society vice trial decided today to drop from the jury one of its three women members.

With the trial presently in recess, General Sessions Judge Francis L. Valente said he would excuse Kay Brunell when sessions resume Monday.

He came to the decision after a lawyer said the woman, who had described herself in court as unmarried, actually had been married twice.

Miss Brunell was chosen Wednesday as the ninth juror of 11 chosen to date. Trial was adjourned Wednesday afternoon until Monday so further talesmen could be called.

Mamie Has Heart Ailment

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—The White House physician reported today that Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower has a slight heart condition but he said it never has handicapped her in performing her official duties.

"Her health is and always has been basically good," said Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder.

Snyder added that the President's wife was up and about after having been confined to bed since Monday with the flu.

The physician's statement came in response to a reporter's inquiry after the first lady's health became a subject of political controversy yesterday.

Snyder said Mrs. Eisenhower's "slight heart condition probably results from an undiagnosed case of rheumatic fever in adolescence." He said he was saying "probably" because "nothing in her medical history indicates that she ever was actually diagnosed as having rheumatic fever."

Probes Suggested In Matusow Case

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP) — Justice Department sources said today Harvey Matusow was a confidential informer in some cases involving federal employe security, and that review of these cases has been suggested.

These sources said Atty. Gen. Brownell, who acts as legal adviser in the operation of the security program, suggested the review to the agencies involved.

The best information available is that Matusow did not appear as a witness at any employe security hearings, but did supply confidential information in some cases.

A-Shot Scheduled

LAS VEGAS, Nev., March 11 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission tentatively rescheduled shot No. 5 of the present series for 5:20 a.m. tomorrow after a weather briefing today.

Two Kidnaped Girls Released Without Harm

CHICAGO, March 11 (AP)—Two kidnaped girls were released unharmed today, and police pressed a search for a man who lured them into his automobile 14 hours earlier.

The girls, Kathleen Neumann, 9, and Carl Tillotson, 7, told police their abductor is a man about 24 years old named George. They said he held them overnight in an apartment with an elderly man and woman they believed were his parents.

They said he drove them early today to a street intersection near their homes on the Northwest Side and released them. It was in the same neighborhood that they were lured into the kidnaper's automobile last night with promises of candy and ice cream.

The girls told police they were not molested except that the man insisted on cutting off several locks of Kathleen's blonde hair. She said he added her hair to other curls he kept in a locket.

The two girls, along with two playmates, Christine Hasla, 6, and her sister, Carlene, 7, were enticed into the man's automobile while playing in a sand pile near their homes. The sisters were let out of the car a short time later when one began to cry.

Kathleen and Carol told investigators they shared a bed with the elderly woman they presumed was their abductor's mother.

They said the man told the elderly couple the children were lost.

General Gets Tiger

KARACHI, Pakistan, March 11 (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet has bagged a tiger while on a hunt as guest of officials in the famed "Bengal tiger" area of East Pakistan, a report received here today said. The former U.S. 8th Army commander, now retired, is on a private visit in Southeast Asia.

GOP Forces Changes In Its Criticism

Senate-House Group Agrees To Eliminate Remarks Against Ike

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Republicans forced major changes today in a democratic-sponsored report sharply criticizing President Eisenhower's economic policies. The original report asserted the nation is "not out of the woods" of recession.

As the climax of a week of behind-the-scenes battling, a majority of the Senate-House Economic Committee agreed on a toned-down report eliminating most criticisms of the President, as well as some pessimistic forecasts.

"Not Out Of Woods"

Mindful of Eisenhower's 1954 attacks on what he called "prophets of gloom and doom" among the Democrats, committee Republicans planned to submit as a supplement their own more optimistic views on the economic outlook. Democrats indicated they would incorporate in another separate statement criticisms of Eisenhower policies deleted from the bipartisan report.

These latter included the assertion, in a draft prepared by Chairman Douglas (d-Ill), that "there has been improvement (in the economy) but we are not out of the woods." This version added that Eisenhower's economic report to Congress "did not make this clear."

The two-party report, to be made public officially this weekend, still asserts what has become something of a Democratic theme—that there was an "economic recession" last year and "it is not enough just to maintain present levels of employment and production."

Sizing up the economy, the majority report says, among other things:

1. "Every possible economic support" should be given military and technological developments.

2. "The economy has been improving since late 1954. Employment and production have advanced about one-half the ground lost and unemployment has receded about one-third. There is, however, unevenness in this advance. . . . The decline in total net farm income is expected to continue, but more slowly."

3. "The elements of uncertainty in the economic outlook and the size of adjustments which must be made . . . dictate the wisdom of seeking the strengthening of our basic economic programs. . . . Congress must be prepared and willing to move quickly to adapt programs in the interest of economic expansion."

4. "The majority support further adjustment in the tax structure at this time which, without sacrificing revenue will increase consumer purchasing power. The minority . . . feel it is premature to make adjustments now. . . ."

5. "We support the President's recommendation for an increase in the federal debt limit."

"Unfavorable Trends"

6. "The committee recognizes . . . unfavorable trends in farm income which offer a serious threat to the economy as a whole. We are doubtful, however, whether any program which seeks to bring about a balance by a policy of contraction of acreage can, in the long run, be successful. Our greatest hope for solution lies rather in expanding consumption at home and abroad."

7. "We are for increasing public works—federal, state and local—to meet the needs of a growing

Army Officer, Ill With TB, Charged With Aiding Enemy

FT. MEADE, Md., March 11 (AP)—Maj. Ronald E. Alley, 34-year-old artillery officer who has been down with tuberculosis since he was freed from a Communist prison camp in North Korea, today was accused of cooperating with the enemy and informing on fellow prisoners.

The Army accused him of 10 specific offenses violating five military laws.

Alley, who was transferred here earlier this week from the Army's Valley Forge General Hospital, left today for his home at Bar Harbor, Me., and could not be reached immediately for comment.

The filing of charges against him set in motion an investigation to determine if he should face a court-martial. Lt. Gen. Floyd L. Parks, commanding general of the 2nd Army, also appointed two military attorneys to help Alley during the investigation.

Alley was a captain fighting with the 57th Field Artillery Battalion of the 7th Division when he was captured in North Korea in the fall of 1950.

He was repatriated in "Big Switch," the exchange of prisoners in August of 1953 following the truce in Korea. He went almost immediately into St. Albans Hospital in New York and was transferred to Valley Forge a year ago.

The army accused him of supplying and encouraging other prisoners to supply military information to the enemy.

It said he tipped off guards that Lt. Col. John M. McLaughlin, then a Marine major, headed a group of Americans who resisted Communist indoctrination, McLaughlin was threatened with physical punishment as the result.

Demos Once More Fail To Get SRC Probe Issue Okay

ANNAPOLIS, March 11 (AP)—Democratic leaders struggling to get Senate approval of a Maryland Roads Commission probe failed again today as the issue produced another example of fancy parliamentary fencing.

They succeeded by a 14-13 vote in reviving a bill which was rejected in a showdown vote last night by the same count.

But when Majority Leader Turnbull (D-Balto County) tried to go one step farther to another vote on final passage, Sen. Phoebus (R-Somerset) requested that this be postponed until Monday night. He was the only Republican who voted with the Democratic majority on two previous rollcalls on the bill.

Faced with the practically certain alternative of losing Phoebus' support if he insisted on forcing a final vote today, Turnbull acceeded to the request.

'He's got us in a box," the majority leader commented laughingly to nearby colleagues.

Failed Twice To Pass

Phoebus said he had "no particular reason" for seeking a postponement of another vote on the bill, which has failed on two attempts at passage.

The Eastern Shore senator then said he was anxious to adjourn early so he could make a dinner date back home.

During the rest of the session the senators also postponed until Monday action on six other roads bills.

The other bills put off included four dealing with the creation of a Maryland Turnpike Authority with some powers now held by the roads commission and two which would prohibit the commission from making any Somerset or Wicomico County route a freeway with controlled or limited access.

In a brief but heated discussion on the two county bills, which in effect would exempt those subdivision from major projects in the commission's 568-million-dollar highway plan, the roads agency was sharply criticized by Turnbull and Sen. Wheatley.

Wheatley's blast came after Sen. Hoff (R-Carroll) declared Maryland "won't have any state roads system" if the Legislature allows counties to override commission decisions on where and what kind of roads should be built.

"We'll have 23 separate county roads systems," said Hoff, adding the lawmakers should resist local efforts to "hamstring and hamper" the commission.

Wheatley, threatening to add his county to those seeking exemption, said this situation had developed because "the roads commission ignores the interests" of the people in areas where it operates.

"It's about time the State Roads Commission got wise to itself," he declared.

Shows Distrust Of SRC

"These bills," said Turnbull in picking up the theme, "are simply symptomatic of the general distrust of the people of this state in the State Roads Commission. This unrest has been caused by the completely arrogant position of the State Roads Commission."

He accused the agency of having a "complete disregard for the human rights of the people in the various counties."

In the gubernatorial campaign last fall the commission was accused by unsuccessful Democratic candidate H. C. Byrd of "waste, extravagance and favoritism."

More than 80 pieces of the legislation involving the roads commission or its projects have been introduced at this session of the General Assembly. All but a handful would curtail the agency's powers, and three call for a "study" or investigation of its operations.

Flood Damage Estimated At $14 Millions

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 11 (AP)—The crest of the most severe Ohio River flood in seven years drifted toward the stream's mouth today, leaving 14 million dollars in damage from Louisville to Pittsburgh.

In its first display of mercy, the muddy river leveled off here today considerably under the crest it had promised.

It stopped rising shortly before last midnight after reaching 36.8 feet, 8.8 feet above flood stage. The U.S. Weather Bureau declared that reading as its crest 24 hours later when no further rise was noted. A 39.5 crest had been predicted.

Greater Louisville was left virtually unscathed, although high waters licked menacingly at some outlying areas.

Two riverside golf courses were covered, many roads were under water and a few businesses and houses were damaged. Flood reduction facilities—levees, floodwalls and upstream reservoirs—limited the Louisville area damage to an estimated one million dollars.

The damage upriver to Pittsburgh already had been set at 13 million dollars.

Col. W. D. Milne, district U.S. engineer, said today Louisville was saved 1¼ million dollars in damages by levees and floodwalls. He said the crest would have been 3½ feet higher here except for reservoirs holding back much water at the Ohio's headwaters.

The torrent was inching back toward the river bed at all upstream points, leaving a major cleanup job from the mud and debris left behind.

About 25 square blocks in Cincinnati were flooded before the river crested there yesterday morning.

On downstream at Carrollton, Ky., about midway between Louisville and Cincinnati, several hundred persons had to leave their homes. Carrollton is one of the few river cities without floodwall protection.

The water invaded streets and residential districts of Madison, Aurora and Utica, Ind., but damage was expected to be minor.

Crests are expected to be reached by early next week at all points below Louisville, including Owensboro, Henderson and Paducah, Ky., Evansville, Ind., and Shawneetown and Cairo, Ill., where the Ohio dumps into the Mississippi River.

Woman To Pay Child's Support

MADISON, Wis., March 11 (AP)—A University of Wisconsin coed today gave up her 2-year-old child in a divorce action to her husband and agreed to pay support money for the youngster.

Divorce counsel Sverre Braathen said it was the first case in his experience where a wife gave up a child and then offered to pay the husband for supporting it.

The woman is Floria W. Solberg, 22, freshman in the school of letters and science. She was awarded a divorce in Circuit Court from Gunerd D. Solberg, also 22, on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. Solberg is a senior in the commerce school at the university.

Braathen said the child is living with Solberg's parents and it was agreed Solberg and his parents could take better care of the youngster.

The court stipulation showed Mrs. Solberg owns a farm and has a substantial income. She agreed to pay $66 a month for the first year, $58 a month the second year, and $50 a month the third and $14 a month thereafter.

The divorce was granted by Judge Alvin C. Reis.

Highway Project Ground Is Broken

POCOMOKE CITY, Md., March 11 (AP)—Ground was broken today for the three mile dual lane bypass of Pocomoke City.

The project is a part of the ultimate dualization of the stretch of U. S. 13 from the Delaware line on the North to Virginia on the South.

Embezzler Charged

BALTIMORE, March 11 (AP)—A 35-year-old teller in a Baltimore branch bank was arrested today on charges of embezzling $2,000.

The teller, Mrs. Mildred Elizabeth Wandell, was put under bail of $3,500. Her husband, Wilbur Otis Wandell, 41-year-old seaman, was charged with aiding and abetting the embezzlement.

Munshower Said To Be Through As Head Of State Police

ANNAPOLIS, March 11 (AP)—The report that Elmer Munshower of Frederick is through as State Police superintendent circulated through the general assembly again today.

This time, the report is that he is facing trouble on confirmation in the Senate.

It was speculated widely before the governor sent down his list of executive nominations last month that Munshower's name would not be offered for reappointment.

However, it was included in the list which is in the hands of a Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel).

Now it is reported that a Western Maryland senator has voiced opposition to Munshower which is enough to have the police superintendent called before the committee next Thursday.

Bandits Rob Two Separate Offices

BALTIMORE, March 11 (AP) — Bandits struck in two offices in separate parts of the city today to make off with a total of about $1,187 in two dylight robberies.

A lone man who held his hand in his pocket in a way that indicated he carried a gun held up two women clerks in the American Airlines ticket office and got $773, according to police.

Two holdup men, one with an automatic pistol, robbed a woman clerk at the office of the Fairfax Gardens Apartments of $414. The two offices are miles apart.

ANXIOUS MOMENTS—Exhibiting in the show ring can be tedious as the judge views and examines each animal carefully. While awaiting his turn in the Carter County, Okla., livestock show Jack Donham, a 4-H club youth, rests his head affectionately on the head of his prize lamb. A few minutes later the young owner was honored by winning the ribbon for champion Hampshire and reserve grand champion of the show.

10-Year-Old Boy Suffers 47th Fracture Of His Bones

BIG SPRING, Md., March 11 (AP)—Raymond Kline Jr., the tough luck kid of Washington County, is back in a cast again with his 47th broken bone.

The 10-year-old son of a lumber company employe has an unusual malady which brings on fractures from strains that would do little more than snap a piece of chalk.

Raymond broke his first bone at the age of 2½ months. He has repeated periodically ever since. The most recent break was in the upper left leg, a bone that has been broken a dozen times before.

The chubby lad had managed to go 11 months without a break until his most recent misfortune. When his bones snap, those nearby can plainly hear them pop.

The boy's recent leg fracture came from the ordinary exertion of getting into bed. Raymond cannot walk and spends most of his days in a wheel chair.

The disease with which Raymond is afflicted bears the jaw-breaking title "osteoginesis imperfecto." The inner structure of the bone of one who has the disease is brittle. The normal bone might be compared to to a steel rod coated with a covering of concrete. The steel gives the structure its strength. Only the outside is brittle.

In Osteoginesis imperfecto, the whole bone is more like the concrete—brittle and devoid of inner strength or support.

A doctor who has treated Raymond says the cause and cure of the disease are not known. He said there were probably a dozen cases like Raymond's in the United States.

The only other symptom of the disease is a discoloration of the whites of the eyes. Those afflicted usually have china blue "whites."

Sometimes as the patient grows older, the condition gradually corrects itself, the doctor said.

Meanwhile, Raymond manages to keep up with his schooling. A public school teacher visits the youngster at his home twice each week to give special instructions.

Raymond's grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Gibson, lives in Havre de Grace.

Auto Dealer Charged With Evading Taxes

BALTIMORE, March 11 (AP)—Auto dealer Wilmer W. Miller was arrested today on a Federal warrant which charged him with evading income taxes.

The charge was based upon Miller's returns for the years 1948 and 1949. The government accused Miller of evading payment of $26,107.06 for the two years.

Miller was released on bail after an appearance before U. S. Commissioner Ernest Volkart.

Churchill To Get Karls Silver Medal

AACHEN, Germany, March 11 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill has accepted an invitation to come to this ancient German city to receive the international Karls prize.

It will be his first postwar visit to Germany since 1945.

The prize is a silver medal, a parchment citation and 5,000 marks in cash. It has been awarded by the city every year since 1950 to outstanding personalities.

Deadly Gasses Keep Rescuers From Mine Where 15 Entombed

FARMINGTON, W. Va., March 11 (AP)—Deadly gasses today kept back rescue teams trying to enter Jamison No. 9, the big coal mine where 15 men were trapped and entombed last Nov. 13 by an explosion.

The mine was sealed to snuff out the fire after there no longer was any hope for the men caught in its flaming depths.

It was reopened yesterday for the first time and a big exhaust fan started sucking out the gassy air.

Frank B. King, State mines chief, said he would let no one into the mine until it tested less than 3 per cent methane gas. The reading at one opening still was 19 per cent today as the exhaust fans labored away.

King had hoped to get into the mine today but he said after taking the reading there was no telling how soon it would be safe.

A third mine entry was opened to let in more fresh air.

Mine Owners Sue Government

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP) — Owners of a Nevada mine are suing the government for $450,000 on grounds that atom bombs and Air Force bullets wrecked their property.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sheahan of Las Vegas filed the suit in the U.S. Court of Claims yesterday.

Thier complaint says property at the Main Groom mine on the Las Vegas bomb and gunner range was destroyed by aerial gunning, bombing and radioactive dust. They put the market value of the property, which produces lead zinc and silver ores, at $450,000.

The Sheahans say the Air Force began firing machine guns and dropping missiles on and near the mine in the spring of 1949 and continued doing so despite their protests. Atomic bombs and atomic devices "rent and shattered doors and windows and furnishings at the camp site," and "great clouds containing radioactivity particles" showered the property, the complaint says.

Finally, the Sheehans say, an explosion destroyed the place last June 23.

House Will Hear Right To Work Bill

ANNAPOLIS, March 11 (AP)—The House Labor Committee voted today to hold its own separate hearing rather than combine with the Senate on the right to work bill which was described "as important as the budget."

"No other piece of legislation has created as much head of steam," Chairman Kirkland (D-Anne Arundel) told the committee. "We can let the valve off by holding a hearing."

He said a joint hearing had been suggested with the senate committee which is scheduled to discuss the bill outlawing compulsory union membership next Tuesday.

The House received its identical version of the bill only two days ago.

Founder Of Noted Drug Succumbs Of Heart Attack

LONDON, March 11 (AP)—Sir Alexander Fleming, discoverer of penicillin and thus one of mankind's greatest benefactors, died today of a heart ailment. He was 73.

The famed bacteriologist collapsed shortly after having breakfast in bed at his home. Lady Fleming, 43, a Greek war heroine and scientist, was at his side when he died.

It was she who nursed him through pneumonia in 1953—and penicillin was credited with helping greatly toward his recovery.

World honors, including the 1945 Nobel prize for medicine—which he shared with two coworkers—and a British knighthood, showered down on the kindly, shy Scotsman, but he never made a profit out of his discovery. The gifts he received from admirers he used to further his work.

Sir Alexander himself described his discovery in 1928 as "pure luck."

He had been experimenting with an antiseptic substance from human tears and saliva which he called "lysozme." One day a spore, presumably blown through the open window of his old-fashioned laboratory, showed up on a culture plate he was studying.

Through a microscope, he noticed that a blue mold appeared to be killing bacteria on the plate. Further tests showed that the mold-growing liquid, even when diluted 800 times, cleared away bacteria. He also found it did not damage blood corpuscles.

Sir Alexander identified the mold from its brush-like appearance as belonging to the penicillium family of fungi. He named it penicillin and recorded his discovery in an official report in 1929.

Ten years passed before a pair of Oxford University researchers, Sir Howard Florey and Dr. Ernst Boris Chain, produced penicillin in the crystalline form which has made it one of the most potent drugs ever produced. It was perfected in time to save thousands of soldiers' lives from infection during World War II.

Sir Alexander was born in Ayreshire, Scotland, Aug. 6, 1881. He was twice married. His first wife, Sarah McElroy of Ireland, died in 1949.

Ike's Name Is Let Off Club's Roster

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—A country club in nearby Maryland slipped up in sending out its annual membership list. It left off the name of its best known golfing member.

A spokesman for the exclusive Burning Tree Club blamed a "typographical error" for the slip. He said the club is hustling out a new list which includes the name of President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Seek More Authority For Whisky Agents

ANNAPOLIS, March 11 (AP) — A series of bills to give Maryland's whisky agents and other officers more legal authority in conducting raids were introduced in the House of Delegates today.

The House also received new legislation to ban snake dancing in theaters and clubs, permit Montgomery County to levy a cigarette tax and repeal a section of the unemployment compensation laws which requires beneficiaries to have sought work.

The whisky bills introduced by Speaker John Luber at the request of the comptroller's office would permit:

Confiscation of materials and containers used in moonshine operations as well as stills.

Confiscation of vehicles used in the illicit manufacture and transportation of alcoholic beverages.

Search without a warrant of premises, except dwellings, where officers have good reason to suspect illicit whisky operations and where obtaining a search warrant would be impractical.

And destruction of equipment seized when removing it would be impractical.

They would apply to all peace officers as well as state agents.

Robert N. Lucke, head of the state's Alcoholic Tax Enforcement Unit, said the bills "are important to aggressive enforcement of the law" and should remove stumbling blocks which have handicapped local as well as state officers.

The proposed ban on snake dancing—or any theatrical act involving use of snakes, "other poisonous reptiles", alligators or crocodiles—was introduced by Del. Urban (D-Balto 2nd). It followed the death in Baltimore earlier this week of a dancer bitten by a cobra.

The Montgomery County cigarette tax bill, by the county delegation, would permit the County Council to levy the tax at a rate it determined. Baltimore City and County are presently the only subdivisions levying such a tax.

Demos Once More Fail To Get SRC Probe Issue Okay

ANNAPOLIS, March 11 (AP)—Democratic leaders struggling to get Senate approval of a Maryland Roads Commission probe failed again today as the issue produced another example of fancy parliamentary fencing.

They succeeded by a 14-13 vote in reviving a bill which was rejected in a showdown vote last night by the same count.

But when Majority Leader Turnbull (D-Balto County) tried to go one step farther to another vote on final passage, Sen. Phoebus (R-Somerset) requested that this be postponed until Monday night. He was the only Republican who voted with the Democratic majority on two previous rollcalls on the bill.

Faced with the practically certain alternative of losing Phoebus' support if he insisted on forcing a final vote today, Turnbull acceeded to the request.

'He's got us in a box," the majority leader commented laughingly to nearby colleagues.

Failed Twice To Pass

Phoebus said he had "no particular reason" for seeking a postponement of another vote on the bill, which has failed on two attempts at passage.

The Eastern Shore senator then said he was anxious to adjourn early so he could make a dinner date back home.

During the rest of the session the senators also postponed until Monday action on six other roads bills.

The other bills put off included four dealing with the creation of a Maryland Turnpike Authority with some powers now held by the roads commission and two which would prohibit the commission from making any Somerset or Wicomico County route a freeway with controlled or limited access.

In a brief but heated discussion on the two county bills, which in effect would exempt those subdivision from major projects in the commission's 568-million-dollar highway plan, the roads agency was sharply criticized by Turnbull and Sen. Wheatley.

Wheatley's blast came after Sen. Hoff (R-Carroll) declared Maryland "won't have any state roads system" if the Legislature allows counties to override commission decisions on where and what kind of roads should be built.

"We'll have 23 separate county roads systems," said Hoff, adding the lawmakers should resist local efforts to "hamstring and hamper" the commission.

Wheatley, threatening to add his county to those seeking exemption, said this situation had developed because "the roads commission ignores the interests" of the people in areas where it operates.

"It's about time the State Roads Commission got wise to itself," he declared.

Shows Distrust Of SRC

"These bills," said Turnbull in picking up the theme, "are simply symptomatic of the general distrust of the people of this state in the State Roads Commission. This unrest has been caused by the completely arrogant position of the State Roads Commission."

He accused the agency of having a "complete disregard for the human rights of the people in the various counties."

In the gubernatorial campaign last fall the commission was accused by unsuccessful Democratic candidate H. C. Byrd of "waste, extravagance and favoritism."

More than 80 pieces of the legislation involving the roads commission or its projects have been introduced at this session of the General Assembly. All but a handful would curtail the agency's powers, and three call for a "study" or investigation of its operations.

Flood Damage Estimated At $14 Millions

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 11 (AP)—The crest of the most severe Ohio River flood in seven years drifted toward the stream's mouth today, leaving 14 million dollars in damage from Louisville to Pittsburgh.

In its first display of mercy, the muddy river leveled off here today considerably under the crest it had promised.

It stopped rising shortly before last midnight after reaching 36.8 feet, 8.8 feet above flood stage. The U.S. Weather Bureau declared that reading as its crest 24 hours later when no further rise was noted. A 39.5 crest had been predicted.

Greater Louisville was left virtually unscathed, although high waters licked menacingly at some outlying areas.

Two riverside golf courses were covered, many roads were under water and a few businesses and houses were damaged. Flood reduction facilities—levees, floodwalls and upstream reservoirs—limited the Louisville area damage to an estimated one million dollars.

The damage upriver to Pittsburgh already had been set at 13 million dollars.

Col. W. D. Milne, district U.S. engineer, said today Louisville was saved 1¼ million dollars in damages by levees and floodwalls. He said the crest would have been 3½ feet higher here except for reservoirs holding back much water at the Ohio's headwaters.

The torrent was inching back toward the river bed at all upstream points, leaving a major cleanup job from the mud and debris left behind.

About 25 square blocks in Cincinnati were flooded before the river crested there yesterday morning.

On downstream at Carrollton, Ky., about midway between Louisville and Cincinnati, several hundred persons had to leave their homes. Carrollton is one of the few river cities without floodwall protection.

The water invaded streets and residential districts of Madison, Aurora and Utica, Ind., but damage was expected to be minor.

Crests are expected to be reached by early next week at all points below Louisville, including Owensboro, Henderson and Paducah, Ky., Evansville, Ind., and Shawneetown and Cairo, Ill., where the Ohio dumps into the Mississippi River.

Woman To Pay Child's Support

MADISON, Wis., March 11 (AP)—A University of Wisconsin coed today gave up her 2-year-old child in a divorce action to her husband and agreed to pay support money for the youngster.

Divorce counsel Sverre Braathen said it was the first case in his experience where a wife gave up a child and then offered to pay the husband for supporting it.

The woman is Floria W. Solberg, 22, freshman in the school of letters and science. She was awarded a divorce in Circuit Court from Gunerd D. Solberg, also 22, on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. Solberg is a senior in the commerce school at the university.

Braathen said the child is living with Solberg's parents and it was agreed Solberg and his parents could take better care of the youngster.

The court stipulation showed Mrs. Solberg owns a farm and has a substantial income. She agreed to pay $66 a month for the first year, $58 a month the second year, and $50 a month the third and $14 a month thereafter.

The divorce was granted by Judge Alvin C. Reis.

Highway Project Ground Is Broken

POCOMOKE CITY, Md., March 11 (AP)—Ground was broken today for the three mile dual lane bypass of Pocomoke City.

The project is a part of the ultimate dualization of the stretch of U. S. 13 from the Delaware line on the North to Virginia on the South.

Embezzler Charged

BALTIMORE, March 11 (AP)—A 35-year-old teller in a Baltimore branch bank was arrested today on charges of embezzling $2,000.

The teller, Mrs. Mildred Elizabeth Wandell, was put under bail of $3,500. Her husband, Wilbur Otis Wandell, 41-year-old seaman, was charged with aiding and abetting the embezzlement.

Munshower Said To Be Through As Head Of State Police

ANNAPOLIS, March 11 (AP)—The report that Elmer Munshower of Frederick is through as State Police superintendent circulated through the general assembly again today.

This time, the report is that he is facing trouble on confirmation in the Senate.

It was speculated widely before the governor sent down his list of executive nominations last month that Munshower's name would not be offered for reappointment.

However, it was included in the list which is in the hands of a Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel).

Now it is reported that a Western Maryland senator has voiced opposition to Munshower which is enough to have the police superintendent called before the committee next Thursday.

Bandits Rob Two Separate Offices

BALTIMORE, March 11 (AP) — Bandits struck in two offices in separate parts of the city today to make off with a total of about $1,187 in two dyalight robberies.

A lone man who held his hand in his pocket in a way that indicated he carried a gun held up two women clerks in the American Airlines ticket office and got $773, according to police.

Two holdup men, one with an automatic pistol, robbed a woman clerk at the office of the Fairfax Gardens Apartments of $414. The two offices are miles apart.

ANXIOUS MOMENTS—Exhibiting in the show ring can be tedious as the judge views and examines each animal carefully. While awaiting his turn in the Carter County, Okla., livestock show Jack Donham, a 4-H club youth, rests his head affectionately on the head of his prize lamb. A few minutes later the young owner was honored by winning the ribbon for champion Hampshire and reserve grand champion of the show.

10-Year-Old Boy Suffers 47th Fracture Of His Bones

BIG SPRING, Md., March 11 (AP)—Raymond Kline Jr., the tough luck kid of Washington County, is back in a cast again with his 47th broken bone.

The 10-year-old son of a lumber company employe has an unusual malady which brings on fractures from strains that would do little more than snap a piece of chalk.

Raymond broke his first bone at the age of 2½ months. He has repeated periodically ever since. The most recent break was in the upper left leg, a bone that has been broken a dozen times before.

The chubby lad had managed to go 11 months without a break until his most recent misfortune. When his bones snap, those nearby can plainly hear them pop.

The boy's recent leg fracture came from the ordinary exertion of getting into bed. Raymond cannot walk and spends most of his days in a wheel chair.

The disease with which Raymond is afflicted bears the jaw-breaking title "osteoginesis imperfecto." The inner structure of the bone of one who has the disease is brittle. The normal bone might be compared to to a steel rod coated with a covering of concrete. The steel gives the structure its strength. Only the outside is brittle.

In Osteoginesis imperfecto, the whole bone is more like the concrete—brittle and devoid of inner strength or support.

A doctor who has treated Raymond says the cause and cure of the disease are not known. He said there were probably a dozen cases like Raymond's in the United States.

The only other symptom of the disease is a discoloration of the whites of the eyes. Those afflicted usually have china blue "whites."

Sometimes as the patient grows older, the condition gradually corrects itself, the doctor said.

Meanwhile, Raymond manages to keep up with his schooling. A public school teacher visits the youngster at his home twice each week to give special instructions.

Raymond's grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Gibson, lives in Havre de Grace.

Auto Dealer Charged With Evading Taxes

BALTIMORE, March 11 (AP)—Auto dealer Wilmer W. Miller was arrested today on a Federal warrant which charged him with evading income taxes.

The charge was based upon Miller's returns for the years 1948 and 1949. The government accused Miller of evading payment of $26,107.06 for the two years.

Miller was released on bail after an appearance before U. S. Commissioner Ernest Volkart.

Churchill To Get Karls Silver Medal

AACHEN, Germany, March 11 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill has accepted an invitation to come to this ancient German city to receive the international Karls prize.

It will be his first postwar visit to Germany since 1945.

The prize is a silver medal, a parchment citation and 5,000 marks in cash. It has been awarded by the city every year since 1950 to outstanding personalities.

Deadly Gasses Keep Rescuers From Mine Where 15 Entombed

FARMINGTON, W. Va., March 11 (AP)—Deadly gasses today kept back rescue teams trying to enter Jamison No. 9, the big coal mine where 15 men were trapped and entombed last Nov. 13 by an explosion.

The mine was sealed to snuff out the fire after there no longer was any hope for the men caught in its flaming depths.

It was reopened yesterday for the first time and a big exhaust fan started sucking out the gassy air.

Frank B. King, State mines chief, said he would let no one into the mine until it tested less than 3 per cent methane gas. The reading at one opening still was 19 per cent today as the exhaust fans labored away.

King had hoped to get into the mine today but he said after taking the reading there was no telling how soon it would be safe.

A third mine entry was opened to let in more fresh air.

Mine Owners Sue Government

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP) — Owners of a Nevada mine are suing the government for $450,000 on grounds that atom bombs and Air Force bullets wrecked their property.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sheahan of Las Vegas filed the suit in the U.S. Court of Claims yesterday.

Thier complaint says property at the Main Groom mine on the Las Vegas bomb and gunner range was destroyed by aerial gunning, bombing and radioactive dust. They put the market value of the property, which produces lead zinc and silver ores, at $450,000.

The Sheahans say the Air Force began firing machine guns and dropping missiles on and near the mine in the spring of 1949 and continued doing so despite their protests. Atomic bombs and atomic devices "rent and shattered doors and windows and furnishings at the camp site," and "great clouds containing radioactivity particles" showered the property, the complaint says.

Finally, the Sheehans say, an explosion destroyed the place last June 23.

House Will Hear Right To Work Bill

ANNAPOLIS, March 11 (AP)—The House Labor Committee voted today to hold its own separate hearing rather than combine with the Senate on the right to work bill which was described "as important as the budget."

"No other piece of legislation has created as much head of steam," Chairman Kirkland (D-Anne Arundel) told the committee. "We can let the valve off by holding a hearing."

He said a joint hearing had been suggested with the senate committee which is scheduled to discuss the bill outlawing compulsory union membership next Tuesday.

The House received its identical version of the bill only two days ago.

Founder Of Noted Drug Succumbs Of Heart Attack

LONDON, March 11 (AP)—Sir Alexander Fleming, discoverer of penicillin and thus one of mankind's greatest benefactors, died today of a heart ailment. He was 73.

The famed bacteriologist collapsed shortly after having breakfast in bed at his home. Lady Fleming, 43, a Greek war heroine and scientist, was at his side when he died.

It was she who nursed him through pneumonia in 1953—and penicillin was credited with helping greatly toward his recovery.

World honors, including the 1945 Nobel prize for medicine—which he shared with two coworkers—and a British knighthood, showered down on the kindly, shy Scotsman, but he never made a profit out of his discovery. The gifts he received from admirers he used to further his work.

Sir Alexander himself described his discovery in 1928 as "pure luck."

He had been experimenting with an antiseptic substance from human tears and saliva which he called "lysozme." One day a spore, presumably blown through the open window of his old-fashioned laboratory, showed up on a culture plate he was studying.

Through a microscope, he noticed that a blue mold appeared to be killing bacteria on the plate. Further tests showed that the mold-growing liquid, even when diluted 800 times, cleared away bacteria. He also found it did not damage blood corpuscles.

Sir Alexander identified the mold from its brush-like appearance as belonging to the penicillium family of fungi. He named it penicillin and recorded his discovery in an official report in 1929.

Ten years passed before a pair of Oxford University researchers, Sir Howard Florey and Dr. Ernst Boris Chain, produced penicillin in the crystalline form which has made it one of the most potent drugs ever produced. It was perfected in time to save thousands of soldiers' lives from infection during World War II.

Sir Alexander was born in Ayreshire, Scotland, Aug. 6, 1881. He was twice married. His first wife, Sarah McElroy of Ireland, died in 1949.

Ike's Name Is Let Off Club's Roster

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—A country club in nearby Maryland slipped up in sending out its annual membership list. It left off the name of its best known golfing member.

A spokesman for the exclusive Burning Tree Club blamed a "typographical error" for the slip. He said the club is hustling out a new list which includes the name of President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Seek More Authority For Whisky Agents

ANNAPOLIS, March 11 (AP) — A series of bills to give Maryland's whisky agents and other officers more legal authority in conducting raids were introduced in the House of Delegates today.

The House also received new legislation to ban snake dancing in theaters and clubs, permit Montgomery County to levy a cigarette tax and repeal a section of the unemployment compensation laws which requires beneficiaries to have sought work.

The whisky bills introduced by Speaker John Luber at the request of the comptroller's office would permit:

Confiscation of materials and containers used in moonshine operations as well as stills.

Confiscation of vehicles used in the illicit manufacture and transportation of alcoholic beverages.

Search without a warrant of premises, except dwellings, where officers have good reason to suspect illicit whisky operations and where obtaining a search warrant would be impractical.

And destruction of equipment seized when removing it would be impractical.

They would apply to all peace officers as well as state agents.

Robert N. Lucke, head of the state's Alcoholic Tax Enforcement Unit, said the bills "are important to aggressive enforcement of the law" and should remove stumbling blocks which have handicapped local as well as state officers.

The proposed ban on snake dancing—or any theatrical act involving use of snakes, "other poisonous reptiles", alligators or crocodiles—was introduced by Del. Urban (D-Balto 2nd). It followed the death in Baltimore earlier this week of a dancer bitten by a cobra.

The Montgomery County cigarette tax bill, by the county delegation, would permit the County Council to levy the tax at a rate it determined. Baltimore City and County are presently the only subdivisions levying such a tax.

Two moving pictures were shown, one on fish and the other "White Tail," the story of the deer.

The boys decided to make a field trip to the game refuge on top of Collier Mountain today at 9:30 a. m.

Mystery Story Panel Is Presented

Discussing the reading of mysteries by library patrons, Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, told members of the Literature Group of the Woman's Civic Club, that while all forms of fiction and nonfiction have ardent fans, no type has a more enthusiastic following than the mystery. "This fact," she said, "is not to be wondered at when one remembers the intriguing plots which are found throughout great literature and history." Miss Walsh mentioned that Maryland's Edgar Allan Poe is considered the father of the modern detective story, and an "Edgar" is awarded to the best detective story of the year by the Mystery Writers of America.

A panel discussion on the "Art of the Mystery Story" featured the program at the meeting of the group, Wednesday at the Cumberland Free Public Library. The members of the panel included Mrs. John R. Wilkinson, chairman; Mrs. Paul Fletcher, Mrs. William Somerville and Miss Walsh.

Mrs. Fletcher discussed two very different writers, one American and one English. The American, Erle Stanley Gardner, she said, is famous for his exact legal terminology and for the expert knowledge of the law shown by his hero Perry Mason. Mr. Gardner's mysteries are rated the most popular of the current crop.

"Different but delightful," said Mrs. Fletcher, "is the English author Patricia Wentworth, creator of the Miss Silver mysteries, guaranteed to please almost any woman mystery fan."

A review of the work of Maryland's Leslie Ford, who in real life is Mrs. Zenith J. Brown of Annapolis, was presented by Miss Somerville. She discussed a number of other popular authors including Rex Stout, creator of Nero Wolfe. Mrs. Somerville also contributed a discussion of the type of mystery story women like.

In reviewing the work of the popular English Agatha Christie and the even more popular American Mary Roberts Rinehart, Mrs. Wilkinson gave sidelights on the way these successful women writers made their start in the literary field.

Many other authors were mentioned and in closing, Mrs. Wilkinson said it was obvious that a skillful plot described in literate English and leading up to a logical conclusion will have many readers for a long time to come.

About 30 members were present.

Charm 'Round The Clock

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

Are you the type who looks simply terrific one day, and awful the next? And are you looking for a man? If so, chances are you won't find him. Most girls seeking romance who fall into the off-again on-again glamor category are defeated at the start.

After all HE might be the young man who sees you on the bus every morning on your way to work. Just when he's made up his mind that you are irresistible, you show up looking drab and uncombed.

If you want to attract a man, you must maintain definite standards of charm. You can't take the attitude that "nobody's looking right now" or "I won't meet anyone worthwhile at such-and-such a place, anyway." It becomes too easy to slip into any old thing to go to market or a neighbor's house.

You may be guilty of these common grooming faults:

1. You can look cute in paint-spattered dungarees, but do they flatter your figure? Is your blouse an unbecoming color, faded or too small? (He might stroll by your garden, you know.)

2. Do you dash off to work with your hair in pincurls, and no makeup, planning to do your beauty chores on the way or when you arrive at work? (You might meet him in the bus or in your office elevator.)

3. When you run over to Suzie's house for a minute, do you go stockingless, wearing an old housecoat and sloppy shoes? (Her brother might have an attractive male friend visiting him.)

4. On rainy days do you wear the oldest things you own? Or do you attempt to look even brighter than usual because of the dreary weather? (It's a perfect time to outshine other girls if you want to impress that boy at the next desk.)

5. When you go to a movie with the folks, do you dress becomingly or in any old get-up? (Dad might run into an old buddy on the lookout for a nice girl for his son.)

Romeo may stroll by at any moment—at church, your alumnae dance, the market, at work or just any place at all. Smart girls are always well groomed just in case.

Mystery Story Panel Is Presented

Discussing the reading of mysteries by library patrons, Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, told members of the Literature Group of the Woman's Civic Club, that while all forms of fiction and nonfiction have ardent fans, no type has a more enthusiastic following than the mystery. "This fact," she said, "is not to be wondered at when one remembers the intriguing plots which are found throughout great literature and history." Miss Walsh mentioned that Maryland's Edgar Allan Poe is considered the father of the modern detective story, and an "Edgar" is awarded to the best detective story of the year by the Mystery Writers of America.

A panel discussion on the "Art of the Mystery Story" featured the program at the meeting of the group, Wednesday at the Cumberland Free Public Library. The members of the panel included Mrs. John R. Wilkinson, chairman; Mrs. Paul Fletcher, Mrs. William Somerville and Miss Walsh.

Mrs. Fletcher discussed two very different writers, one American and one English. The American, Erle Stanley Gardner, she said, is famous for his exact legal terminology and for the expert knowledge of the law shown by his hero Perry Mason. Mr. Gardner's mysteries are rated the most popular of the current crop.

"Different but delightful," said Mrs. Fletcher, "is the English author Patricia Wentworth, creator of the Miss Silver mysteries, guaranteed to please almost any woman mystery fan."

A review of the work of Maryland's Leslie Ford, who in real life is Mrs. Zenith J. Brown of Annapolis, was presented by Miss Somerville. She discussed a number of other popular authors including Rex Stout, creator of Nero Wolfe. Mrs. Somerville also contributed a discussion of the type of mystery story women like.

In reviewing the work of the popular English Agatha Christie and the even more popular American Mary Roberts Rinehart, Mrs. Wilkinson gave sidelights on the way these successful women writers made their start in the literary field.

Many other authors were mentioned and in closing, Mrs. Wilkinson said it was obvious that a skillful plot described in literate English and leading up to a logical conclusion will have many readers for a long time to come.

About 30 members were present.

Charm 'Round The Clock

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

Are you the type who looks simply terrific one day, and awful the next? And are you looking for a man? If so, chances are you won't find him. Most girls seeking romance who fall into the off-again on-again glamor category are defeated at the start.

After all HE might be the young man who sees you on the bus every morning on your way to work. Just when he's made up his mind that you are irresistible, you show up looking drab and uncombed.

If you want to attract a man, you must maintain definite standards of charm. You can't take the attitude that "nobody's looking right now" or "I won't meet anyone worthwhile at such-and-such a place, anyway." It becomes too easy to slip into any old thing to go to market or a neighbor's house.

You may be guilty of these common grooming faults:

1. You can look cute in paint-spattered dungarees, but do they flatter your figure? Is your blouse an unbecoming color, faded or too small? (He might stroll by your garden, you know.)

2. Do you dash off to work with your hair in pincurls, and no makeup, planning to do your beauty chores on the way or when you arrive at work? (You might meet him in the bus or in your office elevator.)

3. When you run over to Suzie's house for a minute, do you go stockingless, wearing an old housecoat and sloppy shoes? (Her brother might have an attractive male friend visiting him.)

4. On rainy days do you wear the oldest things you own? Or do you attempt to look even brighter than usual because of the dreary weather? (It's a perfect time to outshine other girls if you want to impress that boy at the next desk.)

5. When you go to a movie with the folks, do you dress becomingly or in any old get-up? (Dad might run into an old buddy on the lookout for a nice girl for his son.)

Romeo may stroll by at any moment—at church, your alumnae dance, the market, at work or just any place at all. Smart girls are always well groomed just in case.

W. Va. May Face Serious Threat To Forestlands

AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — West Virginia's forest lands will face a serious threat if 1955 proves another drought year and Congress votes "inadequate" fire control funds, Rep. Byrd (D-WVA) said today.

Byrd said he is opposed to a budget cut of $1,083,690 in such an appropriation and is advocating instead a two million dollar increase.

"In 1952 and 1953," he recalled, "West Virginia suffered a forest fire loss of more than one million acres.

"During the fall of 1952, the southern part of West Virginia was riding on the brink of disaster," he added. "If there had been high winds then there is every reason to believe that a loss of human lives and homes would have resulted."

Byrd said that if West Virginia were to experience "a severe outbreak of fires, we would be without adequate funds due to heavy state expenditures in 1952 and 1953."

Federal allotments for West Virginia have been decreasing during the last several years, he said. For the fiscal year ending June 30, he added, the allotment was $136,431 compared to $193,329 in the year ending June 30, 1948.

Money for forest control is being considered by a house appropriations subcommittee on interior department appropriations.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, March 11 (INS)—Since the movie industry went under water a new world has opened up to a lot of my readers. One has written in to ask what else exists under there except Esther Williams, Jane Russell, James Mason and Kirk Douglas. Ever eager to please, I have selected the oyster, as a sample denizen of the dunked world.

Oyster farmers worry as much right word) has been a big business in this country for 80 years, but the Romans perfected it before the time of Christ. It's tough farming and full of confusion, such as the changing of sexes in oysters from year to year.

Oyster faremrs worry as much about rain as land farmers. Rain is a factor in the balance of fresh and salt water necessary to grow the bivalves. They grow in bays and estuaries of rivers where there is a delicate balance of fresh and salt water.

During its female stage an oyster will yield about 25,000,000 eggs. If a farmer can keep the infant oyster mortality rate down to about 24,999,995 losses in 25,000,000 eggs, he considers himself a pretty lucky fellow. The eggs when emitted float to the surface where a microscopic fraction of them are fertilized by emanations rising from other oysters on the bottom. The heat of the sun incubates them and as tiny tadpoles they sink slowly to the bottom again.

The farmers, know the tadpoles like a clean, hard object to attach themselves to, has put down empty oyster shells before the spawning season. But the tadpole may alight on an old bottle, stone, golfball—anything, hang on by its tail and begin growing the shell that will be its home until eaten, about six years later. But only a meagre proportion of the tadpoles make it to the bottom and anchor there. Fish, turbulence, rain, impurities in the water and other enemies claim most of them.

Ten weeks after the survivors have found anchor the farmer must move them or they'll starve to death because the tides don't bring them sufficient food. So they are moved to adolescent grounds. Still later they are moved to the grounds where they mature and eventually are pulled up for marketing.

No scarecrows on oyster farms. But plenty of patroling, particularly at night, to guard against oyster hustlers. Farms are marked as accurately as the limits of land farms, and as jealously staked out as uranium claims.

Being ho Diamond Jim Brady, I've always thought that one of the bravest men in history was the first bloke who ate an oyster. Whoever he was, he goes a long way back. First settlers in this country found the coast-line Indian an enthusiastic fancier. The shell or its polished products have been currency in many realms, ballots in primitive democracies. One pre-Columbus oyster mound in the Damariscotte River in Maine is believed to contain about 7,000,000 bushels of shells.

Not much use looking for pearls in the kind of oysters you can order in a restaurant. A recent count of 2,000,000 shucked oysters produced two pearls. Both, as usual, had too high a calcium content to buff up purty.

As they say, one man's fish may be another man's poisson. I'm inclined to think the oyster will never replace Esther.

Preparations have been made to have the photographer take pictures following the regular rehearsal. New Switches Have Lights In Handles

New mercury switches that operate silently without the usual on and off clicks are now being equipped with lighted handles clearly visible in the dark. A tiny neon light in the toggle handle glows when the switch is off.

This is a handy idea for bedrooms, bathrooms and children's room. The glowing handle also serves as a reverse pilot light for basement circuits, indicating when the basement lights are off.

The neon handle is supposed to be good for 10 to 15 years and its current cost is figured at about 2 cents per year at average rates.

Birth Is Announced

More Awards

One of my hobbies is collecting award-winning oratory. To me there's nothing quite so stimulating as watching a misty-eyed actress clutching an Oscar and thanking the cameramen, the grips, Louella, Dore Schary and God—not necessarily in that order.

And we're really getting our fill of it these days. A week or so ago we had—coast to coast—the Academy Award nominations, a spectacular fiasco. This was the show in which practically everyone who was nominated wasn't there and everyone who wasn't nominated was there. As a show, it was so very bad that it held millions of folk in horrified fascination, leading to the supposition that maybe this was as good a way as any to hang on to an audience. Just make it so dreadful that the folks at home can't tear their eyes away.

Then the other night we got the Emmy awards (they're for TV), also coast to coast, and it wasn't half bad as a show or a spectacle or just for award-winning oratory. Honors in this category clearly went to Loretta Young, who, clutching her Emmy and suitably misty-eyed declared: "I tried very hard not to want this too much. But now that I have it I know that I wanted it very much." A fine speech, though I can't understand how Miss Young's show rates an Emmy.

But then, they were handing them out by the wagonful. There were a few people in New York and Hollywood who didn't collect Emmys, but then I expect all those people got one last year or anyway will get one next year. It does seem to me to defeat the purpose of an award to pass them around by the yard this way. Of course, award giving has changed its function drastically in our time. The idea in giving an award used to be to reward excellence and to spur achievement in others. Now the whole idea is to get the ceremony on television and, that being the case, you better hand out a lot of 'em because you got all that time to fill.

While I have quarrelled violently with some of the Emmys of previous years, I thought that many of the awards the other night were richly deserved. Judith Anderson, who got the prize for her Lady MacBeth, certainly gave one of the most sensitive and powerful and professional bits of acting ever seen on TV. George Gobel could hardly avoid the "most outstanding new personality" title and his acceptance speech of not a single word wins him a special niche in my collection.

Dinah Shore, Perry Como, Audrey Meadows, Art Carney, Danny Thomas, who won two; Walt Disney, who also won two—they all richly deserve them. All I want to know is—who gets them next year? Naturally there were some pretty miserable choices, too. Art Linkletter's House Party? On what grounds? "This Is Your Life," for heavens sakes! Why? As Steve Allen remarked: "'This Is Your Life' has brought together more relatives than the reading of a rich man's will"—but I don't know that that's sufficient reason to give it a prize.

Apparently there was some grumbling at NBC after the Academy fiasco, and things were noticeably improved. One thing that vastly amused me was dressing everyone up in white tie and tails. Black tie has always been good enough for the movie people—but not, apparently, for the TV crowd. There haven't been that many white ties gathered in one room—or rather two rooms, one on each coast—since the Bolsheviks shot Czar Nicholas. Must have been a great run on the rental agencies.

As a sort of over-all master of ceremonies, riding herd on a lot of little emcees who included George Burns, Jack Benny and Danny Thomas, Steve Allen was dry, witty and wonderfully unimpressed by the whole thing. The junior emcees were all just great, too, having apparently had their writers up all night the night before.

As award-giving ceremonies go, it was a fine show, if you like that sort of thing. Next one on the books: the Academy Award presentations on March 30. After that the award-giving mania will subside for awhile and all the actors can get out of their dinner clothes and get back to work, trying to win one next year.

TRUMP SUPPORT

IT IS pleasant, of course, to have four or more of partner's suit in order to give him a safe raise, but the idea (prevalent in some circles) that four-card support is a must is totally unrealistic. This idea, applied without due discrimination, leads to the sort of bad result that North-South had in this deal.

North dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

North:
♠ K J 4
♦ K Q J 7 2
♣ A Q 9 5

West:
♠ Q 7 5 3
♥ Q 8 4 2
♣ 7 6 2

East:
♥ K 10 9 5 3
♦ A 9 4
♣ K 10 3

South:
♠ A 10 9 8
♥ A J 7
♦ 10 6 5
♣ J 8 4

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	1 ♥	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the deuce of hearts. East put up the king—and South might as well have conceded defeat, there and then. There was no chance for the contract without knocking out the ace of diamonds, and when East got in with that card his heart return gave the defense the setting trick.

It is true that North-South had only seven spades in the combined hands, but nevertheless and notwithstanding, a four-spade contract would have been immeasurably superior to their three notrump contract. Moreover, if North had fully appreciated the power of his own spades in connection with his singleton heart, he would have made an effort, at least, to get into a spade contract. The bidding went hopelessly astray when North refused to raise spades either directly, over South's free bid, or on the next round, over South's two notrump. Discussing the deal, North said: "How could I raise when South bid the suit only once and I had only three-card support?"

The answer to this was that South couldn't well rebid a four-card suit. Moreover, South might have had five spades, but might still have bid two notrump to show his strength in the heart suit. The plain fact was that when South bid one spade, he did his duty in that direction, and North should have shown great interest in a spade contract.

Students Share Discussion In Keyser Forum

Tri-Hi-Y Sponsors Interesting Program

KEYSER — A Parent-Teacher forum was a feature attraction at the regular meeting of Tri-Hi-Y in Keyser High School yesterday. A panel discussion with Janet Hanna, Barbara Haines, Mrs. John Fraser and Mrs. Marie Defibaugh carried the student-parent group along a line of better understanding in a relationship of youth and parents.

Krista Leatherman, vice-president, of the Tri-Hi-Y, led the discussion. The panel considered such problems as use of the family car, helping with the housework, advantages and disadvantages of a college education before marriage, curfew on dating nights, and parents' judgment of why or why not to like daughter's boy friend.

Devotions centered on the theme of the meeting, under direction of Carol Mills, chaplain, and presented by Ida Hartman, Darlene McCoole, Dorothy Yost, Marilyn Ludwick and Maureen Fitzgerald.

The group discussed the annual Tri-Hi-Y-Hi-Y conference to be held at Jackson's Mill on March, 25, 26 and 27. The three representatives from the local group who are planning attendance at the conference, are Beverly Lepley, Carol Mills and Dorothy Yost. The theme for the conference will be "I Believe." The program has been planned to include fellowship, leadership training, discussions on problems of youth and problems faced by both Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y clubs in the state, and various recreational activities including dances.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 11—(INS)—The next picture at Republic in which Ray Milland directs himself as the star is a film biography of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, famous creator of Sherlock Holmes.

Sir Arthur was equally famed as a student of the supernatural, and all I can say is that Ray had better make a good movie of his life because Doyle always said he'd come back after he died!

Ray's picture will be based on an original story by Marty Rackin titled "The Mystery Man," and he'll keep this title. It deals with Doyle's early life as a medical student and will emphasize his interest in the spirit world rather than his family life. (Too many relatives are still living).

Ingrid Bergman has a date in Rome on Tuesday with Darryl Zanuck and Director Anatole Litvak to discuss "Anastasia." But here's the catch: Ingrid will not come to Hollywood, that's definite.

However, Bossman Zanuck believes Ingrid would be so good in the role of the czar's missing or dead daughter, which brought such fame to Viveca Lindfors, that he would be willing to make it in Europe just to get her.

It would certainly be a coup if Darryl is able to get Bergman, since she has turned down all American offers since she married Roberto Rossellini three years ago. An added inducement is that Buddy Adler is the producer.

Anne Bancroft, whose real name is Anne Italiano—(unlike other Italian charmers she combs her hair neatly and doesn't expose her chest)—is finding that just good, old-fashioned acting talent pays off.

She's signed with Columbia on a two-pitcure deal, the first being "Last Frontier" with Guy Madison and Victor Mature.

The company leaves for five weeks shooting in Mexico next week with Anthony Mann directing. What Anne's second for Columbia will be isn't decided, but she isn't doing badly with "New York Confidential" in release and "The Brass Ring" with Farley Granger coming up.

All the brothers—King, that is—have just notified RKO that they have signed Fermin Rivera, famous matador, to play himself in "The Boy And The Bull," which the Kings are shooting in Mexico with a $2,000,000 budget.

Rivera, in an interview, said he has had many film offers, but this is the first one he has accepted because it's a true story of the bravery of the bullfights and not a yarn of gore and agony. At least, that's what the King brothers said he said. I didn't talk to him.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Rita Hayworth is being such an ever lovin' livin' doll that she's making tests with all the players up for roles with her in "Joseph And His Brethren."

The cast comes off Dick Powell's fractured shoulder tomorrow or Sunday.

If Marlon Brando is waiting around for Josianne Berenger to break their engagement, she ain't a'gonna do it!

That tall, dark and handsome man ambling around the San Antonio Stock Show was Rock Hudson—getting a little local Texas color with Director George Stevens for "Giant."

Janet Leigh will personally model her new line of clothes during Buyers' Week in Los Angeles—which the "pro" models could tell her is plenty hard work.

Eartha Kitt deliberately detoured to the Mocambo before going to Las Vegas—because Charlie Morrison gave her her start and she wanted to give him a lift.

And George White's "Scandalettes" are packing them in at Ciro's, too.

That was a thoughtful compliment Loretta Young gave her cameraman, Norbert Brodine, in her "thank you" ad for winning an Emmy.

Wally Westmore's daughter, Mrs. Carl Barbour, expects her first child in September, which makes Wally a grandpa for the third time. His son, Jim, has two children.

Doris Day and Marty Melcher plan to attend the Cannes Film Festival, which should please Monsieur Le Bret, who recently told me they expected only the biggest stars from this country.

That's all today. See you Monday.

W. Va. May Face Serious Threat To Forestlands

AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — West Virginia's forest lands will face a serious threat if 1955 proves another drought year and Congress votes "inadequate" fire control funds, Rep. Byrd (D-WVA) said today.

Byrd said he is opposed to a budget cut of $1,083,690 in such an appropriation and is advocating instead a two million dollar increase.

"In 1952 and 1953," he recalled, "West Virginia suffered a forest fire loss of more than one million acres.

"During the fall of 1952, the southern part of West Virginia was riding on the brink of disaster," he added. "If there had been high winds then there is every reason to believe that a loss of human lives and homes would have resulted."

Byrd said that if West Virginia were to experience "a severe outbreak of fires, we would be without adequate funds due to heavy state expenditures in 1952 and 1953."

Federal allotments for West Virginia have been decreasing during the last several years, he said. For the fiscal year ending June 30, he added, the allotment was $136,431 compared to $193,329 in the year ending June 30, 1948.

Money for forest control is being considered by a house appropriations subcommittee on interior department appropriations.

Although the school is sponsored denominationally, persons of other denominations will be welcome guests, and may take the courses offered if they desire.

Easter Choir Meets Tuesday

FROSTBURG — Prof. Arthur Thomas, director of the Junior Choir for the Easter Sunrise Service, requests all members to be present Tuesday evening, March 15. Preparations have been made to have the photographer take pictures following the regular rehearsal. Approximately 80 boys and girls from the various churches responded to the invitation to join the choir. Those between the ages of 8 and 18 years are still welcome.

Miss Jacqueline Carder is accompanist for the group.

New Switches Have Lights In Handles

New mercury switches that operate silently without the usual on and off clicks are now being equipped with lighted handles clearly visible in the dark. A tiny neon light in the toggle handle glows when the switch is off.

This is a handy idea for bedrooms, bathrooms and children's room. The glowing handle also serves as a reverse pilot light for basement circuits, indicating when the basement lights are off.

The neon handle is supposed to be good for 10 to 15 years and its current cost is figured at about 2 cents per year at average rates.

Birth Is Announced

More Awards

One of my hobbies is collecting award-winning oratory. To me there's nothing quite so stimulating as watching a misty-eyed actress clutching an Oscar and thanking the cameramen, the grips, Louella, Dore Schary and God—not necessarily in that order.

And we're really getting our fill of it these days. A week or so ago we had—coast to coast—the Academy Award nominations, a spectacular fiasco. This was the show in which practically everyone who was nominated wasn't there and everyone who wasn't nominated was there. As a show, it was so very bad that it held millions of folk in horrified fascination, leading to the supposition that maybe this was as good a way as any to hang on to an audience. Just make it so dreadful that the folks at home can't tear their eyes away.

Then the other night we got the Emmy awards (they're for TV), also coast to coast, and it wasn't half bad as a show or a spectacle or just for award-winning oratory. Honors in this category clearly went to Loretta Young, who, clutching her Emmy and suitably misty-eyed declared: "I tried very hard not to want this too much. But now that I have it I know that I wanted it very much." A fine speech, though I can't understand how Miss Young's show rates an Emmy.

But then, they were handing them out by the wagonful. There were a few people in New York and Hollywood who didn't collect Emmys, but then I expect all those people got one last year or anyway will get one next year. It does seem to me to defeat the purpose of an award to pass them around by the yard this way. Of course, award giving has changed its function drastically in our time. The idea in giving an award used to be to reward excellence and to spur achievement in others. Now the whole idea is to get the ceremony on television and, that being the case, you better hand out a lot of 'em because you got all that time to fill.

While I have quarrelled violently with some of the Emmys of previous years, I thought that many of the awards the other night were richly deserved. Judith Anderson, who got the prize for her Lady MacBeth, certainly gave one of the most sensitive and powerful and professional bits of acting ever seen on TV. George Gobel could hardly avoid the "most outstanding new personality" title and his acceptance speech of not a single word wins him a special niche in my collection.

Dinah Shore, Perry Como, Audrey Meadows, Art Carney, Danny Thomas, who won two; Walt Disney, who also won two—they all richly deserve them. All I want to know is—who gets them next year? Naturally there were some pretty miserable choices, too. Art Linkletter's House Party? On what grounds? "This Is Your Life," for heavens sakes! Why? As Steve Allen remarked: "'This Is Your Life' has brought together more relatives than the reading of a rich man's will"—but I don't know that that's sufficient reason to give it a prize.

Apparently there was some grumbling at NBC after the Academy fiasco, and things were noticeably improved. One thing that vastly amused me was dressing everyone up in white tie and tails. Black tie has always been good enough for the movie people—but not, apparently, for the TV crowd. There haven't been that many white ties gathered in one room—or rather two rooms, one on each coast—since the Bolsheviks shot Czar Nicholas. Must have been a great run on the rental agencies.

As a sort of over-all master of ceremonies, riding herd on a lot of little emcees who included George Burns, Jack Benny and Danny Thomas, Steve Allen was dry, witty and wonderfully unimpressed by the whole thing. The junior emcees were all just great, too, having apparently had their writers up all night the night before.

As award-giving ceremonies go, it was a fine show, if you like that sort of thing. Next one on the books: the Academy Award presentations on March 30. After that the award-giving mania will subside for awhile and all the actors can get out of their dinner clothes and get back to work, trying to win one next year.

Students Share Discussion In Keyser Forum

Tri-Hi-Y Sponsors Interesting Program

KEYSER — A Parent-Teacher forum was a feature attraction at the regular meeting of Tri-Hi-Y in Keyser High School yesterday. A panel discussion with Janet Hanna, Barbara Haines, Mrs. John Fraser and Mrs. Marie Defibaugh carried the student-parent group along a line of better understanding in a relationship of youth and parents.

Krista Leatherman, vice-president, of the Tri-Hi-Y, led the discussion. The panel considered such problems as use of the family car, helping with the housework, advantages and disadvantages of a college education before marriage, curfew on dating nights, and parents' judgment of why or why not to like daughter's boy friend.

Devotions centered on the theme of the meeting, under direction of Carol Mills, chaplain, and presented by Ida Hartman, Darlene McCoole, Dorothy Yost, Marilyn Ludwick and Maureen Fitzgerald.

The group discussed the annual Tri-Hi-Y-Hi-Y conference to be held at Jackson's Mill on March, 25, 26 and 27. The three representatives from the local group who are planning attendance at the conference, are Beverly Lepley, Carol Mills and Dorothy Yost. The theme for the conference will be "I Believe." The program has been planned to include fellowship, leadership training, discussions on problems of youth and problems faced by both Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y clubs in the state, and various recreational activities including dances.

Sharon Fraser is president and Miss Barbara Skinner, sponsor of the local Tri-Hi-Y. Other officers are: Krista Leatherman, vice-president; Dorothy Yost, secretary; Joann Melody, treasurer; Carol Mills, chaplain; Evelyn Oss, historian and Joyce Boone, reporter.

After the program the monthly business session of the association will be conducted with the president, Rev. Wilbur Grose, Eckhart, presiding.

It was decided to purchase class pins for the members. Future activities were discussed.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 11—(INS)—The next picture at Republic in which Ray Milland directs himself as the star is a film biography of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, famous creator of Sherlock Holmes.

Sir Arthur was equally famed as a student of the supernatural, and all I can say is that Ray had better make a good movie of his life because Doyle always said he'd come back after he died!

Ray's picture will be based on an original story by Marty Rackin titled "The Mystery Man," and he'll keep this title. It deals with Doyle's early life as a medical student and will emphasize his interest in the spirit world rather than his family life. (Too many relatives are still living).

Ingrid Bergman has a date in Rome on Tuesday with Darryl Zanuck and Director Anatole Litvak to discuss "Anastasia." But here's the catch: Ingrid will not come to Hollywood, that's definite.

However, Bossman Zanuck believes Ingrid would be so good in the role of the czar's missing or dead daughter, which brought such fame to Viveca Lindfors, that he would be willing to make it in Europe just to get her.

It would certainly be a coup if Darryl is able to get Bergman, since she has turned down all American offers since she married Roberto Rossellini three years ago. An added inducement is that Buddy Adler is the producer.

Anne Bancroft, whose real name is Anne Italiano—(unlike other Italian charmers she combs her hair neatly and doesn't expose her chest)—is finding that just good, old-fashioned acting talent pays off.

She's signed with Columbia on a two-pitcure deal, the first being "Last Frontier" with Guy Madison and Victor Mature.

The company leaves for five weeks shooting in Mexico next week with Anthony Mann directing. What Anne's second for Columbia will be isn't decided, but she isn't doing badly with "New York Confidential" in release and "The Brass Ring" with Farley Granger coming up.

All the brothers—King, that is—have just notified RKO that they have signed Fermin Rivera, famous matador, to play himself in "The Boy And The Bull," which the Kings are shooting in Mexico with a $2,000,000 budget.

Rivera, in an interview, said he has had many film offers, but this is the first one he has accepted because it's a true story of the bravery of the bullfights and not a yarn of gore and agony. At least, that's what the King brothers said he said. I didn't talk to him.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Rita Hayworth is being such an ever lovin' livin' doll that she's making tests with all the players up for roles with her in "Joseph And His Brethren."

The cast comes off Dick Powell's fractured shoulder tomorrow or Sunday.

If Marlon Brando is waiting around for Josianne Berenger to break their engagement, she ain't a'gonna do it!

That tall, dark and handsome man ambling around the San Antonio Stock Show was Rock Hudson—getting a little local Texas color with Director George Stevens for "Giant."

Janet Leigh will personally model her new line of clothes during Buyers' Week in Los Angeles—which the "pro" models could tell her is plenty hard work.

Eartha Kitt deliberately detoured to the Mocambo before going to Las Vegas—because Charlie Morrison gave her her start and she wanted to give him a lift.

And George White's "Scandalettes" are packing them in at Ciro's, too.

That was a thoughtful compliment Loretta Young gave her cameraman, Norbert Brodine, in her "thank you" ad for winning an Emmy.

Wally Westmore's daughter, Mrs. Carl Barbour, expects her first child in September, which makes Wally a grandpa for the third time. His son, Jim, has two children.

Doris Day and Marty Melcher plan to attend the Cannes Film Festival, which should please Monsieur Le Bret, who recently told me they expected only the biggest stars from this country.

That's all today. See you Monday.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, March 11 (INS)—Since the movie industry went under water a new world has opened up to a lot of my readers. One has written in to ask what else exists under there except Esther Williams, Jane Russell, James Mason and Kirk Douglas. Ever eager to please, I have selected the oyster, as a sample denizen of the dunked world.

Oyster farmers worry as much right word) has been a big business in this country for 80 years, but the Romans perfected it before the time of Christ. It's tough farming and full of confusion, such as the changing of sexes in oysters from year to year.

Oyster faremrs worry as much about rain as land farmers. Rain is a factor in the balance of fresh and salt water necessary to grow the bivalves. They grow in bays and estuaries of rivers where there is a delicate balance of fresh and salt water.

During its female stage an oyster will yield about 25,000,000 eggs. If a farmer can keep the infant oyster mortality rate down to about 24,999,995 losses in 25,000,000 eggs, he considers himself a pretty lucky fellow. The eggs when emitted float to the surface where a microscopic fraction of them are fertilized by emanations rising from other oysters on the bottom. The heat of the sun incubates them and as tiny tadpoles they sink slowly to the bottom again.

The farmers, know the tadpoles like a clean, hard object to attach themselves to, has put down empty oyster shells before the spawning season. But the tadpole may alight on an old bottle, stone, golfball—anything, hang on by its tail and begin growing the shell that will be its home until eaten, about six years later. But only a meagre proportion of the tadpoles make it to the bottom and anchor there. Fish, turbulence, rain, impurities in the water and other enemies claim most of them.

Ten weeks after the survivors have found anchor the farmer must move them or they'll starve to death because the tides don't bring them sufficient food. So they are moved to adolescent grounds. Still later they are moved to the grounds where they mature and eventually are pulled up for marketing.

No scarecrows on oyster farms. But plenty of patroling, particularly at night, to guard against oyster hustlers. Farms are marked as accurately as the limits of land farms, and as jealously staked out as uranium claims.

Being ho Diamond Jim Brady, I've always thought that one of the bravest men in history was the first bloke who ate an oyster. Whoever he was, he goes a long way back. First settlers in this country found the coast-line Indian an enthusiastic fancier. The shell or its polished products have been currency in many realms, ballots in primitive democracies. One pre-Columbus oyster mound in the Damariscotte River in Maine is believed to contain about 7,000,000 bushels of shells.

Not much use looking for pearls in the kind of oysters you can order in a restaurant. A recent count of 2,000,000 shucked oysters produced two pearls. Both, as usual, had too high a calcium content to buff up purty.

As they say, one man's fish may be another man's poisson. I'm inclined to think the oyster will never replace Esther.

PAUL V. McNUTT, 63, former Governor of Indiana and the first United States Ambassador to the Philippines, is removed in a wheelchair from a plane on his arrival in San Francisco. He immediately left for New York for hospitalization. He had undergone a serious throat operation a month ago and his condition became worse during a world cruise. In Manila he was taken ashore for medical observation and then put aboard the plane for New York. (International)

TRUMP SUPPORT

IT IS pleasant, of course, to have four or more of partner's suit in order to give him a safe raise, but the idea (prevalent in some circles) that four-card support is a must is totally unrealistic. This idea, applied without due discrimination, leads to the sort of bad result that North-South had in this deal.

North dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

North:
♠ K J 4
♦ K Q J 7 2

West:
♠ Q 7 5 3
♥ Q 8 4 2
♣ 7 6 2

East:
♥ K 10 9 5 3
♦ A 9 4
♣ K 10 3

South:
♠ A 10 9 8
♥ A J 7
♦ 10 6 5
♣ J 8 4

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	1 ♥	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the deuce of hearts. East put up the king—and South might as well have conceded defeat, there and then. There was no chance for the contract without knocking out the ace of diamonds, and when East got in with that card his heart return gave the defense the setting trick.

It is true that North-South had only seven spades in the combined hands, but nevertheless and notwithstanding, a four-spade contract would have been immeasurably superior to their three notrump contract. Moreover, if North had fully appreciated the power of his own spades in connection with his singleton heart, he would have made an effort, at least, to get into a spade contract. The bidding went hopelessly astray when North refused to raise spades either directly, over South's free bid, or on the next round, over South's two notrump. Discussing the deal, North said: "How could I raise when South bid the suit only once and I had only three-card support?"

The answer to this was that South couldn't well rebid a four-card suit. Moreover, South might have had five spades, but might still have bid two notrump to show his strength in the heart suit. The plain fact was that when South bid one spade, he did his duty in that direction, and North should have shown great interest in a spade contract.

Frostburg State Stages Contest For New Song

Student Congress Sponsoring Project

FROSTBURG—A contest to obtain a new Alma Mater song for Frostburg State Teachers College is currently being sponsored by the Student Congress. The contest is open to any student, alumni, or member of the general public who wishes to enter, and the dates are from February 14 to March 14.

The words must be original and can be accompanied by original music or by some familiar tune appropriate to the words. If no entries are found to be superior to the present Alma Mater song, the Student Congress reserves the right to reject all entries.

In order to obtain a wider field of opinion, the Student Congress has sent letters to alumni asking whether they would favor such a move.

Much discussion on this subject has been held on campus with many feeling that the present song is too difficult to sing or harmonize, while others feel that the Alma Mater is very similar to traditional college songs, and should remain their song.

Make your charming personality outshine any unfortunate and unexpected error of grooming!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Some women can "face up" to any occasion, rain or shine, dress-up or dress-down, without losing one iota of self-confidence. Others suffer a personality loss when some minor accident of grooming occurs.

Have you ever started out from home in the best of spirits, only to have a few raindrops fall on your favorite hat? Did you spend the rest of the day in the dumps? Then you know what I'm talking about!

Naturally, your personality is most radiant when your dress and grooming are perfection. "Best" looks and "best" feelings are virtually synonymous. But when a mishap occurs, in spite of careful planning, just put your best face forward. The brilliance of a charming smile overcomes mountains and molehills of embarrassment!

Successful Tricks

Many grooming casualties which you may consider unavoidable can be outwitted. Such tricks as these are successfully employed by the Powers Girls:

Banish the skidding earring by sliding non-skid tips over the fasteners. Sew snap-in loops into the shoulders of your dresses and blouses to anchor the elusive lingerie strap. Tuck the selvage of long gloves in at the top, to keep gloves from becoming disarranged on your arms. Wear a waistband made to prevent blouses from riding out of skirts.

You'll have fewer runs (spend less for stockings, then) if you file toenails straight across . . . . less powder on the shoulders of your dresses if you wear a makeup cape when applying cosmetics . . . less evidence of dandruff if you brush your hair one hundred strokes every day, and shampoo according to dry-scalp requirements.

No Problems!

These are other boosters to personality because they prevent problems: An enveloping apron for the hostess-chef—not as glamorous as the frilly type, but far more spot-defying. At-home clothes that are pretty as well as practical—last year's castoffs will send you scurrying for cover if unannounced callers arrive (it shouldn't happen, but it does). Rainwear that's a costume, not a collection — you might as well enjoy inclement weather, since it makes the flowers grow!

You may not be able to solve every grooming predicament before you find yourself in the middle of it. Still, you can make it so unimportant, by maintaining your composure, as to be hardly noticeable. That makes the "P" of predicament, stand for "Personality" instead.

TEN SECRETS OF CHARM

You are welcome, free of charge, to the reminder card, TEN SECRETS OF CHARM. It lists ten points to remember as milestones along the road to greater charm. Carry it with you and you won't overlook any of the ways you impress all who come in contact with you. Foods, Fashions Highlight Revue At Lonaconing

LONACONING — For the benefit of the Central School Playground fund, a capacity audience viewed the Food Fashions Revue on stage at Valley High School auditorium Thursday evening. Sponsored by the Young Women's Club of Lonaconing, Miss Margaret Easley conducted the cooking school on gas appliances using the theme of morning cooking, afternoon cooking for supper, and midnight snack time.

The fashion show blended into the foods demonstration, with clothes from Holmes and company modeled for morning hours, afternoon, and evening dress clothes. Mrs. Doris B. Mitchell played the piano accompaniment.

West Virginia Solons Near End Of 1955 Session

Budget Must Be Passed Today

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 11 (AP)—The West Virginia Legislature worked today at completing its abbreviated program before the deadline at midnight tomorrow.

The Senate rescued the last remaining bills of what is left of the House's much-publicized "tax package" and put them on amendment stage for tomorrow.

Budget conferees were named to start whipping the annual appropriations measure into shape for passage before tomorrow's midnight deadline.

Efforts were still continuing in a conference committee to reach agreement on reorganizing the Road Commission.

Relief Motion Loses

The House devoted quite some time this afternoon to arguing over a move by Del. Richardson (D-Mercer) to get consideration of a bill to require that names of public relief clients be filed with circuit clerks. The names would be available there for any citizen or agency desiring them, but penalties would be set up for misuse of such information.

After considerable wrangling, Richardson's motion lost, 56-44. The 56 votes were registered for taking up the bill, but a two-thirds margin was necessary. As a result of the vote, the bill was left buried on the regular calendar.

The bills coming back onto the Senate floor from its Finance Committee are measures to extend the cigaret tax to other tobacco products, and another to double the license tax on out-of-state corporations and extend the corporation tax to all insurance companies.

Together, they are estimated to yield a million dollars in new revenue needed to balance the budget.

Yesterday's tension developed in the House when that chamber agreed with the Senate version of a pair of $2,100,000 gross sales tax bills, passed them and sent them to the governor.

Both houses were in recess part of this afternoon while the conferees on the Road Reorganization bill made another effort to iron out their differences.

Roads Funds Up For Vote

The Senate will have on passage vote tomorrow two measures which would provide three million dollars in new revenue for construction and reconstruction of secondary roads.

One of the measures would increase the motor vehicle privilege tax from 2 to 3 per cent, and the other would boost the driver's license fee from $1 to $5.

The Senate held a one-hour session this morning to explore all the ramifications of a bill it has on the calendar to gear state financial aid to schools to a more realistic appraisal of property for tax purposes in the various counties.

John Cole of Dayton, Ohio, who has done survey work for the state tax commissioner, appeared before the Senate, meeting as a committee of the whole, to discuss the program.

The Senate bill carrying out the provisions of the plan was put in shape on the Senate calendar for a final vote tomorrow.

Westernport May Open New Parking Area

WESTERNPORT — The Western Maryland Railway has agreed to lease a portion of its ground on Church Street to the Mayor and Commissioners of Westernport.

The ground is the site where their freight station stood. The structure was razed when they built their combined passenger and freight station off of Maryland Avenue.

The ground is 140 feet in length and the width is 100 feet tapering down to 35 feet.

An inquiry was made by the town to lease this ground to be used as a parking lot to relieve the traffic problem on Church Street.

A letter from C. H. Stoner, Baltimore, real estate agent for the Railway Company which contained a lease stated there would be an annual fee for the use of their ground to be paid three months in advance. The town will be required to erect a fence adjoining the railroad.

The lease will be considered at the regular meeting of Mayor Okey E. Michael and City Commissioners next Wednesday evening March 16.

The banning of parking on Church Street is being considered.

Student Congress Sponsoring Project

FROSTBURG—A contest to obtain a new Alma Mater song for Frostburg State Teachers College is currently being sponsored by the Student Congress. The contest is open to any student, alumni, or member of the general public who wishes to enter, and the dates are from February 14 to March 14.

The words must be original and can be accompanied by original music or by some familiar tune appropriate to the words. If no entries are found to be superior to the present Alma Mater song, the Student Congress reserves the right to reject all entries.

In order to obtain a wider field of opinion, the Student Congress has sent letters to alumni asking whether they would favor such a move.

Much discussion on this subject has been held on campus with many feeling that the present song is too difficult to sing or harmonize, while others feel that the Alma Mater is very similar to traditional college songs, and should remain their song.

The second one will honor members of the Salem and the Alderson-Broaddus basketball teams, who participated in a benefit basketball game in Parsons during the holidays. The members of the Business and Public Affairs committee are in charge of arrangements.

Make your charming personality outshine any unfortunate and unexpected error of grooming!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Some women can "face up" to any occasion, rain or shine, dress-up or dress-down, without losing one iota of self-confidence. Others suffer a personality loss when some minor accident of grooming occurs.

Have you ever started out from home in the best of spirits, only to have a few raindrops fall on your favorite hat? Did you spend the rest of the day in the dumps? Then you know what I'm talking about!

Naturally, your personality is most radiant when your dress and grooming are perfection. "Best" looks and "best" feelings are virtually synonymous. But when a mishap occurs, in spite of careful planning, just put your best face forward. The brilliance of a charming smile overcomes mountains and molehills of embarrassment!

Successful Tricks

Many grooming casualties which you may consider unavoidable can be outwitted. Such tricks as these are successfully employed by the Powers Girls:

Banish the skidding earring by sliding non-skid tips over the fasteners. Sew snap-in loops into the shoulders of your dresses and blouses to anchor the elusive lingerie strap. Tuck the selvage of long gloves in at the top, to keep gloves from becoming disarranged on your arms. Wear a waistband made to prevent blouses from riding out of skirts.

You'll have fewer runs (spend less for stockings, then) if you file toenails straight across . . . less powder on the shoulders of your dresses if you wear a makeup cape when applying cosmetics . . . less evidence of dandruff if you brush your hair one hundred strokes every day, and shampoo according to dry-scalp requirements.

No Problems!

These are other boosters to personality because they prevent problems: An enveloping apron for the hostess-chef—not as glamorous as the frilly type, but far more spot-defying. At-home clothes that are pretty as well as practical—last year's castoffs will send you scurrying for cover if unannounced callers arrive (it shouldn't happen, but it does). Rainwear that's a costume, not a collection — you might as well enjoy inclement weather, since it makes the flowers grow!

You may not be able to solve every grooming predicament before you find yourself in the middle of it. Still, you can make it so unimportant, by maintaining your composure, as to be hardly noticeable. That makes the "P" of predicament, stand for "Personality" instead.

Westernport May Open New Parking Area

WESTERNPORT — The Western Maryland Railway has agreed to lease a portion of its ground on Church Street to the Mayor and Commissioners of Westernport.

The ground is the site where their freight station stood. The structure was razed when they built their combined passenger and freight station off of Maryland Avenue.

The ground is 140 feet in length and the width is 100 feet tapering down to 35 feet.

An inquiry was made by the town to lease this ground to be used as a parking lot to relieve the traffic problem on Church Street.

A letter from C. H. Stoner, Baltimore, real estate agent for the Railway Company which contained a lease stated there would be an annual fee for the use of their ground to be paid three months in advance. The town will be required to erect a fence adjoining the railroad.

The lease will be considered at the regular meeting of Mayor Okey E. Michael and City Commissioners next Wednesday evening March 16.

The banning of parking on Church Street is being considered.

Western Maryland Shows Revenue Rise In February

Although there was less coal freight business, Western Maryland Railway's total operating revenues turned slightly upward in February by comparison with the same month last year.

February was the first month to register a year-to-year gain since October, 1953.

A company official said coal traffic is beginning to improve during March and ore business, which has been dormant for some time, also is recovering moderately.

He added that Western Maryland appears to be benefiting from the increased activity of the steel industry and the pickup in business generally.

Gross operating revenues for February were estimated by the company at $3,318,000 as compared with $3,229,000 for the corresponding month last year.

Net income for last month, after taxes and charges, was tentatively figured at approximately $388,000 as against $376,000 for February, 1954.

For the first two months of 1955 gross operating revenues were below the 1954 level, totaling approximately $6,700,000 as compared with $6,976,000 for the like period a year earlier.

Net income for the two months was estimated at approximately $749,000 as against $814,000 for two months of 1954.

Revenues from coal traffic were figured at $1,285,000 for February, down $132,000 from a year earlier. Other freight receipts were put at $1,828,000, up $111,000 compared with 1954.

For the two months of this year coal traffic produced revenues of $2,554,000, down $208,000, and other traffic brought in $3,712,000, a decrease of $133,000 compared with last year.

Delegates Will Introduce Bill On Teacher Pay

The Allegany County Delegation will introduce a bill Monday calling for a $300 increase in teacher's salaries effective in September, this year and allowing an additional $100 in September, 1956 and another $100 in September, 1957.

Delegate Charles M. See, delegation chairman, said the decision is a compromise and was approved unanimously by the legislators.

Previously in discussions with representatives of Allegany County Teachers Association, each of the lawmakers put forth a different proposal on the salary question. None could get a majority vote of the legislators.

The compromise was then agreed upon.

See added the salary bill will be a mandatory and an emergency measure and represents the minimum which the Board of Allegany County Commissioners will pay.

See said the delegation wished it could do more but "because of economic conditions we feel this is the best we can do. We feel they are entitled to more," See added.

The teachers had asked for $500 increase next year and $200 a year for each of the following five years.

A majority report of the county commissioners this week had "looked with favor" on a $300 increase recommended by the Board of Education. But the report of Commissioners William H. Lemmert and James Orr did not commit them to any amount.

In a minority report, Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson recommended $500 for next year as urged by the teachers.

All of the county commissioners opposed at this time the making of any promise beyond the next school year but the Board of Education had proposed an additional $100 for 1956 besides the $300.

Meeting with the county delegation in Annapolis this morning were Raymond O. McCullough, principal of Allegany High School; Joseph Haugen, general industrial arts instructor at Valley High School, Lonaconing; J. Stanley Hunter, vocational arts instructor at Beall High School, Frostburg, all members of the teachers' legislative committee; John D. Kelly, general mathematics instructor at Beall and chairman of the public relations committee; and Edward A. Meconi, psychology and history instructor at Mt. Savage, a committee member.

The group is to report to the association at a meeting today at 10:15 a. m. in West Side School on the results of its sessions with the legislators.

The will, dated July 14, 1954, revoked all other wills made by him. The executor will be his son, George, who will serve without bond. Appraisers named were James W. Beacham and Howard M Spiker

Woodland Man Is Sentenced In Theft Of Trolley Wire

One of four young men pleading guilty to the theft of 2,000 feet of trolley wire from a Lonaconing area mine was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction by Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court.

He was Glen Morgan, 24, of Woodland.

The others, Mosby Densmore, 28, Frostburg; Daniel Francis Crable, 22, Lonaconing, and Junior Lee Yates, 24, also of Woodland, were ordered held in the Allegany County Jail pending a pre-sentencing investigation of their backgrounds by David Steele, state parole officer.

The four men waived indictment by the Grand Jury and agreed to be tried on criminal information.

The cost of the wire taken from the Waynesburg Mine of the Georges Creek Coal and Land Company was set at $390, by James E. Getty, assistant state's attorney who handled the prosecution.

The theft occurred on the night of February 16 and the wire was taken from the trolley poles leading into the mine by the use of bolt cutter. The cable was hauled away in Densmore's car, Getty explained.

Miners were unable to work the following morning until the cable lines were replaced, Getty added.

Edward J. Ryan was attorney for the quartet. He asked the court's mercy for them. In Morgan's case, he referred to a previous conviction for taking mine equipment in 1951 and his subsequent three-year probationary period. Ryan said Morgan, father of three small children, had observed this period faithfully. He had a job waiting him in Washington in the event the court paroled him, Ryan added.

In sentencing Morgan, Judge Harris pointed to the poor economic conditions among the mine owners and the miners.

He observed that many mines are located in unpopulated areas and because of economic conditions the mine owners cannot afford watchmen.

The only way to protect them, Judge Harris declared, is by meting out punishment, and serving a warning to those who may have the same idea in mind.

Leonard Johnson, a Lonaconing Boy Scout leader, appeared as a character witness for Crable. He explained he has known the defendant for seven years, and attested to his good record in the Boy Scouts, having attained Life Scout rank.

Judge Harris addressed Crable, telling him the court very seldom has anyone with a Boy Scout background appearing before it. The training for normal boys in their impressionistic years serves to build up their moral standards not to steal, the judge observed. Apparently these lessons were not heeded, the judge said to Crable.

Ryan noted that Crable, Densmore and Yates had never been in trouble before.

Memorial Hospital Fire Alarm Box Accidentally Set Off

A fire alarm box accidentally bumped yesterday at Memorial Hospital sent city firemen and police to the scene and caused quite a bit of excitement.

It all happened when dinner was being served patients at the hospital. One of the trays accidentally bumped a box in the hospital and the alarm mechanism was set off.

That sent Engine Companies No. 1 and 2 and Truck Company 1 to the scene. And since the box came from Memorial Hospital, a patrol car was also dispatched.

Man Gets Two Years On Contributing Count

Adam W. Johnson, Fayette Street, was sentenced to two years in the House of Correction at a hearing in Juvenile Court yesterday before Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

Johnson, 69-year-old janitor, was charged with contributing to the delinquency of an 11-year-old girl. He was arrested Sunday.

Proper Deed Is Subject Of Suit

An answer was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court in the suit of the Mercantile Safe Deposit and Trust Company against Morris Dantzic and others.

The original suit contended that Dantzic was high bidder on property at the corner of South Mechanic and Harrison street auctioned by the trust company, trustee for the estate of the late Dr. Frank M. Wilson.

After a down payment, the original suit claimed, Dantzic refused to go through with the transaction.

The answer filed yesterday by Earle S. Manges, attorney for Dantzic, denies that the defendant refused to go through with the deal.

The answer claims that the trust company is unable to "deliver a good and sufficient deed for the property."

Manges commented yesterday that Dantzic is willing to buy, but wants a good deed to the property.

For the first two months of 1955 gross operating revenues were below the 1954 level, totaling approximately $6,700,000 as compared with $6,976,000 for the like period a year earlier.

Net income for the two months was estimated at approximately $749,000 as against $814,000 for two months of 1954.

Revenues from coal traffic were figured at $1,285,000 for February, down $132,000 from a year earlier. Other freight receipts were put at $1,828,000, up $111,000 compared with 1954.

For the two months of this year coal traffic produced revenues of $2,554,000, down $208,000, and other traffic brought in $3,712,000, a decrease of $133,000 compared with last year.

Delegates Will Introduce Bill On Teacher Pay

The Allegany County Delegation will introduce a bill Monday calling for a $300 increase in teacher's salaries effective in September, this year and allowing an additional $100 in September, 1956 and another $100 in September, 1957.

Delegate Charles M. See, delegation chairman, said the decision is a compromise and was approved unanimously by the legislators.

Previously in discussions with representatives of Allegany County Teachers Association, each of the lawmakers put forth a different proposal on the salary question. None could get a majority vote of the legislators.

The compromise was then agreed upon.

See added the salary bill will be a mandatory and an emergency measure and represents the minimum which the Board of Allegany County Commissioners will pay.

See said the delegation wished it could do more but "because of economic conditions we feel this is the best we can do. We feel they are entitled to more," See added.

The teachers had asked for $500 increase next year and $200 a year for each of the following five years.

A majority report of the county commissioners this week had "looked with favor" on a $300 increase recommended by the Board of Education. But the report of Commissioners William H. Lemmert and James Orr did not commit them to any amount.

In a minority report, Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson recommended $500 for next year as urged by the teachers.

All of the county commissioners opposed at this time the making of any promise beyond the next school year but the Board of Education had proposed an additional $100 for 1956 besides the $300.

Meeting with the county delegation in Annapolis this morning were Raymond O. McCullough, principal of Allegany High School; Joseph Haugen, general industrial arts instructor at Valley High School, Lonaconing; J. Stanley Hunter, vocational arts instructor at Beall High School, Frostburg, all members of the teachers' legislative committee; John D. Kelly, general mathematics instructor at Beall and chairman of the public relations committee; and Edward A. Meconi, psychology and history instructor at Mt. Savage, a committee member.

The group is to report to the association at a meeting today at 10:15 a. m. in West Side School on the results of its sessions with the legislators.

The will, dated July 14, 1954, revoked all other wills made by him. The executor will be his son, George, who will serve without bond. Appraisers named were James W. Beacham and Howard M Spiker

The estate of Mary C. Trainer was left to her first cousins, Louis J. Shinholt, Bertha Rank, Catherine Brown, Irene Duvall, Idealla Clar, Ruth Twigg and Hazel Shinholt. The estate consists of a three-quarter interest in a double house at the corner of North Centre and Smith Streets.

Woodland Man Is Sentenced In Theft Of Trolley Wire

One of four young men pleading guilty to the theft of 2,000 feet of trolley wire from a Lonaconing area mine was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction by Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court.

He was Glen Morgan, 24, of Woodland.

The others, Mosby Densmore, 28, Frostburg; Daniel Francis Crable, 22, Lonaconing, and Junior Lee Yates, 24, also of Woodland, were ordered held in the Allegany County Jail pending a pre-sentencing investigation of their backgrounds by David Steele, state parole officer.

The four men waived indictment by the Grand Jury and agreed to be tried on criminal information.

The cost of the wire taken from the Waynesburg Mine of the Georges Creek Coal and Land Company was set at $390, by James E. Getty, assistant state's attorney who handled the prosecution.

The theft occurred on the night of February 16 and the wire was taken from the trolley poles leading into the mine by the use of bolt cutter. The cable was hauled away in Densmore's car, Getty explained.

Miners were unable to work the following morning until the cable lines were replaced, Getty added.

Edward J. Ryan was attorney for the quartet. He asked the court's mercy for them. In Morgan's case, he referred to a previous conviction for taking mine equipment in 1951 and his subsequent three-year probationary period. Ryan said Morgan, father of three small children, had observed this period faithfully. He had a job waiting him in Washington in the event the court paroled him, Ryan added.

In sentencing Morgan, Judge Harris pointed to the poor economic conditions among the mine owners and the miners.

He observed that many mines are located in unpopulated areas and because of economic conditions the mine owners cannot afford watchmen.

The only way to protect them, Judge Harris declared, is by meting out punishment, and serving a warning to those who may have the same idea in mind.

Leonard Johnson, a Lonaconing Boy Scout leader, appeared as a character witness for Crable. He explained he has known the defendant for seven years, and attested to his good record in the Boy Scouts, having attained Life Scout rank.

Judge Harris addressed Crable, telling him the court very seldom has anyone with a Boy Scout background appearing before it. The training for normal boys in their impressionistic years serves to build up their moral standards not to steal, the judge observed. Apparently these lessons were not heeded, the judge said to Crable.

Ryan noted that Crable, Densmore and Yates had never been in trouble before.

Memorial Hospital Fire Alarm Box Accidentally Set Off

A fire alarm box accidentally bumped yesterday at Memorial Hospital sent city firemen and police to the scene and caused quite a bit of excitement.

That sent Engine Companies No. 1 and 2 and Truck Company 1 to the scene. And since the box came from Memorial Hospital, a patrol car was also dispatched.

Man Gets Two Years On Contributing Count

Adam W. Johnson, Fayette Street, was sentenced to two years in the House of Correction at a hearing in Juvenile Court yesterday before Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

Johnson, 69-year-old janitor, was charged with contributing to the delinquency of an 11-year-old girl. He was arrested Sunday.

Proper Deed Is Subject Of Suit

An answer was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court in the suit of the Mercantile Safe Deposit and Trust Company against Morris Dantzic and others.

The original suit contended that Dantzic was high bidder on property at the corner of South Mechanic and Harrison street auctioned by the trust company, trustee for the estate of the late Dr. Frank M. Wilson.

After a down payment, the original suit claimed, Dantzic refused to go through with the transaction.

The answer filed yesterday by Earle S. Manges, attorney for Dantzic, denies that the defendant refused to go through with the deal.

The answer claims that the trust company is unable to "deliver a good and sufficient deed for the property."

A Council To Perform An Essential Function

The Hoover Commission's report on the federal government's medical and health services contains no less than 29 recommendations. It would attack the present "chaos" by eliminating certain activities and closing certain institutions, thus getting rid of waste and duplication. It would have measures taken so that certain abuses can be ended. If its advice is followed, savings estimated at between $250 million and $300 million a year might be effected.

This is surely an interesting figure, and one that of itself commends this report to careful study by Congress. Nor does the possible saving seem beyond realization, considering that the government spent $4.1 billion on its medical and health activities in 1954. Even if $2 billion in disability allowances are left out of the calculation, the expenditure was above $2 billion.

But possibly the most constructive step that could be taken would be for the President to put Recommendation No. 1 into effect. For the report calls on him to appoint a Federal Advisory Council of Health, to be made up of members of the medical profession together with laymen distinguished in other fields, charged with reviewing health policies and services with a view to achieving better coordination and developing new and adequate policies.

This comes close to being a key recommendation, inasmuch as the report includes a number of other recommendations that would give the proposed council work to do. This idea sounds so sensible that even those who have criticized the commission—and its recommendations for closing "surplus" VA hospitals and for dealing with veterans with non-service connected disabilities have been attacked — should approve it.

There is a need for some entity to carry on from where the commission left off and to plan for the future. The suggested advisory council could perform this essential function.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Billy Graham

The fact is astounding that Billy Graham, the evangelist, could fill Madison Square Garden in New York with an estimated 5,000 standing on the street, on a cold, wintry day, listening to a loud speaker. Although about 25,000 people is not an enormous number in ratio to the total population of New York, it is larger than a prizefight, a basketball game, or a political speech draws in this city.

The question must then arise: Why is Billy Graham so popular?

The answer is quite simple: He talks religion. Too many clergymen, in their sermons these days, do not talk religion. They talk about everything else. They review books of temporary value; they review Broadway plays; they are amateur psychiatrists; they go in for social action; they turn the pulpit into a political forum. But they do not talk of man's relations to God and of the evil of sin and of the consequences of infractions of the moral law.

And except for the very few who possess extraordinary histrionic and forensic talents and the other few who do, exceptionally, devote themselves to the task of being God's messengers, their sermons become tiresome and are often trite, and the congregants find golf more amusing or give themselves a few hours to "Do It Yourself" occupations at home.

That is why Billy Graham draws such crowds. The man is not a great preacher, in the style, let us say, of Henry Ward Beecher, but he reaches the conscience of an era that seeks God all over again.

The clergy of all denominations might learn something from the phenomenon of Billy Graham, just as they might have learned something from Bishop Fulton Sheen or Norman Vincent Peale. I have heard Catholics criticize Bishop Sheen for being a showman, but he reaches men's minds and hearts and they understand what he says and they find comfort and guidance in his ministrations.

I once had quite a quarrel with a Protestant clergyman over Norman Vincent Peale. This clergyman arbitrarily insisted that Peale was not a Christian because he did not preach his particular brand. The clergyman, incidentally, preferred communism to Catholicism, although he abhorred both. So I made the point that Peale—this was before his astounding success as an author and on radio and television—could fill his church with people who would not go elsewhere.

In our disturbed period, men and women turn to God for peace and comfort. They want to hear God's word. Call it escapism, if you please, but they are not escaping to voluptuousness and drunkenness. They are escaping from the unreality of fear of the atom to the reality, for them, of the life eternal. It is a wholesome, response to the challenge of the confusions of our times. For many, who have been lost in the maze of argumentation and confusion, it opens a door to a new and rich experience.

The churches of God are not public forums nor are they substitute pews for the couch of the psychoanalyst. The clergy are not important as editorial writers who read complex studies on social problems. There are others to perform such wonders. The following paragraph was issued by an important religious denomination:

". . . There is growing up over against communism a fanatical negativism. Totally devoid of a constructive program of action, this negativism is in danger of leading the American mind into a spiritual vacuum. Our national house, cleansed of one demon, would invite by its very emptiness, the entrance of seven others. In the case of a national crisis this emptiness could, in the high sounding name of security, be occupied with ease by a Fascist tyranny."

What is the constructive program? I do not see it in the document. I do not see a statement of fundamental Christian doctrine such as Billy Graham preaches and such as his immense following craves. The clergy who fail to recognize that their function is a particular one, fail to meet the issue of our times which is how to bring God back into the home, back into the school and the workshop, back into the church.

I have come across clergymen who are humanists. Man is the center of the universe. Man is everything. They avoid mention of God, but they capitalize science. That, of course, is their privilege, but what are they doing in churches and synagogues?

Same Trouble We Had With The Other Girl

Diplomats Playing Game Of Bluff And Counterbluff

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—As the sensitive eyes of a jittery world scan the headlines each day to find out if a general war might break out in the Far East, it is astonishing how little about the actual intentions of the Communists are known anywhere. There is, in fact, a "war of nerves" going on, with a considerable amount of bluffing being done privately and openly by the Communist authorities in Peiping and Moscow.

What bewilders the public is the contrast between what Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden says and what Secretary of State John Foster Dulles says. It would be easy to infer from surface indications that there is a rift, but a closer examination of the speeches as well as the dispatches leads to a strong impression that London and Washington are well aware of what each is doing in a constructive effort to prevent a war from breaking out.

Key In Washington, Peiping

It is natural for Britain, with its colonial possession in the offshore island of Hongkong, to speak in hopeful terms about "two Chinas—Formosa and Red China" and to express vague hopes about the ultimate admission of Red China into the United Nations. This gives Peiping an idea that perhaps London will play the role of intermediary, especially with its close ties to India, another mediating influence.

But at the same time the United States government is faced with the realities of a possible outbreak of war in the Far East, and it is America alone which will be obliged to use military force in the area around Formosa. So the real key to what will happen by way of retaliation is in Peiping and Washington. The Soviet government is trying to restrain the Red Chinese, while the British are giving the impression they are trying to restrain the "impulsive Americans."

The game of bluff and counterbluff is going on every day inside diplomatic channels, with nobody quite sure what the other fellow may do. This is a typical illustration of a situation in which an overt act can be committed and a big war brought on by the miscalculations of one side or the other.

The simple military facts of the whole situation, however, are perhaps the best answer to all doubts. Red China will not dare to fight a major war against the United States forces, particularly since Mr. Dulles now has made it clear any attack on Formosa might lead to a war against Red China on all fronts, including North Korea—and he means, of course, by air power. There are plain hints, too, that nuclear weapons will be used rather than conventional assaults by ground armies of invasion.

Inside Story

Some Democratic senators are openly complaining that Mr. Dulles hasn't been able as yet to convince the Red Chinese that America "means business." Possibly the reason is that some Democrats tried to limit the President's powers when the recent resolution to protect Formosa was before Congress, and this has been followed by a lot of argument from some of the same sources that maybe it would be a good idea to have the Nationalists give up the offshore islands.

Under such circumstances, it is difficult to convey impressions of firmness. But the inside story is that the President and Mr. Dulles worked out their policy some time ago. It is this: if the Red Chinese were to invade Quemoy and the Matsu islands and could take them without attacking Formosa or the Pescadores islands, it is not likely that American forces would be engaged at all. But the military men say this is impossible. They declare that the moment the invasion of the islands starts, Nationalist air power will come into play and that, once the fighter planes and bombers of both sides begin banging away at each other, there will be a pursuit to Formosa territory by the Reds and the United States will be instantly involved.

Red Chinese officials must know all this. They keep on talking nevertheless of an attack on Formosa as well as on the offshore islands, and they refuse to discuss any "cease fire." This is typical Oriental tactics, as they play for time and for negotiations which they think will end in appeasing them one way or the other. The United Nations' record of refusing to apply maximum power in Korea is coming home to roost now, and it is to be hoped that the United States doesn't have to use force in order to prove that it really means what it says. The Red Chinese aren't likely to attempt to get such proof, for it would be fatal to them.

To Red China, war could mean internal revolution. For Soviet Russia, it could mean burdens she would not wish to assume in view of the delicate situation among her own satellites. So the war scare is still mostly in the headlines. It has little substance.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

With San Francisco and Chicago running the political wordeos we are in for a big beef.

Realize it will be the Cow Palace against the stockyards?

How are they going to take the vote of the salable proxies? Will they rap for order on heads instead of desks?

Will the result of the 11th ballot be, "two hundred head for Spizzle and Company?"

How about the veepee? A good steady steer of course. But will he be a canner or a cutter?

These conventions will be the important livestock markets of 1955. Winner gets the blue ribbon. And along about August by old pal Amon Carter will send me a fat steak whose taste will look familiar.

San Francisco is one of the finest convention towns in the world. Last time out there was with Runyon in 1920. His pals from Denver gave him a dinner on the Barbary Coast just to test out the theory of prohibition. It was defeated on the first ballot.

Chicago, Philadelphia and the other cities are experts on conventions. The hotel managers have a mania for stashing extra cots in your reservations. You go to sleep in a private room and wake up in a ward.

This will be a welcome change from Madison Square Garden in 1928. The Cow Palace and the Stockyards Auditorium will feed the delegates chops and sirloins. Back at the Garden in 1928 they did it on frankfurters.

Various Sources May Cause Pain In Upper Abdomen

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

When a physician is consulted because of belching, distention, heartburn, nausea, or vomiting, the patient should not expect an immediate diagnosis. The upper abdomen contains several organs (stomach, gall gladder, and part of the large intestine) and in addition, these symptoms often result from overfatigue, emotional upsets, or dietary indiscretions.

Now and then the type of abdominal distress is so characteristic, it seems like a waste of money to have X-rays. In peptic ulcer, for example, gnawing or burning pain is located to the right of and above the navel. Furthermore, it is related to food in that relief is noted after drinking milk or eating. Alkalis have the same effect because they counteract stomach acidity.

This sequence is an enlightening feature from the diagnostic standpoint but may prove treacherous, especially when discomfort is slight. If a man neglects to seek medical care because symptoms are eased by taking a bit of food or baking soda, he may run into complications with his ulcer.

Gall bladder discomfort usually is on the right side of the midline, beneath the ribs. It often is associated with sour eructations, gas, and flatulence and is related to food also except that it develops after eating instead of before as in ulcer. Eating fatty dishes, cabbage, and pork are inclined to bring distress.

Gall bladder colic is much more painful and implies that a stone is moving. The episode is severe and agonizing; the victim squirms this way and that in an effort to find a comfortable position.

Now and then pain radiates to the back so that it is just as annoying there as in front. It comes and goes like labor pains until the stone passes out of the duct.

The pancreas lies below the stomach and opens into the intestine at the same place as the tube that leads from the liver and gall bladder. Pain from acute pancreatitis generally is sudden and excruciating, is felt in the region of the navel, and often extends into the back. Most victims are pale and the skin is cold and clammy.

A less violent and more chronic infection of this organ produces pain radiating to the back. The condition often is associated with weight loss and fermenting stools. X-ray is not as helpful in diagnosis as are certain blood tests. Pancreatitis is serious because it is not as amenable to treatment as are other intestinal disorders.

STONE IN DUCT

R. L. writes: Could a stone in the common duct cause a person to vomit after eating?

REPLY

Yes, but severe pain and jaundice would be more common symptoms of obstruction of this passageway by a gallstone.

NO HARM

C. T. writes: Is it safe for a man to bleach the hair on his chest?

REPLY

Yes, but why?

WHIPPED TO SLEEP

Mrs. B. writes: When a 3- or 4-year-old child cannot or does not go to sleep for two or three hours after being put to bed, do you think a hard sound whipping is the remedy? I am living where a bright, exceptionally active child receives such punishment nightly after asking for a drink or toy and wanting to go to the bathroom too often. After the spanking he cries for about an hour. The parents tied him in bed up to the age of six months and now speak of getting a new harness, which almost gives the child convulsions when it is mentioned. Could you say something about the harmful effects of such treatment?

REPLY

More can be accomplished with children through love than punishment. Many youngsters who misbehave in this way before going to bed want a few moments of affection and assurance that the parents are nearby and will offer protection if needed. Why not take this thought to these parents?

AGE AND CATARACT

R. L. writes: Is 44 too young to have a cataract removed? My other eye has good vision.

REPLY

No. If you cannot see out of the affected eye, there is no advantage in waiting any longer.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

Abe Lincoln, relates Robert Yoder, once attended the theater in Springfield, Ill., and arrived just as the curtain rose. His eyes riveted on the stage, he thoughtlessly placed his tall silk hat on the seat next to him, open end up.

Entered a lady of bountiful proportions, headed straight for the empty seat. She sat. There was a crunch. She jumped up.

The hat was now a black silk pancake. Mr. Lincoln picked it up ruefully. "Madam," he declared, "I could have told you my hat wouldn't fit you before you tried it on."

My old Uncle Herbert from Vermont, visiting New York, was appalled by the heavy traffic choking every thoroughfare. "You gotta nice town here," he opined, "but it looks like you fellers let yourselves get quite a bit behind in your haulin'!"

Dulles's Latest Warning To Red China Not Expected To Be Taken Seriously

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Dulles informed the American ambassadors to 15 Asiatic countries last week that the time had come for the United States to stand firm against Asiatic communism. Reporting to the nation by radio and TV this week, Dulles reaffirmed that position.

He did not, however, outline the means and methods by which we are to stand firm.

Earlier this week, I took the liberty of suggesting the means by which we should stand firm in the Orient: namely, by adopting the same method the Orientals have used against us—the boycott-blockade.

The Chinese have used the boycott time after time against the Westerner in the Far East. The Indians used it to help win their independence from the British. And whereas a battle to defend the small islands of Quemoy and Matsu would bring misunderstanding, bitterness and probable defeat, a boycott could be enforced—and be far more effective—without war.

Without arguing the pros and cons of the boycott weapon for the moment, however, let's take a look at Mr. Dulles's stern words of warning and see what they will mean to the Chinese Communists whom he is hoping to stop dead in their tracks.

Unfortunately, Dulles's warnings, stern, forbidding and frequent as they have been in the past, have too often been reversed, either by his own chief in the White House or by Dulles's own policies or by the policies of his administration in curtailing the military budget. Naturally the Chinese Reds listen to the radio and read the newspapers. And here is the record of Eisenhower administration statements they have read in the past:

St. Louis Speech

Dulles to American Legion, St. Louis, September 2, 1953—"There is a risk that as in Korea Red China might send its own army into Indochina. The Chinese regime should realize that such a aggression could not be confined to Indochina. The Chinese regime should realize that such a second aggression could not occur without grave consequences. I say this soberly in the interest of peace and in the hope of preventing another aggression miscalculation."

"Grave consequences" in diplomatic language means a threat of war. But the Chinese Reds ignored the threat. They went right ahead with the invasion of Indochina.

Massive Retaliation—On January 12, 1954, Dulles announced that the U.S.A. was prepared to meet aggression with instant retaliation "by means and places of our own choosing." We would depend primarily upon "a great capacity to retaliate instantly," he said, referring to the atom bomb. The Chinese, however, blissfully proceeded to take over more areas of Indochina.

Eisenhower's Warning—At Seattle, August 1953, Eisenhower told the Governors' Conference: If Indochina goes, several things happen right away. The tin and tungsten that we so value from that area would cease coming. All India would be outflanked. Burma would be in no position for defense." His warning fell on deaf ears and the United States did nothing to back up the warning.

Another Warning — Speaking to the newspaper editors on April 16, 1953, Eisenhower said that a truce in Indochina must not mean more attacks on Indochina. "It (a truce) should mean an end to the direct and indirect attacks upon the security of Indochina and Malaya. For any armistice in Korea that merely released aggressive armies to attack elsewhere would be a fraud." But the Chinese did exactly that. They made the Korean peace a fraud. The United States, however, did nothing about it.

Nixon Warns — Addressing the American Society of Newspaper Editors in April 1954, Vice President Nixon warned that the United States was ready to send land troops to Indochina. This did not seem to scare the Reds at all.

Nixon Warns Again—Speaking in Cincinnati a week later, however, Nixon claimed the Reds had been scared. "We warned the Chinese Communists that if they make overt moves into Indochina as they did in Korea that they would run the risk of retaliation of the United States against China. Result: the possibility of that overt move by the Chinese Communists has been reduced very, very definitely." 2 The Chinese, meanwhile, kept moving into Indochina.

Ike Unwarns—Perhaps the Reds remembered an exactly contrary statement made by Eisenhower on February 10, two months before Nixon's warning. "No one could be more bitterly opposed to getting the United States involved in a hot war in that region than I am," said the President.

Ike Refutes Nixon—At any rate, the Communists hadn't long to wait before the President cut the ground out from under his vice president. It was on April 20 that Nixon threatened stern measures against the Reds. It was on April 29 that Eisenhower told a press conference: "We certainly could not hope for a completely satisfactory answer from the Communists. The most you can work out is a practical way of getting along"—something, he added, that would stop "blood-letting."

Formosa By '56

Thus the Chinese Communists have heard brave words from one quarter and compromising words from another. They have listened to threats of both massive retaliation and land troops. They have listened to the demands of the China lobby and also watched us cut our military budget.

No wonder they have marched right ahead, first in Indochina and more recently opposite the islands of Matsu, Quemoy and Formosa. So it's highly doubtful that Secretary Dulles's stern words of warning last Tuesday will have much effect on the men in Peiping.

In fact, Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai has already promised Premier Nehru of India to deliver Formosan rice to the rice-bowls of India in 1956.

What the United States faces, therefore, when you get down to cold facts, is either another retreat, or a shooting war, or a third alternative — the weapon which Orientals have used against us—the boycott-blockade.

Does Your Job Click?

By Brother Barnabas

Do you take your job seriously, or are you a time server?

If you are satisfied with mediocrity rather than excellence, you are either too big for your job, or too little.

In any case you can't be as happy in your work as you have a right to be unless your job clicks.

Holman Hunt went to the Holy Land to get local coloring for his celebrated picture "The Shadow of the Cross," showing Jesus at work in his home as a carpenter. When the painting was completed, some sharp-eyed critic noted that the shavings were from the wrong kind of a tree.

Not satisfied with less than perfection, the great artist made a trip to Palestine to make sure which particular sort of cedar our Lord would have worked on.

That kind of particularity is rare. We find it in persons who strive for effect in doing something out of the ordinary, whether it be useful or useless.

Can't Compete With Gina

If you want the reputation of being the best-dressed woman in town, it is useless to compete with Gina Lollabrigida who has a dress for every day in the year and every hour in the day.

If you want the reputation of being the biggest liar in town, and never telling the truth if a lie will do, consult Harvey Matusow.

Some of our city fathers have been accused of taking their job too seriously. Quite a tribute, I should say, for, while performing proper obsequies over the 200 years of local history since the beginning, they are looking forward and planning for the next 200 years.

So the baby is on the councilmanic doorstep feeling more pert than his progenitor did two centuries ago.

Streets are being washed, with the aid of Jupiter Pluvius. Houses are being built or planned. Superannuated buildings are either being torn down or remodeled, repaired, repainted, and otherwise made to look like new, until the Queen City is beginning to look like she had just come from the beauty shop.

"Bridge Of Sighs"

Then we have flood control, garbage disposal, new industries, "George Washington Crossing," making Cumberland a suburb of Ridgeley. And in the offing there awaits the unrealized dream of a "Bridge of Sighs" which travelers can go over, or under, or around at their option without let or hindrance.

No more can we sing our theme song:

"I'm forever blowing bubbles,
Pretty bubbles in the air;
They fly so high, they reach
the sky,
Then like my dreams, they fade and die."

Our flair for dolling up the city has spread to Washington. Even President Eisenhower is spending a mint of money in building his "Gettysburg Address." He will probably be borrowing more money to finish the job, if he can find some good Democrat to go his security.

One's best investment is not a house to live in, but the folks that live in it. "Better a corner on the roof than a room inside the mansion with a nagging wife" (Proverbs 21:9). Some wives show better taste in picking a necktie than in picking a husband.

How many children have you? "None—just an automobile." The first cost of a child is less than that of a car, unless the car is an orphan. You can wreck your car and get another. But your child can wreck you.

If you can't afford both, either go into politics and raise your salary, or ditch the car, but never the child.

One reason why your job doesn't click is because you are occupied with futilities. It has truly been said that a man is idle who might be better employed.

No Flattery Here

By that standard this vacuum received a puncturing blow the other day from a well-meaning commenter. Said he: "Yes, I read your column now and then, to "kill time."

The quintessence of futility was voiced about a relative of many of us:

"One day my sister, she picked up a pin,
And she hasn't done anything
since."

If your job is too little to be exciting, try putting more time and gray matter into it. George Washington Carver made a sweet potato click and became famous.

To make your job click, don't look for a "snap" but hitch your wagon to a star and sail "ad astra per aspera"—to the stars by the hard way.

Seriously yours,
BROTHER BARNABAS

A Council To Perform An Essential Function

The Hoover Commission's report on the federal government's medical and health services contains no less than 29 recommendations. It would attack the present "chaos" by eliminating certain activities and closing certain institutions, thus getting rid of waste and duplication. It would have measures taken so that certain abuses can be ended. If its advice is followed, savings estimated at between $250 million and $300 million a year might be effected.

This is surely an interesting figure, and one that of itself commends this report to careful study by Congress. Nor does the possible saving seem beyond realization, considering that the government spent $4.1 billion on its medical and health activities in 1954. Even if $2 billion in disability allowances are left out of the calculation, the expenditure was above $2 billion.

But possibly the most constructive step that could be taken would be for the President to put Recommendation No. 1 into effect. For the report calls on him to appoint a Federal Advisory Council of Health, to be made up of members of the medical profession together with laymen distinguished in other fields, charged with reviewing health policies and services with a view to achieving better coordination and developing new and adequate policies.

This comes close to being a key recommendation, inasmuch as the report includes a number of other recommendations that would give the proposed council work to do. This idea sounds so sensible that even those who have criticized the commission—and its recommendations for closing "surplus" VA hospitals and for dealing with veterans with non-service connected disabilities have been attacked — should approve it.

There is a need for some entity to carry on from where the commission left off and to plan for the future. The suggested advisory council could perform this essential function.

These Days

Billy Graham

The fact is astounding that Billy Graham, the evangelist, could fill Madison Square Garden in New York with an estimated 5,000 standing on the street, on a cold, wintry day, listening to a loud speaker. Although about 25,000 people is not an enormous number in ratio to the total population of New York, it is larger than a prizefight, a basketball game, or a political speech draws in this city.

The question must then arise: Why is Billy Graham so popular?

The answer is quite simple: He talks religion. Too many clergymen, in their sermons these days, do not talk religion. They talk about everything else. They review books of temporary value; they review Broadway plays; they are amateur psychiatrists; they go in for social action; they turn the pulpit into a political forum. But they do not talk of man's relations to God and of the evil of sin and of the consequences of infractions of the moral law.

And except for the very few who possess extraordinary histrionic and forensic talents and the other few who do, exceptionally, devote themselves to the task of being God's messengers, their sermons become tiresome and are often trite, and the congregants find golf more amusing or give themselves a few hours to "Do It Yourself" occupations at home.

That is why Billy Graham draws such crowds. The man is not a great preacher, in the style, let us say, of Henry Ward Beecher, but he reaches the conscience of an era that seeks God all over again.

The clergy of all denominations might learn something from the phenomenon of Billy Graham, just as they might have learned something from Bishop Fulton Sheen or Norman Vincent Peale. I have heard Catholics criticize Bishop Sheen for being a showman, but he reaches men's minds and hearts and they understand what he says and they find comfort and guidance in his ministrations.

I once had quite a quarrel with a Protestant clergyman over Norman Vincent Peale. This clergyman arbitrarily insisted that Peale was not a Christian because he did not preach his particular brand. The clergyman, incidentally, preferred communism to Catholicism, although he abhorred both. So I made the point that Peale—this was before his astounding success as an author and on radio and television—could fill his church with people who would not go elsewhere.

In our disturbed period, men and women turn to God for peace and comfort. They want to hear God's word. Call it escapism, if you please, but they are not escaping to voluptuousness and drunkenness. They are escaping from the unreality of fear of the atom to the reality, for them, of the life eternal. It is a wholesome, response to the challenge of the confusions of our times. For many, who have been lost in the maze of argumentation and confusion, it opens a door to a new and rich experience.

The churches of God are not public forums nor are they substitute pews for the couch of the psychoanalyst. The clergy are not important as editorial writers who read complex studies on social problems. There are others to perform such wonders. The following paragraph was issued by an important religious denomination:

". . . There is growing up over against communism a fanatical negativism. Totally devoid of a constructive program of action, this negativism is in danger of leading the American mind into a spiritual vacuum. Our national house, cleansed of one demon, would invite by its very emptiness, the entrance of seven others. In the case of a national crisis this emptiness could, in the high sounding name of security, be occupied with ease by a Fascist tyranny."

What is the constructive program? I do not see it in the document. I do not see a statement of fundamental Christian doctrine such as Billy Graham preaches and such as his immense following craves. The clergy who fail to recognize that their function is a particular one, fail to meet the issue of our times which is how to bring God back into the home, back into the school and the workshop, back into the church.

I have come across clergymen who are humanists. Man is the center of the universe. Man is everything. They avoid mention of God, but they capitalize science. That, of course, is their privilege, but what are they doing in churches and synagogues?

Diplomats Playing Game Of Bluff And Counterbluff

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—As the sensitive eyes of a jittery world scan the headlines each day to find out if a general war might break out in the Far East, it is astonishing how little about the actual intentions of the Communists are known anywhere. There is, in fact, a "war of nerves" going on, with a considerable amount of bluffing being done privately and openly by the Communist authorities in Peiping and Moscow.

What bewilders the public is the contrast between what Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden says and what Secretary of State John Foster Dulles says. It would be easy to infer from surface indications that there is a rift, but a closer examination of the speeches as well as the dispatches leads to a strong impression that London and Washington are well aware of what each is doing in a constructive effort to prevent a war from breaking out.

Key In Washington, Peiping

It is natural for Britain, with its colonial possession in the offshore island of Hongkong, to speak in hopeful terms about "two Chinas—Formosa and Red China" and to express vague hopes about the ultimate admission of Red China into the United Nations. This gives Peiping an idea that perhaps London will play the role of intermediary, especially with its close ties to India, another mediating influence.

But at the same time the United States government is faced with the realities of a possible outbreak of war in the Far East, and it is America alone which will be obliged to use military force in the area around Formosa. So the real key to what will happen by way of retaliation is in Peiping and Washington. The Soviet government is trying to restrain the Red Chinese, while the British are giving the impression they are trying to restrain the "impulsive Americans."

The game of bluff and counterbluff is going on every day inside diplomatic channels, with nobody quite sure what the other fellow may do. This is a typical illustration of a situation in which an overt act can be committed and a big war brought on by the miscalculations of one side or the other.

The simple military facts of the whole situation, however, are perhaps the best answer to all doubts. Red China will not dare to fight a major war against the United States forces, particularly since Mr. Dulles now has made it clear any attack on Formosa might lead to a war against Red China on all fronts, including North Korea—and he means, of course, by air power. There are plain hints, too, that nuclear weapons will be used rather than conventional assaults by ground armies of invasion.

Inside Story

Some Democratic senators are openly complaining that Mr. Dulles hasn't been able as yet to convince the Red Chinese that America "means business." Possibly the reason is that some Democrats tried to limit the President's powers when the recent resolution to protect Formosa was before Congress, and this has been followed by a lot of argument from some of the same sources that maybe it would be a good idea to have the Nationalists give up the offshore islands.

Under such circumstances, it is difficult to convey impressions of firmness. But the inside story is that the President and Mr. Dulles worked out their policy some time ago. It is this: if the Red Chinese were to invade Quemoy and the Matsu islands and could take them without attacking Formosa or the Pescadores islands, it is not likely that American forces would be engaged at all. But the military men say this is impossible. They declare that the moment the invasion of the islands starts, Nationalist air power will come into play and that, once the fighter planes and bombers of both sides begin banging away at each other, there will be a pursuit to Formosa territory by the Reds and the United States will be instantly involved.

Red Chinese officials must know all this. They keep on talking nevertheless of an attack on Formosa as well as on the offshore islands, and they refuse to discuss any "cease fire." This is typical Oriental tactics, as they play for time and for negotiations which they think will end in appeasing them one way or the other. The United Nations' record of refusing to apply maximum power in Korea is coming home to roost now, and it is to be hoped that the United States doesn't have to use force in order to prove that it really means what it says. The Red Chinese aren't likely to attempt to get such proof, for it would be fatal to them.

To Red China, war could mean internal revolution. For Soviet Russia, it could mean burdens she would not wish to assume in view of the delicate situation among her own satellites. So the war scare is still mostly in the headlines. It has little substance.

With San Francisco and Chicago running the political wordeos we are in for a big beef.

Realize it will be the Cow Palace against the stockyards?

How are they going to take the vote of the salable proxies? Will they rap for order on heads instead of desks?

Will the result of the 11th ballot be, "two hundred head for Spizzle and company?"

How about the veepee? A good steady steer of course. But will he be a canner or a cutter?

These conventions will be the important livestock markets of 1955. Winner gets the blue ribbon. And along about August by old pal Amon Carter will send me a fat steak whose taste will look familiar.

San Francisco is one of the finest convention towns in the world. Last time out there was with Runyon in 1920. His pals from Denver gave him a dinner on the Barbary Coast just to test out the theory of prohibition. It was defeated on the first ballot.

If you are satisfied with mediocrity rather than excellence, you are either too big for your job, or too little.

In any case you can't be as happy in your work as you have a right to be unless your job clicks.

Holman Hunt went to the Holy Land to get local coloring for his celebrated picture "The Shadow of the Cross," showing Jesus at work in his home as a carpenter. When the painting was completed, some sharp-eyed critic noted that the shavings were from the wrong kind of a tree.

Not satisfied with less than perfection, the great artist made a trip to Palestine to make sure which particular sort of cedar our Lord would have worked on.

That kind of particularity is rare. We find it in persons who strive for effect in doing something out of the ordinary, whether it be useful or useless.

Can't Compete With Gina

If you want the reputation of being the best-dressed woman in town, it is useless to compete with Gina Lollabrigida who has a dress for every day in the year and every hour in the day.

If you want the reputation of being the biggest liar in town, and never telling the truth if a lie will do, consult Harvey Matusow.

Some of our city fathers have been accused of taking their job too seriously. Quite a tribute, I should say, for, while performing proper obsequies over the 200 years of local history since the beginning, they are looking forward and planning for the next 200 years.

So the baby is on the councilmanic doorstep feeling more pert than his progenitor did two centuries ago.

Streets are being washed, with the aid of Jupiter Pluvius. Houses are being built or planned. Superannuated buildings are either being torn down or remodeled, repaired, repainted, and otherwise made to look like new, until the Queen City is beginning to look like she had just come from the beauty shop.

"Bridge Of Sighs"

Then we have flood control, garbage disposal, new industries, "George Washington Crossing," making Cumberland a suburb of Ridgeley. And in the offing there awaits the unrealized dream of a "Bridge of Sighs" which travelers can go over, or under, or around at their option without let or hindrance.

No more can we sing our theme song:

"I'm forever blowing bubbles,
Pretty bubbles in the air;
They fly so high, they reach
the sky,
Then like my dreams, they
fade and die."

Our flair for dolling up the city has spread to Washington. Even President Eisenhower is spending a mint of money in building his "Gettysburg Address." He will probably be borrowing more money to finish the job, if he can find some good Democrat to go his security.

One's best investment is not a house to live in, but the folks that live in it. "Better a corner on the roof than a room inside the mansion with a nagging wife" (Proverbs 21:9). Some wives show better taste in picking a necktie than in picking a husband.

How many children have you? "None—just an automobile." The first cost of a child is less than that of a car, unless the car is an orphan. You can wreck your car and get another. But your child can wreck you.

If you can't afford both, either go into politics and raise your salary, or ditch the car, but never the child.

One reason why your job doesn't click is because you are occupied with futilities. It has truly been said that a man is idle who might be better employed.

No Flattery Here

By that standard this vacuum received a puncturing blow the other day from a well-meaning commenter. Said he: "Yes, I read your column now and then, to "kill time."

The quintessence of futility was voiced about a relative of many of us:

"One day my sister, she picked
up a pin,
And she hasn't done anything
since."

If your job is too little to be exciting, try putting more time and gray matter into it. George Washington Carver made a sweet potato click and became famous.

To make your job click, don't look for a "snap" but hitch your wagon to a star and sail "ad astra per aspera"—to the stars by the hard way.

Seriously yours,

Various Sources May Cause Pain In Upper Abdomen

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

When a physician is consulted because of belching, distention, heartburn, nausea, or vomiting, the patient should not expect an immediate diagnosis. The upper abdomen contains several organs (stomach, gall gladder, and part of the large intestine) and in addition, these symptoms often result from overfatigue, emotional upsets, or dietary indiscretions.

Now and then the type of abdominal distress is so characteristic, it seems like a waste of money to have X-rays. In peptic ulcer, for example, gnawing or burning pain is located to the right of and above the navel. Furthermore, it is related to food in that relief is noted after drinking milk or eating. Alkalis have the same effect because they counteract stomach acidity.

This sequence is an enlightening feature from the diagnostic standpoint but may prove treacherous, especially when discomfort is slight. If a man neglects to seek medical care because symptoms are eased by taking a bit of food or baking soda, he may run into complications with his ulcer.

Gall bladder discomfort usually is on the right side of the midline, beneath the ribs. It often is associated with sour eructations, gas, and flatulence and is related to food also except that it develops after eating instead of before as in ulcer. Eating fatty dishes, cabbage, and pork are inclined to bring distress.

Gall bladder colic is much more painful and implies that a stone is moving. The episode is severe and agonizing; the victim squirms this way and that in an effort to find a comfortable position.

Now and then pain radiates to the back so that it is just as annoying there as in front. It comes and goes like labor pains until the stone passes out of the duct.

The pancreas lies below the stomach and opens into the intestine at the same place as the tube that leads from the liver and gall bladder. Pain from acute pancreatitis generally is sudden and excruciating, is felt in the region of the navel, and often extends into the back. Most victims are pale and the skin is cold and clammy.

A less violent and more chronic infection of this organ produces pain radiating to the back. The condition often is associated with weight loss and fermenting stools. X-ray is not as helpful in diagnosis as are certain blood tests. Pancreatitis is serious because it is not as amenable to treatment as are other intestinal disorders.

STONE IN DUCT

R. L. writes: Could a stone in the common duct cause a person to vomit after eating?

REPLY

Yes, but severe pain and jaundice would be more common symptoms of obstruction of this passageway by a gallstone.

NO HARM

C. T. writes: Is it safe for a man to bleach the hair on his chest?

REPLY

Yes, but why?

WHIPPED TO SLEEP

Mrs. B. writes: When a 3- or 4-year-old child cannot or does not go to sleep for two or three hours after being put to bed, do you think a hard sound whipping is the remedy? I am living where a bright, exceptionally active child receives such punishment nightly after asking for a drink or toy and wanting to go to the bathroom too often. After the spanking he cries for about an hour. The parents tied him in bed up to the age of six months and now speak of getting a new harness, which almost gives the child convulsions when it is mentioned. Could you say something about the harmful effects of such treatment?

REPLY

More can be accomplished with children through love than punishment. Many youngsters who misbehave in this way before going to bed want a few moments of affection and assurance that the parents are nearby and will offer protection if needed. Why not take this thought to these parents?

AGE AND CATARACT

R. L. writes: Is 44 too young to have a cataract removed? My other eye has good vision.

REPLY

No. If you cannot see out of the affected eye, there is no advantage in waiting any longer.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Abe Lincoln, relates Robert Yoder, once attended the theater in Springfield, Ill., and arrived just as the curtain rose. His eyes riveted on the stage, he thoughtlessly placed his tall silk hat on the seat next to him, open end up.

Entered a lady of bountiful proportions, headed straight for the empty seat. She sat. There was a crunch. She jumped up.

The hat was now a black silk pancake. Mr. Lincoln picked it up ruefully. "Madam," he declared, "I could have told you my hat wouldn't fit you before you tried it on."

My old Uncle Herbert from Vermont, visiting New York, was appalled by the heavy traffic choking every thoroughfare. "You gotta nice town here," he opined, "but it looks like you fellers let yourselves get quite a bit behind in your haulin'!"

Hickory Hill Cops 7th At Gulfstream

MIAMI, Fla., March 11 (AP) — Hickory Hill, winner of three of his last four races at Hialeah Park, found Gulfstream Park just as much to his fancy as he turned back seven other crack sprnters in the featured $4,000 Golden Strand Purse before a sun-drenched crowd of 15,414 today.

The consistent 5-year-old son of Tiger had speed from the outset, having placed third to the quarter-pole, then moved in front and held on stoutly to beat W. M. Peavey's Spartan Jett by a length in the excellent time of 1:10 2-5 for the six furlongs. A head back was Belair's Golden Gloves, which in turn finished a length and a half clear of White Knight. W. L. Huntley's Hilarious, the favorite, was a fifth.

Hickory Hill paid $6.70, $3.70 and $3.40. Sparton Jett returned $7.00 and $5.10. Golden Gloves was $6.00 third.

NIT Contests Open Tonight

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—A lot of familiar figures will go on display tomorrow when the National Invitation basketball tournament opens its 18th annual one-week stand in Madison Square Garden.

The NIT, originally the brain child of the New York basketball writers, is the oldest major college tournament and in recent years it has fallen into a pattern that brings back many of the same teams year after year.

The 12-team tournament begins with a double doubleheader involving the eight unseeded teams. Manhattan, the only local entry, meets Louisville and Niagara plays Lafayette in the afternoon twin bill and at night Seton Hall faces St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., and St. Louis plays Connecticut.

The four seeded teams — Duquesne, Dayton, Holy Cross and Cincinnati—will take on the four winners in doubleheaders Monday and Tuesday nights. The semi-finals are scheduled for next Thursday and the finals Saturday.

The first round field includes three teams, Manhattan, St. Louis and Seton Hall, which have played in four of the previous 17 invitation tournaments. Niagara and Louisville will be in for the fourth time. St. Francis made an auspicious NIT debut last March, due mainly to the fine performance of husky Maurice Stokes. Lafayette and Connecticut are this year's newcomers.

Mexico Hosts Pan American Games Today

Cleveland Awarded Next Meet In 1959

MEXICO CITY, March 11 (AP)— The Pan-American Congress awarded the 1959 Pan-American games to Cleveland today, ending a three-day wrangle over the site and clearing the way for tomorrow's gala opening of this year's games.

The decision to hold the Olympics of the Western Hemisphere in the Ohio city was made unanimous when Brazil, Chile and Guatemala withdrew their bids and Argentina threw its weight behind Cleveland. Other cities which had been considered were Rio de Janeiro, Santiago de Chile, Guatemala City and Houston, Tex.

Tomorrow's opening of the second Pan-American Games finds the United States heavily favored to dominate the competition.

The North American team of 350 men and women is expected to sweep track and field, swimming and basketball, which are the blue ribbon sports in these games. In addition, the North Americans should win many gold medals in boxing, weight lifting, rowing, water polo and possibly baseball and tennis.

2,000 To Parade

Tomorrow's opening ceremony, following Olympic protocol, will send a parade of 2,000 athletes from 22 nations and territories before President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines.

Warm, sunny weather and a capacity crowd are expected in the double-decked stadium at University City that seats 110,000.

The congress also voted to add polo and women's gymnastics to the games program. Badminton, roller hockey and front tennis, a form of tennis in which the ball is hit against a backwall, were rejected.

All athletes have been puffing and wheezing in the first few days' exposure to the mile and a half altitude with the coaches shouting, "Take it easy."

However, the thin air may help Bud Held, world record holder in the javelin, and Fortune Gordien, who holds the world mark in the discus.

Big Program Sunday

Competition starts in earnest Sunday in track and field, basketball, fencing, soccer, weight lifting and tennis. Three finals will be run off Sunday—men's high jump, women's discus and men's 10,000 meter run. The U. S. is expected to place one-two in the high jump, with Ernest Sheltonn formerly of Illinois, and Herman Wyatt, an ex-San Jose State student now in the Army.

Preliminaries will be run Sunday in the men's 400 meter hurdles, the women's 60 meter dash, men's 100 meters and men's 800 meter run.

Hickory Hill Cops 7th At Gulfstream

MIAMI, Fla., March 11 (AP) — Hickory Hill, winner of three of his last four races at Hialeah Park, found Gulfstream Park just as much to his fancy as he turned back seven other crack sprnters in the featured $4,000 Golden Strand Purse before a sun-drenched crowd of 15,414 today.

The consistent 5-year-old son of Tiger had speed from the outset, having placed third to the quarter-pole, then moved in front and held on stoutly to beat W. M. Peavey's Spartan Jett by a length in the excellent time of 1:10 2-5 for the six furlongs. A head back was Belair's Golden Gloves, which in turn finished a length and a half clear of White Knight. W. L. Huntley's Hilarious, the favorite, was a fifth.

Hickory Hill paid $6.70, $3.70 and $3.40. Sparton Jett returned $7.00 and $5.10. Golden Gloves was $6.00 third.

NIT Contests Open Tonight

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—A lot of familiar figures will go on display tomorrow when the National Invitation basketball tournament opens its 18th annual one-week stand in Madison Square Garden.

The NIT, originally the brain child of the New York basketball writers, is the oldest major college tournament and in recent years it has fallen into a pattern that brings back many of the same teams year after year.

The 12-team tournament begins with a double doubleheader involving the eight unseeded teams. Manhattan, the only local entry, meets Louisville and Niagara plays Lafayette in the afternoon twin bill and at night Seton Hall faces St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., and St. Louis plays Connecticut.

The four seeded teams — Duquesne, Dayton, Holy Cross and Cincinnati—will take on the four winners in doubleheaders Monday and Tuesday nights. The semi-finals are scheduled for next Thursday and the finals Saturday.

The first round field includes three teams, Manhattan, St. Louis and Seton Hall, which have played in four of the previous 17 invitation tournaments. Niagara and Louisville will be in for the fourth time. St. Francis made an auspicious NIT debut last March, due mainly to the fine performance of husky Maurice Stokes. Lafayette and Connecticut are this year's newcomers.

Eyeing Olympics

Mexico Hosts Pan American Games Today

Cleveland Awarded Next Meet In 1959

MEXICO CITY, March 11 (AP)—The Pan-American Congress awarded the 1959 Pan-American games to Cleveland today, ending a three-day wrangle over the site and clearing the way for tomorrow's gala opening of this year's games.

The decision to hold the Olympics of the Western Hemisphere in the Ohio city was made unanimous when Brazil, Chile and Guatemala withdrew their bids and Argentina threw its weight behind Cleveland. Other cities which had been considered were Rio de Janeiro, Santiago de Chile, Guatemala City and Houston, Tex.

Tomorrow's opening of the second Pan-American Games finds the United States heavily favored to dominate the competition.

The North American team of 350 men and women is expected to sweep track and field, swimming and basketball, which are the blue ribbon sports in these games. In addition, the North Americans should win many gold medals in boxing, weight lifting, rowing, water polo and possibly baseball and tennis.

2,000 To Parade

Tomorrow's opening ceremony, following Olympic protocol, will send a parade of 2,000 athletes from 22 nations and territories before President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines.

Warm, sunny weather and a capacity crowd are expected in the double-decked stadium at University City that seats 110,000.

The congress also voted to add polo and women's gymnastics to the games program. Badminton, roller hockey and front tennis, a form of tennis in which the ball is hit against a backwall, were rejected.

All athletes have been puffing and wheezing in the first few days' exposure to the mile and a half altitude with the coaches shouting, "Take it easy."

However, the thin air may help Bud Held, world record holder in the javelin, and Fortune Gordien, who holds the world mark in the discus.

Big Program Sunday

Competition starts in earnest Sunday in track and field, basketball, fencing, soccer, weight lifting and tennis. Three finals will be run off Sunday—men's high jump, women's discus and men's 10,000 meter run. The U. S. is expected to place one-two in the high jump, with Ernest Sheltonn formerly of Illinois, and Herman Wyatt, an ex-San Jose State student now in the Army.

Preliminaries will be run Sunday in the men's 400 meter hurdles, the women's 60 meter dash, men's 100 meters and men's 800 meter run. 2

Keyser Wins In Overtime Battle, 58-55

Tops Fairmont West, Plays Morgantown In Region Final Tonight

FAIRMONT, March 11—Keyser High School's Golden Tornado forged to the finals of the West Virginia Region 3-A basketball tournament tonight by defeating Fairmont West's Polar Bears in an overtime thriller by the score of 58-55.

The victory enabled Coach John Shelton's quint to qualify for the championship game here Saturday night at 8 o'clock with Morgantown High School. The latter aggregation advanced to the finals Thursday night by eliminating Fairmont East Side High School, 62-57. Tomorrow night's winner will be one of the eight regional victors in the state tourney at Huntington next weekend.

Bill Dunlap connected for a jump shot 1:14 before the final whistle to knot the count at 51-all and forced the game into an extra period.

Foul Goals Decide

In the overtime session Keyser took a four point lead when Ward and Kephart meshed two foul goals each. After "Skipper" Delligatti sent a jump shot through the cords for the Polar Bears Ronnie Stickley dumped in a pair of free throws to give Keyser a 58-54 lead. Carbone converted one of two free throws shortly before the game ended.

The Polar Bears held a 15-14 edge in the first period, the score was knotted at 29-all at intermission and Keyser grabbed the long end of a 46-42 count at the close of the third stanza. With four minutes remaining in the regulation game and Keyser leading by four points, Delligatti scored twice on jump shots to tie it up at 50-50. Kephart sank a pair of free throws and Dunlap's goal made it 52-52.

Keyser was outscored from the field, 19 to 11 goals, but meshed 36 out of 54 free throws for a .667 average while the Polar Bears sank 17 out of 31. Thirty personal fouls were plastered on Fairmont and 19.

Kephart, Ward Set Pace

Richard "Rick" Kephart and Scott Ward headed the Keyser offensive with 19 and 18 tallies while George Wilson contributed ten. Ronnie Stickley hooped 4 for 4 at the foul line, Kephart sank 11 out of 15 shots, Nicol had 4 for 4 and Ward connected for 8 of 11 shots.

John Carbone was Fairmont's high scorer with 16 points. Delligatti accounted for 10 points.

Wilson of Keyser was the only player to leave the game on personals. Lineups:

Jockey Eldon Nelson Registers Triple At Bowie Track

Pilots Senga To Victory In Feature Race

Snare Pays $12.60, Gwenys Wow Wow $16.80 In 5th, 7th

BOWIE, Md., March 11 (AP) — Jockey Eldon Nelson, held winnerless during the first two days of this meeting, came to life abruptly here today to win the fifth, sixth and seventh events before a crowd of 8,672 fans.

Nelson brought Mrs. Sam Lewin's Senga home a driving length winner in the $4,000 featured sixth race and also scored with Carolyn K. Stable's Snare in the fifth and W. P. Griffiths' Gwenys Wow Wow in the seventh.

Senga, a $7,500 claim last September, was gaining her first victory since the Pimlico fall meeting. In eight Florida races during the winner, the 5-year-old mare had been beaten.

Favorite today at $5.40 for $2 in the mile and a sixteenth race, she was clocked in 1.46 over a good track. Skeeter 2d made up considerable ground in the last half-mile to finish second by three lengths over Ronas.

Although rain fell here during the morning hours, the weather had cleared by mid-afternoon and a bright sun was shining.

Followers of Nelson collected a $12.60 win mutuel with Snare and a $16.80 payoff with Gwenys Wow Wow. The latter is trained by Phil Miller and was his first winner since quitting the Bernie Bond-trained stable as foreman and taking out his own trainer's license.

The daily double (Nos. 12 and 10) returned $178.40 with July Clown a nose winner of the opener at $26.40 straight followed by Natchez Blues a 2½-length victor in the second at $10.20.

Today's total mutuel handle was $644,950.

Jockey Eldon Nelson Registers Triple At Bowie Track

Pilots Senga To Victory In Feature Race

Snare Pays $12.60, Gwenys Wow Wow $16.80 In 5th, 7th

BOWIE, Md., March 11 (AP) — Jockey Eldon Nelson, held winnerless during the first two days of this meeting, came to life abruptly here today to win the fifth, sixth and seventh events before a crowd of 8,672 fans.

Nelson brought Mrs. Sam Lewin's Senga home a driving length winner in the $4,000 featured sixth race and also scored with Carolyn K. Stable's Snare in the fifth and W. P. Griffiths' Gwenys Wow Wow in the seventh.

Senga, a $7,500 claim last September, was gaining her first victory since the Pimlico fall meeting. In eight Florida races during the winner, the 5-year-old mare had been beaten.

Favorite today at $5.40 for $2 in the mile and a sixteenth race, she was clocked in 1.46 over a good track. Skeeter 2d made up considerable ground in the last half-mile to finish second by three lengths over Ronas.

Although rain fell here during the morning hours, the weather had cleared by mid-afternoon and a bright sun was shining.

Followers of Nelson collected a $12.60 win mutuel with Snare and a $16.80 payoff with Gwenys Wow Wow. The latter is trained by Phil Miller and was his first winner since quitting the Bernie Bond-trained stable as foreman and taking out his own trainer's license.

The daily double (Nos. 12 and 10) returned $178.40 with July Clown a nose winner of the opener at $26.40 straight followed by Natchez Blues a 2½-length victor in the second at $10.20.

Today's total mutuel handle was $644,950.

HOLD YOUR BREATH

This young lady might miss the next step and take a nasty tumble!

Of course her parents wouldn't dream of letting her try those stairs alone until they had taken every precaution to teach her how to manage them carefully and safely. But regardless of precautions, sooner or later she has to run the risk of trying them on her own.

Every adventure in growing up has its element of danger, and wise parents are very careful to see that the child shall be trained to meet these dangers with the least risk to her physical health.

But what about the far greater risk to this child's moral and spiritual health when she has to face the really big perils of life on her own? When not a broken bone or two but her character is at stake—what then?

The Church will give your child—and help you give your child—the care and training she needs for meeting life's greatest risks safely and triumphantly.

HOLY BIBLE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

HOLD YOUR BREATH

This young lady might miss the next step and take a nasty tumble!

Of course her parents wouldn't dream of letting her try those stairs alone until they had taken every precaution to teach her how to manage them carefully and safely. But regardless of precautions, sooner or later she has to run the risk of trying them on her own.

Every adventure in growing up has its element of danger, and wise parents are very careful to see that the child shall be trained to meet these dangers with the least risk to her physical health.

But what about the far greater risk to this child's moral and spiritual health when she has to face the really big perils of life on her own? When not a broken bone or two but her character is at stake—what then?

The Church will give your child—and help you give your child—the care and training she needs for meeting life's greatest risks safely and triumphantly.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

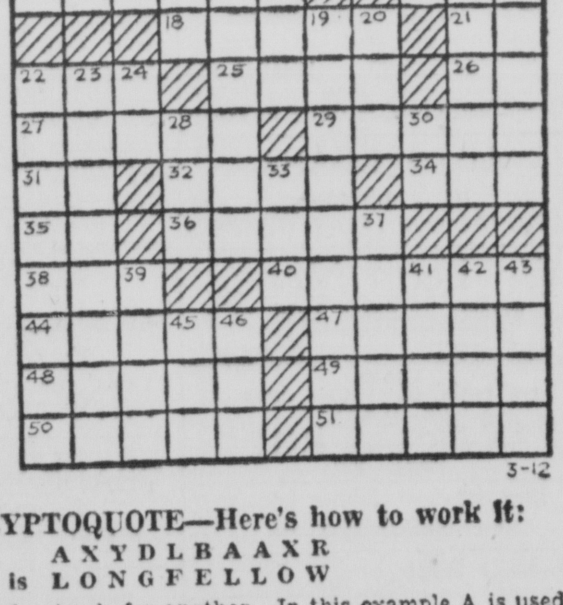
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

U L O B Z C C G R C V V, B C T V L R V O N
B C T V P X L N K T!—B N N E.

"17 R. DOWN FROM J". THE "R" COULD STAND FOR RIVETS —AND THE "J" FOR JOINT.

Third Severe Selling Break Of The Week Pounds Market

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—The stock market ran into its third severe selling break of the week today and took a hard pounding.

Prices were able to withstand the worst of the pressure and managed a partial comeback late in the session.

Losses extended to between 1 and 4 points in numerous instances. Some losses at times went out to 8 points, but such extremes were unusual.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost $2.60 at $55.40.

Volume amounted to 3,040,000 shares.

General Dynamics cut across the entire list with a gain of 4⅛ at 57¼ on 79,700 shares as the day's most active issue. The company announced it plans an issue of 40 million dollars in convertible debentures to finance expansion and to buy new properties. The company is placing more emphasis on atomic-powered submarines and aircraft.

Baltimore Livestock

BALTIMORE, March 11 (AP)—(USDA): Cattle 75; not enough any class cattle sold to establish price trend.

Calves none; quotations nominally unchanged at up to 28.00 for prime vealers.

Hogs 500; small truck lot choice around 210 lb barrows and gilts 16.75, scattered sales choice under 400 lb sows 14.50, 400-450 lbs 13.50.

Sheep none; quotations nominally unchanged, top quotation for prime under 90 lb wooled slaughter lambs considered to be around 25.00 and choice under 115 lb wooled ewes around 7.00.

Check The Weather Before You Paint

House painting weather means that the air is comparatively warm and dry, that there is no morning dew on the house and there is no likelihood of rain. The temperature should register no less than 40 with no chance that it will drop below that point during the drying period.

Don't paint in the direct rays of the sun. Plan the job so you'll always be working in the shade.

Third Severe Selling Break Of The Week Pounds Market

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—The stock market ran into its third severe selling break of the week today and took a hard pounding.

Prices were able to withstand the worst of the pressure and managed a partial comeback late in the session.

Losses extended to between 1 and 4 points in numerous instances. Some losses at times went out to 8 points, but such extremes were unusual.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost $2.60 at $55.40.

General Dynamics cut across the entire list with a gain of 4⅛ at 57¼ on 79,700 shares as the day's most active issue. The company announced it plans an issue of 40 million dollars in convertible debentures to finance expansion and to buy new properties. The company is placing more emphasis on atomic-powered submarines and aircraft.

It was followed by Pennsylvania Railroad off ¾ at 27¼, Electric & Musical Industries off ⅛ at 4¼, General Motors off 1¾ at 92⅞, and Curtiss-Wright unchanged at 21¼.

Here is a list of key stocks with net losses: Bethlehem Steel off 1¾, General Motors 1¾, Chrysler 1½, U. S. Rubber 1⅜, Boeing 2, United Aircraft 1¼, Zenith Radio 3¼, American Telephone 1⅛, Western Union 1½, Kennecott Copper 3⅜, DuPont 3¾ Westinghouse Electric 2⅛, General Electric 1⅛, Reynolds Metals 3¾, Aluminum Co. of America 2⅛, Santa Fe 2, New York Central 1⅛, Southern Railway 1⅞, Standard Oil 2½, Texas Co. 3⅜, Eastern Air Lines 2, and U. Check The Weather Before You Paint

House painting weather means that the air is comparatively warm and dry, that there is no morning dew on the house and there is no likelihood of rain. The temperature should register no less than 40 with no chance that it will drop below that point during the drying period.

Don't paint in the direct rays of the sun. Plan the job so you'll always be working in the shade.

Building Trades Unions Begin Contract Talks

State Road Pact Will Be Revised

General and sub-contractors got together with officials of the Building and Construction Trades Council here yesterday to open negotiations on a new contract.

The discussions did not deal with road building, which is covered by a statewide contract.

Plans were made during the conference to hold another meeting March 21 at 2 p. m. at the AFL Labor Temple.

The present contract covering building trades unions is due to expire April 30.

To Give Report

The AFL officials will present a report of the conference to members of the Building Trades Council at a meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Labor Temple.

Officials said the meeting was a preliminary one in which the unions presented suggested programs, and the contractors outlined their views on a new pact.

Several crafts, it is understood, presented proposals for wage increases.

Meanwhile, the Road and Highway Trades Council of Maryland is notifying contractors of its desire to open the road pact for adjustments and amendments.

The present contract, negotiated last year, is due to expire on May 1, the traditional effective date for construction contracts.

The 1955 road pact, officials said, will be strengthened by the addition of the Carpenters Union, which joined the council recently.

Bramble Is Secretary

The council, similar ones organized a number of years ago in neighboring states, was formed last year by Laborers, Operating Engineer and Teamster Unions of Maryland.

The pact was set up to help union contractors to meet the competition offered by non-union contractors, who the unions say were drawn to this state by the big 12-year road construction program.

C. E. Bramble, president of Cumberland Local 453, Teamsters Union, is secretary of the state roads council.

Other board members from here are F. Patrick Allender, business agent of Carpenters Local 1024, and Robert Weaver, business agent of Laborers Local 616.

John T. Buzby, Baltimore, an official of the Laborers Union, is chairman of the council.

Dr. Robert L. Feller of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research will speak at the March meeting of the Western Maryland Section, American Chemical Society, next Thursday at 8 p. m. at Ali Ghan Shrine, Country Club.

A ladies' night program will be a feature of the meeting.

Dr. Feller will speak on restoration of art works, the uses of various means of detecting forgeries and alterations, and losses of art objects. Dr. Feller has been a National Gallery of Art fellow at the Institute since 1950.

L. I. Horner, chairman of the Western Maryland Section, said all local people who are interested in art will be welcome to attend the meeting Thursday night.

Work On Sewage Treatment Plant Is Being Pushed

Work on Cumberland's $2,000,000 sewage treatment system is being expedited by the Moyer Brothers Construction Company, city officials said yesterday.

All week, the company has had crews busy stripping topsoil from the area between the C&O Canal and the Potomac River off Offutt Street.

The stripping is preparatory to the construction of a flood levee which will protect the plant from Potomac River floods.

Also started this week is an access road to the plant from the east end of Offutt Street.

Construction is to be stepped up within the next few weeks as the Altoona firm moves additional equipment in for the big job.

The company has until March 4, 1957, to complete the work under a $1,531,000 contract, but is planning to complete the job ahead of time.

City officials are anxious to have the job completed to fulfill their pledge to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company that it can have a satisfactory industrial water supply when the company's $34,000,000 North Branch plant begins operations.

Earlier this week, C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, reported that practically all work on plans for the plant's sanitary water supply have been completed.

He said the engineering will be done before money is available to build the water line, which will cost over half a million dollars.

Boys Returned To Pennsylvania For Hearing

Three 17-year-old Pennsylvanians, arrested west of Grantsville, were returned to the Keystone State yesterday afternoon after waiving extradition before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The boys, John Howard Hyslop and Paul Richard Action, both of Monongahela, Pa., and Blaine Gordon McLaughlin Jr., New Eagle, Pa., were apprehended shortly after midnight yesterday by Maryland State Trooper Glen Folk.

Folk nabbed the boys about three miles west of Grantsville on U. S. Route 40 after getting a report a few minutes earlier from Harry McClure, operator of a service station at Salisbury, Pa., that they had driven away from his place of business after he had filled the automobile tank with gasoline.

The youngsters, who were driving a car owned by McLaughlin's older brother, told Trooper Folk that they left Monongahela about 8 p. m. Thursday without money, intending to drive to Florida.

Justice of the Peace C. A. Maust of Salisbury said the boys stole groceries and a box of cigars from a cabin in Kooser State Park near Somerset. Then they drove to Salisbury, where they obtained gasoline at McClure's station.

Trooper Folk turned the boys over to Justice of the Peace Maust at the Court House here and the latter transported them to Somerset where they will face a larceny charge in Somerset County Juvenile Court.

The Weather

After a heavy early morning rain, which was blown about by 45-to-50-mile-per-hour winds, the weather yesterday turned out to be comparatively pleasant. The .57 inches of rain recorded brought the March total to 3.01, already ahead of the 3.00 average precipitation for the entire windy month. Yesterday's official high temperature at Constitution Park was 69 and the low 54. At 8 p. m. the official reading was 60 degrees. Humidity at 6 p. m. stood at 34 per cent. For today the prediction is for mostly fair and mild, high in the 60s, increasing cloudiness in the afternoon and evening followed by scattered showers at night.

Civil Defense Must Get Bids For Building

Should Advertise, Getty Believes

Before any contract exceeding $1,000 for public works to be used by the Allegany County Civil Defense Agency can be authorized by the county commissioners, it would be necessary to advertise for bids.

That is the opinion of Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the county commissioners, enclosed in a letter he mailed yesterday to William G. Barger, director of Allegany County Civil Defense.

Barger had asked the county attorney about the procedure to be followed in contracting for construction of a building for the local Civil Defense organizations at Constitution Park costing an estimated $9,000.

Allegany County would be billed for the construction and would pay for the construction. However, 75 per cent of the cost would be refunded to the county by state and federal governments. The City of Cumberland would participate in payment for the other 25 per cent of the cost with the county.

Getty concludes that this improvement would have to be advertised for under the County Advertising Statute. This provides that in contracting for any necessary public work or improvements or for purchase of supplies and equipment, the county commissioners may enter into a contract if the cost does not exceed $1,000.

If the contract is above $1,000, the clerk to the county commissioners must advertise for bids in at least two newspapers published in Allegany County. The contract then should go to the lowest responsible builder where the bid is considered reasonable.

The Allegany County Civil Defense Agency is a department of local government subsidized in part part by an appropriation by the county commissioners and an appropriation by the City of Cumberland. Getty said that this view is borne out by an opinion of October 6, 1953, of the Attorney General of Maryland.

Sheep Shearing School Slated

Two young Allegany County farmers may apply for enrollment in a three-day school for young men interested in learning to shear sheep, according to Assistant County Agent James A. Weamert.

Weamert has been sent two applications for the school, which will be held at the Timonium Fair Grounds Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 21, 22 and 23. The school will begin at 9 a. m. Thursday and will be finished by noon on Saturday.

The course will be taught by animal husbandry specialists from the University of Maryland. Enrollment will be limited to 16 persons. The application blanks are to be sent to Roger L. Halsted, livestock extension specialist in the Animal Husbandry Department at College Park by March 31. Enrollments will be accepted from young farmers between the ages of 17 and 30.

Reservations for the dinner this Friday should be made by 4 p. m. Thursday by calling Harry Baker, Frostburg 601-M.

Rev. John Bayley Joes, Frostburg, is acting chairman of the local group. Steps toward a permanent organization will be discussed Friday.

Grantsville Raises $124 In Heart Fund

The first report from Garrett County, on the Heart Fund campaign was received yesterday by John E. Geare, general campaign chairman.

Mrs. Daniel Hershberger, chairman at Grantsville made the report and said that a couple of organizations and churches are yet to be heard from. The partial report totaled $124.88.

Donors included the Conservative Amish Church, $16.16; the Amish Church, $21; Methodist Sunday School, $5; Evangelical and Reformed Women's Guild $10; Evangelical and Reformed Church $22.37; Bittinger Luthern Church, $10; Church of the Brethren $8; and Grantsville Lutheran Sunday School, $9.32. Plastic heart coin containers accounted for $17.03.

Geare said no quota had been assigned Garrett County since the formation of the Heart group there as an affiliate to the Allegany County association did not get under way until a few days before the Heart Fund campaign started. Garrett countians, however, indicated their willingness to assist, since they will share in the immediate and future programs of the Heart association.

Bids On Bridge To Be Opened Within Month

Mayor Roy W. Eves has been notified by the Maryland State Roads Commission that it plans to open bids on the approach to the Cumberland-Ridgeley bridge within 30 days.

The information was received Thursday in connection with plans to build the approach as a federal-aid project.

The Greene Street approach to the new span is estimated to cost about $61,000, with a concrete base and a blacktop wearing course.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards yesterday announced that Water Department crews will begin next week to lay the new 12-inch water line to supply the Town of Ridgeley.

He said the work will begin on the Ridgeley side as Wright Contracting crews lay forms for the deck of the bridge.

The new line is to be laid under the sidewalk of the span.

Edwards said Ridgeley has forwarded to the city a permit from the Maryland State Roads Commission to lay the line across the bridge.

The line is being financed by the Cumberland Water Department, which will be reimbursed by Ridgeley.

Annual Playground Parade To Be Bicentennial Feature

Plans for coordinating the second annual Playground Parade with the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial were made yesterday at a meeting of the directors of the Bicentennial's steering committee.

Robert E. Pence, city recreation director, presented tentative plans to hold the big playground event on Monday, August 15, as a preliminary to the historical pageant which will highlight the year-long celebration.

Plans were approved to have the float entered by each of the city's playgrounds depict some scene which will fit in with the Bicentennial plan.

Pence said each of the marching units which accompany the float can be dressed in keeping with the Bicentennial theme.

The popular event drew some 10,000 people who lined the streets to witness the spectacle.

Pence said the time of the parade has not been set, but that it will probably be held early in the evening.

He said the spectacle will be held the following day in case of rain.

Headed by Col. F. Egerton Powell, chairman, the Bicentennial group made plans to have chairmen of top committees present at next week's meeting of the Executive Board, slated Friday at 2:30 p. m. in City Hall.

High Winds, Rain Cause Damage In City, District

A sudden windstorm followed by heavy rain and hail mixed with thunder and lightning yesterday morning in Cumberland and the general area left considerable damage in its wake.

Interruptions in electric power were caused by the storm which hit about 8 a.m.

Approximately $1,000 damage was caused at the old Taylor Tin Plate gymnasium on Bowen Street extended as the high wind whipped through this section.

The south corner of the frame building, occupied by Charlton Brothers Transportation Company, according to O. G. Michael, assistant manager, was blown away, and the structure weakened.

Up in Garrett County, a barn owned by George Ours, who resides at Loch Lynn, three miles east of Oakland, was blown down, trapping more than a score of cattle, killing a bull and injuring three cows.

Volunteer firemen, members of the National Guard, and neighbors went to the scene to aid in freeing the animals. It was reported that the wind moved the barn about five feet off the foundation or first floor and the top section collapsed on the animals.

There were scattered reports of electric power interruptions in Garrett County due to lightning, according to Potomac Edison Company officials. Walter Kline, manager at Frostburg, said trouble occurred after an oil circuit breaker was hit by lightning at the Shaft substation.

In Cumberland, according to H. W. Price, PE district manager, a tree blew across Broaddock Road, broke a power line and interrupted service for about an hour in the immediate area.

The storm was widespread and reports from Keyser, the Tri-Towns and the Georges Creek section pointed out that some damage had been caused as a result of the high winds.

Many motorists who had just finished polishing their automobiles in recent days found them covered with a thin coating of dust as a result of the storm.

A number of signs throughout the city bore the brunt of the wind and local neon sign companies were kept busy yesterday repairing damage.

Board Defers Meeting

The Allegany County Board of License Commissioners has postponed its next meeting until Tuesday, March 22. Regular date for the meeting was March 15.

City Fire Chief Warns Of Brush Blaze Dangers

A reminder of the serious consequences which can result from grass and brush fires was cited yesterday by Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker.

With the prevailing March winds, a small grass or brush fire caused through carelessness can end in a serious blaze with possible loss of lives and property.

Chief Parker pointed out that city firemen and equipment sent to combat such a fire may be needed for a more serious fire in a local residence, business establishment, school, hospital or other public building.

He added that residents are not allowed to burn weeds, rubbish, or dry grass within the city limits without a permit. Papers may not be burned unless placed first in an approved incinerator.

Even though a resident may have a burning permit he is held accountable and responsible should the fire get out of control and cause extensive damage, Parker added.

Sundays and Mondays are two days of the week when fires may not be started even though a resident has a permit in his possession.

Chief Parker pointed out that at times children get hold of matches and light off a section of dry brush or grass and a slight shift in wind can result in the death of a child.

In the event a resident does start burning brush, weeds or rubbish, precautions should be taken to assure an ample supply of water to fight a blaze that may "get away." A suggestion is to have a garden hose hooked up or else have several buckets of water on hand.

Persons seeking burning permits are asked to contact any of the four fire stations for full information.

Pupils Welcome Storm; Means Day Off

Yesterday morning's heavy downpour of rain and hail may have caused considerable damage to local property but it resulted in a holiday for pupils of one of the city schools.

At 9:30 a. m. yesterday, pupils of St. Patrick's School were dismissed from classes since their clothing had gotten wet and school authorities thought it best to send them home to don dry togs.

Largest Crowd Expected Tonight At Home Show

Award Of Prizes Will End Event

The largest crowd yet is expected to jam the Footer Building on South Mechanic Street this afternoon and tonight as the second annual Cumberland Home Show comes to a close.

Doors open at 1:30 p. m. today and the show will end at 10 p. m.

Last night some 3,000 more Tri-State area residents visited the show to get hundreds of new ideas concerning building materials, furniture, household appliances and conveniences that make home life more pleasant.

The Jaycees are giving away as their grand prize of the show a 21-inch console model television set.

Many of the business firms exhibiting at the show also are giving away prizes. Among them are cash, savings bonds, a storm door, a 20-piece china service for four, a $100 certificate for building materials and many others.

Another exhibitor was attracting widespread enthusiasm among the visitors by offering to sell the home freezing and all other appliances in his booth to the highest bidder. Written bids have been received since the show opened Thursday night. The freezer attracted attention because it is chuck full of meat and vegetables. The exhibitor said there was enough food in it to provide 85 per cent of the family needs.

George L. Carney Jr., Jaycee president and general chairman for the three-day show again reminded the public that no admission is charged to see the volume of exhibits.

Some of the show visitors last night seemed to get special pleasure out of calling relatives and friends in cities around the country without charge from the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company booth.

Westernport Debt, Tax Bills Are Introduced

The Allegany County Delegation introduced three bills affecting the town of Westernport this week.

Two of the measures, introduced Thursday, affect the debt ceiling and the tax limit for the community.

The first, House Bill 538, would remove the debt limit of the town.

The second, House Bill 539, would remove the present tax rate ceiling.

Delegate Charles M. See, chairman of the Delegation, said both of the bills call for referendums at a date set by the town officials.

He said the bills represent the total power of the General Assembly toward local legislation under the constitutional home rule bill passed last November.

Both bills were referred back to the delegation. They were requested by the Mayor and Council of Westernport.

Earlier this week, the Delegation introduced House Bill 471, an enabling act, authorizing the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to assess the extent of damage to Westernport's water supply from the Savage River Dam, and to pay not more than $50,000 in settlement of any damages they deem caused by the dam.

Del. See explained that the payment for damages, if the commissioners believe payment justified, is to be used toward the construction of a filter plant which the town is planning to build.

Probe Of Death Will Continue

Cpl. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police, was in Hyattsville and Washington this week questioning several persons in connection with the death of Mrs. Gladys Olin Rank, 57-year-old former resident who was found unconscious February 25, lying along the B&O Railroad tracks at the east end of the Narrows.

She died March 3 at Sacred Heart Hospital without regaining consciousness. Cpl. Baker said he will go over his findings wtih Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney.

Mrs. Rank, a nurse's aide at Garfield Hospital in Washington, died of brain damage due to exposure, according to the report by Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner.

Hospital attendants said she had brush burns on both legs but no other apparent injuries. She had been living with a daughter, Mrs. Miriam Jackson, Hyattsville.

Several crafts, it is understood, presented proposals for wage increases.

Meanwhile, the Road and Highway Trades Council of Maryland is notifying contractors of its desire to open the road pact for adjustments and amendments.

The present contract, negotiated last year, is due to expire on May 1, the traditional effective date for construction contracts.

The 1955 road pact, officials said, will be strengthened by the addition of the Carpenters Union, which joined the council recently.

Bramble Is Secretary

The council, similar ones organized a number of years ago in neighboring states, was formed last year by Laborers, Operating Engineer and Teamster Unions of Maryland.

The pact was set up to help union contractors to meet the competition offered by non-union contractors, who the unions say were drawn to this state by the big 12-year road construction program.

C. E. Bramble, president of Cumberland Local 453, Teamsters Union, is secretary of the state roads council.

Other board members from here are F. Patrick Allender, business agent of Carpenters Local 1024, and Robert Weaver, business agent of Laborers Local 616.

John T. Buzby, Baltimore, an official of the Laborers Union, is chairman of the council.

Boys Returned To Pennsylvania For Hearing

Three 17-year-old Pennsylvanians, arrested west of Grantsville, were returned to the Keystone State yesterday afternoon after waiving extradition before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The boys, John Howard Hyslop and Paul Richard Action, both of Monongahela, Pa., and Blaine Gordon McLaughlin Jr., New Eagle, Pa., were apprehended shortly after midnight yesterday by Maryland State Trooper Glen Folk.

Folk nabbed the boys about three miles west of Grantsville on U. S. Route 40 after getting a report a few minutes earlier from Harry McClure, operator of a service station at Salisbury, Pa., that they had driven away from his place of business after he had filled the automobile tank with gasoline.

The youngsters, who were driving a car owned by McLaughlin's older brother, told Trooper Folk that they left Monongahela about 8 p. m. Thursday without money, intending to drive to Florida.

Justice of the Peace C. A. Maust of Salisbury said the boys stole groceries and a box of cigars from a cabin in Kooser State Park near Somerset. Then they drove to Salisbury, where they obtained gasoline at McClure's station.

Trooper Folk turned the boys over to Justice of the Peace Maust at the Court House here and the latter transported them to Somerset where they will face a larceny charge in Somerset County Juvenile Court.

Work On Sewage Treatment Plant Is Being Pushed

Work on Cumberland's $2,000,000 sewage treatment system is being expedited by the Moyer Brothers Construction Company, city officials said yesterday.

All week, the company has had crews busy stripping topsoil from the area between the C&O Canal and the Potomac River off Offutt Street.

The stripping is preparatory to the construction of a flood levee which will protect the plant from Potomac River floods.

Also started this week is an access road to the plant from the east end of Offutt Street.

Construction is to be stepped up within the next few weeks as the Altoona firm moves additional equipment in for the big job.

The company has until March 4, 1957, to complete the work under a $1,531,000 contract, but is planning to complete the job ahead of time.

City officials are anxious to have the job completed to fulfill their pledge to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company that it can have a satisfactory industrial water supply when the company's $34,000,000 North Branch plant begins operations.

Earlier this week, C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, reported that practically all work on plans for the plant's sanitary water supply have been completed.

He said the engineering will be done before money is available to build the water line, which will cost over half a million dollars.

Civil Defense Must Get Bids For Building

Should Advertise, Getty Believes

Before any contract exceeding $1,000 for public works to be used by the Allegany County Civil Defense Agency can be authorized by the county commissioners, it would be necessary to advertise for bids.

That is the opinion of Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the county commissioners, enclosed in a letter he mailed yesterday to William G. Barger, director of Allegany County Civil Defense.

Barger had asked the county attorney about the procedure to be followed in contracting for construction of a building for the local Civil Defense organizations at Constitution Park costing an estimated $9,000.

Allegany County would be billed for the construction and would pay for the construction. However, 75 per cent of the cost would be refunded to the county by state and federal governments. The City of Cumberland would participate in payment for the other 25 per cent of the cost with the county.

Getty concludes that this improvement would have to be advertised for under the County Advertising Statute. This provides that in contracting for any necessary public work or improvements or for purchase of supplies and equipment, the county commissioners may enter into a contract if the cost does not exceed $1,000.

If the contract is above $1,000, the clerk to the county commissioners must advertise for bids in at least two newspapers published in Allegany County. The contract then should go to the lowest responsible builder where the bid is considered reasonable.

The Allegany County Civil Defense Agency is a department of local government subsidized in part part by an appropriation by the county commissioners and an appropriation by the City of Cumberland. Getty said that this view is borne out by an opinion of October 6, 1953, of the Attorney General of Maryland.

Sheep Shearing School Slated

Two young Allegany County farmers may apply for enrollment in a three-day school for young men interested in learning to shear sheep, according to Assistant County Agent James A. Weamert.

Weamert has been sent two applications for the school, which will be held at the Timonium Fair Grounds Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 21, 22 and 23. The school will begin at 9 a. m. Thursday and will be finished by noon on Saturday.

The course will be taught by animal husbandry specialists from the University of Maryland. Enrollment will be limited to 16 persons. The application blanks are to be sent to Roger L. Halsted, livestock extension specialist in the Animal Husbandry Department at College Park by March 31. Enrollments will be accepted from young farmers between the ages of 17 and 30.

Bids On Bridge To Be Opened Within Month

Mayor Roy W. Eves has been notified by the Maryland State Roads Commission that it plans to open bids on the approach to the Cumberland-Ridgeley bridge within 30 days.

The information was received Thursday in connection with plans to build the approach as a federal-aid project.

The Greene Street approach to the new span is estimated to cost about $61,000, with a concrete base and a blacktop wearing course.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards yesterday announced that Water Department crews will begin next week to lay the new 12-inch water line to supply the Town of Ridgeley.

He said the work will begin on the Ridgeley side as Wright Contracting crews lay forms for the deck of the bridge.

The new line is to be laid under the sidewalk of the span.

Edwards said Ridgeley has forwarded to the city a permit from the Maryland State Roads Commission to lay the line across the bridge.

The line is being financed by the Cumberland Water Department, which will be reimbursed by Ridgeley.

Annual Playground Parade To Be Bicentennial Feature

Plans for coordinating the second annual Playground Parade with the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial were made yesterday at a meeting of the directors of the Bicentennial's steering committee.

Robert E. Pence, city recreation director, presented tentative plans to hold the big playground event on Monday, August 15, as a preliminary to the historical pageant which will highlight the year-long celebration.

Plans were approved to have the float entered by each of the city's playgrounds depict some scene which will fit in with the Bicentennial plan.

Pence said each of the marching units which accompany the float can be dressed in keeping with the Bicentennial theme.

The playground parade, held for the first time last year, brought out 16 floats, queens and marching units, as well as three musical organizations and a twirling unit.

The popular event drew some 10,000 people who lined the streets to witness the spectacle.

Pence said the time of the parade has not been set, but that it will probably be held early in the evening.

He said the spectacle will be held the following day in case of rain.

Headed by Col. F. Egerton Powell, chairman, the Bicentennial group made plans to have chairmen of top committees present at next week's meeting of the Executive Board, slated Friday at 2:30 p. m. in City Hall.

High Winds, Rain Cause Damage In City, District

A sudden windstorm followed by heavy rain and hail mixed with thunder and lightning yesterday morning in Cumberland and the general area left considerable damage in its wake.

Interruptions in electric power were caused by the storm which hit about 8 a.m.

Approximately $1,000 damage was caused at the old Taylor Tin Plate gymnasium on Bowen Street extended as the high wind whipped through this section.

The south corner of the frame building, occupied by Charlton Brothers Transportation Company, according to O. G. Michael, assistant manager, was blown away, and the structure weakened.

Up in Garrett County, a barn owned by George Ours, who resides at Loch Lynn, three miles east of Oakland, was blown down, trapping more than a score of cattle, killing a bull and injuring three cows.

Volunteer firemen, members of the National Guard, and neighbors went to the scene to aid in freeing the animals. It was reported that the wind moved the barn about five feet off the foundation or first floor and the top section collapsed on the animals.

There were scattered reports of electric power interruptions in Garrett County due to lightning, according to Potomac Edison Company officials. Walter Kline, manager at Frostburg, said trouble occurred after an oil circuit breaker was hit by lightning at the Shaft substation.

In Cumberland, according to H. W. Price, PE district manager, a tree blew across Broaddock Road, broke a power line and interrupted service for about an hour in the immediate area.

The storm was widespread and reports from Keyser, the Tri-Towns and the Georges Creek section pointed out that some damage had been caused as a result of the high winds.

Many motorists who had just finished polishing their automobiles in recent days found them covered with a thin coating of dust as a result of the storm.

A number of signs throughout the city bore the brunt of the wind and local neon sign companies were kept busy yesterday repairing damage.

Board Defers Meeting

The Allegany County Board of License Commissioners has postponed its next meeting until Tuesday, March 22. Regular date for the meeting was March 15.

City Fire Chief Warns Of Brush Blaze Dangers

A reminder of the serious consequences which can result from grass and brush fires was cited yesterday by Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker.

With the prevailing March winds, a small grass or brush fire caused through carelessness can end in a serious blaze with possible loss of lives and property.

Chief Parker pointed out that city firemen and equipment sent to combat such a fire may be needed for a more serious fire in a local residence, business establishment, school, hospital or other public building.

He added that residents are not allowed to burn weeds, rubbish, or dry grass within the city limits without a permit. Papers may not be burned unless placed first in an approved incinerator.

Even though a resident may have a burning permit he is held accountable and responsible should the fire get out of control and cause extensive damage, Parker added.

Sundays and Mondays are two days of the week when fires may not be started even though a resident has a permit in his possession.

Chief Parker pointed out that at times children get hold of matches and light off a section of dry brush or grass and a slight shift in wind can result in the death of a child.

In the event a resident does start burning brush, weeds or rubbish, precautions should be taken to assure an ample supply of water to fight a blaze that may "get away." A suggestion is to have a garden hose hooked up or else have several buckets of water on hand.

Persons seeking burning permits are asked to contact any of the four fire stations for full information.

Pupils Welcome Storm; Means Day Off

Yesterday morning's heavy downpour of rain and hail may have caused considerable damage to local property but it resulted in a holiday for pupils of one of the city schools.

At 9:30 a. m. yesterday, pupils of St. Patrick's School were dismissed from classes since their clothing had gotten wet and school authorities thought it best to send them home to don dry togs.

Largest Crowd Expected Tonight At Home Show

Award Of Prizes Will End Event

The largest crowd yet is expected to jam the Footer Building on South Mechanic Street this afternoon and tonight as the second annual Cumberland Home Show comes to a close.

Doors open at 1:30 p. m. today and the show will end at 10 p. m.

Last night some 3,000 more Tri-State area residents visited the show to get hundreds of new ideas concerning building materials, furniture, household appliances and conveniences that make home life more pleasant.

On opening night Thursday some 2,500 persons visited the show, sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

The Jaycees are giving away as their grand prize of the show a 21-inch console model television set.

Many of the business firms exhibiting at the show also are giving away prizes. Among them are cash, savings bonds, a storm door, a 20-piece china service for four, a $100 certificate for building materials and many others.

Another exhibitor was attracting widespread enthusiasm among the visitors by offering to sell the home freezing and all other appliances in his booth to the highest bidder. Written bids have been received since the show opened Thursday night. The freezer attracted attention because it is chuck full of meat and vegetables. The exhibitor said there was enough food in it to provide 85 per cent of the family needs.

George L. Carney Jr., Jaycee president and general chairman for the three-day show again reminded the public that no admission is charged to see the volume of exhibits.

Some of the show visitors last night seemed to get special pleasure out of calling relatives and friends in cities around the country without charge from the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company booth.

Westernport Debt, Tax Bills Are Introduced

The Allegany County Delegation introduced three bills affecting the town of Westernport this week.

Two of the measures, introduced Thursday, affect the debt ceiling and the tax limit for the community.

The first, House Bill 538, would remove the debt limit of the town.

The second, House Bill 539, would remove the present tax rate ceiling.

Delegate Charles M. See, chairman of the Delegation, said both of the bills call for referendums at a date set by the town officials.

He said the bills represent the total power of the General Assembly toward local legislation under the constitutional home rule bill passed last November.

Both bills were referred back to the delegation. They were requested by the Mayor and Council of Westernport.

Earlier this week, the Delegation introduced House Bill 471, an enabling act, authorizing the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to assess the extent of damage to Westernport's water supply from the Savage River Dam, and to pay not more than $50,000 in settlement of any damages they deem caused by the dam.

Del. See explained that the payment for damages, if the commissioners believe payment justified, is to be used toward the construction of a filter plant which the town is planning to build.

Probe Of Death Will Continue

Cpl. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police, was in Hyattsville and Washington this week questioning several persons in connection with the death of Mrs. Gladys Olin Rank, 57-year-old former resident who was found unconscious February 25, lying along the B&O Railroad tracks at the east end of the Narrows.

She died March 3 at Sacred Heart Hospital without regaining consciousness. Cpl. Baker said he will go over his findings wtih Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney.

Mrs. Rank, a nurse's aide at Garfield Hospital in Washington, died of brain damage due to exposure, according to the report by Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner.

Hospital attendants said she had brush burns on both legs but no other apparent injuries. She had been living with a daughter, Mrs. Miriam Jackson, Hyattsville.
